COUNCIL VOTES TO SHELVE 1930 CAR ORDINANCE

Orders New Merger Plan Drafted.

Pay for Teachers

Aldermen take action to make one month's pay, more than $4,000,000, available for Chicago's school teachers this week. Details on page 7.

Mayor Kelly signs the 1934 city budget after new trims of $75,000. Details on page 6.

By a vote of 43 to 0 the city council yesterday refused to extend the deadline for acceptance of the 1930 traction unification ordinance. This was in accordance with a recommendation made Tuesday by Mayor Kelly, who declared that the plan should be shelved because it is no longer adapted to the needs of the city's transportation system.

The council's action, it was agreed, virtually abrogates the ordinance, although the deadline for its acceptance by the surface and elevated lines does not expire until April 3. However, transit officials agreed that it would be impossible to fulfill the reorganization provisions of the act in time to prevent the ordinance from automatically lapsing.

Favor Three Other Measures.

At the same time the council took favorable action on three other recommendations made by the mayor. They were:

1. Ordered the drafting of a new ordinance providing for the merger of the surface and elevated lines into one operating company. This measure will be prepared by a subcommittee headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th]. Ald. Quinn said his committee would begin work Tuesday morning.

2. Directed the corporation counsel's office and experts on the staf of the local transportation committee headed by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] to start proceedings before the Illinois commerce commission for a universal transfer between the Surface Lines, elevated line, and the Chicago Motor Coach system.

3. Voted to extend on a day to day basis, with June 1 as the deadline, the 1907 ordinance under which the Surface Lines have been operating. By this means the council will retain control over the Surface Lines and at the same time protect the position of the transit security holders.

Scale Down Valuation.

The new franchise ordinance is expected to correct all of the objectionable features of the old measure, which were pointed out in the mayor's statement. Among other things it will provide for a scaling down of the present inflated valuation of $260,000,000 on the traction properties under which there would be no possibility of lower fares.

In place of a perpetual franchise as provided in the old ordinance, the new measure will be for a definite term of years. "I am of the belief," the mayor's statement said, "that a perpetual franchise is not in line with the present mind of the people."

The mayor was commended yesterday by the aldermen for the decisive step which he took regarding the traction problem. There was wholehearted agreement that the objections he raised against the pending ordinance were justified.

"The mayor has done great things," said Ald. John S. Clark [30th]. "If he had done nothing else, in my opinion, this action entitles him to the thanks of the people of Chicago. He has analyzed the ordinance perfectly. In 1933 the $63,000,000 traction fund saved the taxpayers $2,500,000 in interest charges. Shall we give it away? I say, no."

A Hard Thing to Do.

"This was a hard thing to do, but the mayor should be congratulated for it," Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] said. "Most of the defects pointed out by the mayor have arisen solely from changed economic conditions. The franchise was a contract ordinance, and in its making it was a case of give and take. Many points were yielded with the thought of bringing the greatest amount of good to the people. The fact that we have not gotten the extensions and improvements promised within three years has been the biggest shock of all."

Earlier in the day Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, in whose court the traction properties have been in receivership, proceeded with the entering of an order for submission of the recently worked out reorganization plan to the various protective bond committees. Attorney Walter L. Fisher, who brought about the agreement for the court, declined to comment on the mayor's statement.

FUGITIVE'S WIFE 'STRANDED' IN ATHENS; BROKE

Britain May Also Keep Her Out.

BULLETIN.

PORT SAID, Egypt, March 22.—(Thursday.)—(AP)—Samuel Insull's little Greek freighter, the Maiotis, was reported sighted approaching Port Said today.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

ATHENS, March 21.—With Samuel Insull at sea seeking a new haven of refuge and Mrs. Insull under orders of deportation from Greece as an undesirable alien, it became known today that although the wife of the fugitive Chicago utilities promoter has already bought railway tickets for London she will not be permitted to cross the French frontier and it is doubtful whether she will be allowed in England.

Mrs. Insull's lawyer, George Pop, said she is stranded in a country which has ordered her to leave without giving her a reasonable opportunity for observing the order. She is also without funds, he said.

Refused French Visa.

"Mrs. Insull bought her tickets and prepared to leave tonight on the Simplon-Orient express," Pop said. "When her passport was taken to the French consulate for a visa, however, I was told that it could not be granted except on the express authority of the French government.

"The consul consented to refer the matter to Paris, but I pointed out that the French minister represents the French government in Greece and begged him to inquire there. The consul finally agreed to do so.

"Not content, however, I went myself to the French legation. I was unable to see Minister Thierry, but interviewed his first secretary. He told me the consul had full competence and authority in the matter of issuing visas and the legation could not intervene.

Voice Crying in Wilderness.

"I informed him that Mrs. Insull was completely without funds after she had paid for the tickets and that she now has not a cent, not even to buy meals. I told him the situation is unique in the history of civilized countries and that refusal was contrary to the French traditions of liberty. But mine was a voice crying in the wilderness."

"Will the matter be laid before the French government now?" Pop was asked.

"It is useless," he replied. "I am positive that in no circumstances will the French government now grant my client permission to cross its borders. I cannot say anything about her plans in view of the new situation. She is being treated like the wives of ancient brigands who were persecuted in order that their husbands might be forced to surrender."

Fugitive Still at Sea.

This development explains in part Mrs. Insull's delayed departure. British official circles said tonight that Insull has already been flatly refused a visa and that if Mrs. Insull applied the matter would be referred to the British minister.

Another member of the Insull "family," Mme. Helene Kouryoumdjoglou, is also in trouble. It was announced that she will be tried for perjury because she disseminated false information concerning Insull's getaway.

"I had a radiogram from him at 7:30 o'clock this evening," Pop said. "I cannot discuss the contents. But Insull is still on the high seas aboard the Maiotis and in good health. He has not reached Port Said yet. As far as I know, the Egyptian authorities have not refused him permission to land if he wants to."

Insull has no Egyptian visa, however. Greek press reports from Paris said the French government has refused him permission to land at Djibouti, French Somaliland.

Egypt Keeps Watch.

Dispatches from Port Said tonight said the Egyptian authorities were keeping a close watch for Insull's ship. It had not arrived there at a late hour tonight. It should have reached Port Said today if Insull intended to go through the Seuz canal.

The fugitive may have taken an altogether different course, however. When he was making a search for visas, the direction chosen was due north through Rumania. Now it is reported his intentions may be to go to Poland. If that is true the Maiotis

Baby's Arrival Eased by Fast Work of Police

An infant born early today in St. Anne's hospital can thank the detective bureau squad of Sergt. John Gapinski for an easier advent into the world than she would have had if a robber had kept possession of the instrument kit of Dr. Charles E. Pugh.

Dr. Pugh, in his home at 3530 Lake Shore drive, was notified shortly after 2 p. m. that his services were urgently needed at the hospital. Putting his instruments into his car he started out. At Diversey and Kimball avenues a robber stepped on the running board when he stopped for a light, presented a pistol and took the car.

Police Sight Stolen Car.

He agreed, however, to give the doctor a ride to the hospital. Dr. Pugh went inside when released and notified the Shakespeare avenue police of his experience. Sergt. Gapinski took up the search and a little later, at Kimball and Wabansia avenues, sighted the stolen car.

There was a long and intricate chase that ended only when the robber crashed into a viaduct abutment at Bloomingdale road and Albany avenue. Deserting the wrecked car, he attempted to flee on foot, but was pursued, fired on a dozen times, and finally captured by Sergt. Gapinski's squad.

Anxiously Awaits His Kit.

The sergeant then called St. Anne's and talked to Dr. Pugh.

"We have got your car, but it's wrecked," he said, "and we have the fellow that took it."

"To blazes with the car and the robber," said the doctor. "Get me my instruments over here right now. I need them."

Without further ado, hauling the prisoner with them, the squad exceeded the speed limit in getting the kit to the hospital. A few minutes later a fat baby girl was born to Mrs. Marcella Melloan, 723 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park. Dr. Pugh announced that, with the aid of the police, all was going well with mother and daughter.

MAIL PILOTS' PAY MONTH OVERDUE

Live on Hotel Credit and Borrow Carfare.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Members of the army air corps who took over the flying of the mails on Feb. 20 have gone without pay since leaving their home stations at military flying fields, it was learned yesterday. More than 300 air corps officers and more than 1,000 enlisted men have been transferred to posts on the transcontinental air mailways and left virtually penniless.

In addition to their failure to get their regular army pay, the corps has also failed to receive the funds which army regulations allot for maintenance of officers and men when they are ordered away from their regular stations. As a result the enlisted men, whose monthly pay is as low as $21, have found it difficult to obtain food. The officers, although in less difficulties than the enlisted men, have had to do some fancy borrowing to get enough to eat.

Get Credit at Hotels.

At the headquarters of the air mail corps at Chicago airport 40 officers and nearly 100 enlisted men and civilian employés carry on operations 24 hours a day. Inquiry disclosed yesterday that all the enlisted men are lodging at the Greenview hotel, 6234 South Green street, and the Hotel Halwood, 740 Englewood avenue, on credit.

In a number of cases, it is said, the hotel employés have loaned the men money so that they could buy food and procure transportation to the airport. Some of the men have been without tobacco money for nearly four weeks.

The officers also were quartered at these same hotels when Lieut. Col. Horace M. Hickam, commandant of the central zone of mail operations, first set up his force in Chicago. Many of the officers, however, have moved to the Southmoor hotel, at 67th street and Stony Island avenue, where they are rooming on credit.

Unable to Meet Expenses.

Most of the pilots in the army air mail corps are first or second lieutenants. Officers of the latter rank receive a base pay of $141.67 a month and 50 per cent bonus for flying. First lieutenants have a base pay of $171 a month and a bonus of 50 per cent for flying. They report that they are unable to meet expenses without their subsistence pay.

Myrtle Jailed for Her $7,500 Love Suit Debt

Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackidge, former collector of internal revenue, was put into the county jail last night for failure to pay a $7,500 judgment awarded by a jury to Mrs. Susanne Nottingham for the theft of the affections of the latter's patrol wagon driver husband, Norman.

The damage suit verdict, returned on Jan. 24, contained a malice count which enables Mrs. Nottingham to keep the former collector in jail for at least six months if the judgment remains unpaid and board is paid at the rate of 50 cents a day in advance. The injured wife has paid $3.50 in advance.

Policeman with Her.

Mrs. Blackidge was arrested in an alley in the rear of 8125 Cottage Grove avenue by Deputy Sheriffs Bert Meyering, George Hellmann, and Harold Duggan. With her at the time, according to Meyering, a brother of Sheriff William D. Meyering, was Policeman Nottingham.

"An apartment at 8125 Cottage Grove avenue had been rented in his name," said Meyering, "and they were leaving it together. Mrs. Blackidge seemed to have a sprained ankle and Nottingham was helping her along. When he saw us he put up a little scrap, but desisted when he found out who we were. He made no attempt to follow us to the jail."

The order to arrest Mrs. Blackidge was issued on Monday, but her whereabouts was not discovered until yesterday.

"I may be here all summer," said Mrs. Blacklidge as she entered the jail.

Tell of Love Theft.

In the trial, held before Judge Irving L. Weaver, there was an array of testimony to show that Mrs. Blackidge had alienated the affections of the tall policeman, who is attached for patrol wagon driving to the Grand Crossing station. Counsel for Mrs. Nottingham portrayed the former collector as a "predatory female" out to get her man, while Mrs. Blackidge's attorney described her as "just a playtoy for Mr. Nottingham."

After the verdict was returned finding her guilty and assessing damages of $7,500, Mrs. Blacklidge said she could not pay and it didn't make any difference what the amount was.

Policeman Nottingham went back to his work at midnight. At the police station he said that he had been making his home in the apartment and that Mrs. Blacklidge had merely dropped in to visit him.

"Somebody sent a call that the bailiffs were going to raid the apartment and arrest her," he added, "so we started to leave. It wasn't three men waiting; it was seven."

Gang Murder Bares Strange Tale of Crime

The mysterious J. George Zeigler, who was slain by a shotgun gang early yesterday in front of a Cicero restaurant, was identified last evening by his fingerprints as Fred C. Goetz, former army flyer and University of Illinois graduate, who had been sought by the police since 1925. In one identity or another—Goetz or Zeigler—he was wanted for murder, attempted rape, and bank robbery.

Police records revealed that Goetz had forfeited a $5,000 bond and fled after indictment for the attempted rape of a 7 year old girl was sought for murder in a north side robbery, and had a $5,000 reward on his head for participation in a $352,000 bank holdup at Jefferson, Wis.

Sought by U. S. Agents.

Melvin Purvis, chief of the Chicago bureau of investigation of the United States department of justice, revealed that his men had sought "Zeigler" for participation in the Kansas City union station massacre of last June, when a federal prisoner and four guards were slain.

Police Capt. John Stege said "Zeigler" had been hunted as a participant in the Valentine day massacre of seven Moran gangsters in 1929.

The dead man was reported to have been a confederate of Fred [Killer] Burke, notorious outlaw now serving a life term in a Michigan prison for the murder of a policeman. He was also said to have had dealings with Gus Winkler, north side gang leader who was slain several months ago.

A Strange Story of Crime.

In 1929 Goetz, the college graduate, disappeared after his clashes with the law. The police sought him vainly.

Presently in the underworld appeared the figure of Zeigler, robber and killer. Police sought him, too, but never found him.

It took death to prove what had never been suspected before—that the college graduate and the desperado were the same.

An Army Aviation Officer.

Goetz was 37 years old. During the world war he was in the aviation branch of the army at Langley Field Va., and was commissioned a second lieutenant. When the war ended he entered the University of Illinois.

There he tried athletics and was a director of the university post of the American Legion. Reports that he had played on the varsity football team were denied by university officials. He was graduated in 1923 with a good record.

In 1925 his police record began. Employed that summer as a life guard at Clarendon beach, he was arrested on a charge of attempting to rape a 7 year old girl and was indicted. His parents posted a $5,000 bond. Goetz forfeited the bond and fled.

Sought After Holdup Murder.

He was next sought after an attempted robbery of Dr. Henry R. Gross, who was held up in his automobile in front of his home at 830 Galt avenue. In the gun battle that followed the doctor's resistance the doctor was wounded and his chauffeur, Barney Hernandez, was slain.

Investigating the murder, the police arrested Roger Bessmer, who subsequently confessed and named Goetz as one of the robbers. Bessmer was later tried and convicted for his part in the crime. That was in 1926.

In 1929 the Farmers and Merchants bank at Jefferson, Wis., was robbed of $352,000 in cash and bonds. Warants were issued for six men. One of

PRESIDENT LAYS DOWN LAW TO AUTO BUILDERS

Wins Arbitration in Rail Strike Threat.

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—Eight of America's leading automobile manufacturers walked out of President Roosevelt's office this afternoon grim-faced and uncommonly silent.

They spent two and a half hours telling the President they would not recognize or deal with the American Federation of Labor or any of its offspring unions. Then they heard the President tell them that if the automobile workers wanted the American Federation of Labor for their spokesman the manufacturers would have to accept the inevitable.

Some of the manufacturers informed the President, it was learned, that they were ready to test the issues in the courts. Despite their attitude, however, Mr. Roosevelt was reported as holding high hopes that he might be able to temper their antagonism.

On another sector of the industrial scene the President apparently had set up machinery for an amicable settlement of the railway wage controversy. This had flared dangerously for a time, but today both sides notified the President they would accede to his suggestion and would present the issues to the federal rail coördinator, Joseph B. Eastman.

Seek Test by Workers.

The only hope of stalling off the strike which has threatened the booming automobile industry, and by that token is threatening the whole national effort toward prosperity, lies, it was reported, in whether the industrialists will submit to a test of their employés' desires in the matter.

The manufacturers told the President insistently, it was learned, that they are dealing now with their employés through representatives of the employés' own choosing, as is required by the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The American Federation of Labor, which admittedly has been staging a hard fight to use the NRA as a fulcrum for giving it a union foothold in the heretofore "open shop" automobile industry, demands that the national labor board, appointed by President Roosevelt, should control and manage new elections in all automobile plants, to determine whether the workers want their present representatives in a "company union" setup or independent representatives of the labor federation.

Meet This Afternoon.

The labor leaders, who had called a strike in all automobile factories to take effect today, and who canceled that call upon request of President Roosevelt, will meet with the chief executive tomorrow afternoon.

Reliable reports emanating from the conference in the President's office today were to the effect that he had proposed to the motor chiefs that they agree to the holding of an election at which certain agreed propositions will be laid before the workers.

It was said that Mr. Roosevelt proposed the elections be held under a joint control in which both the managements and the officials of the national labor board should participate.

He was declared to have pointed out to the manufacturers that, inasmuch as they all professed great confidence in their employés' willingness to be represented in the present company unions, they were risking nothing by consenting to the holding of an election to demonstrate that fact.

Some objections were raised, however, by manufacturers who insisted that the language of the recovery act did not require elections to be held on the question of whether the American Federation of Labor be recognized or not, and that this was the sole question which those agitating the strike wanted put to the workers. It was thought likely that some middle ground may be found by the President in putting questions before the employés.

Might Control Industry.

A much more cogent objection on the part of the manufacturers cited by some of them is that while in most or nearly all of their plants the employés by large majorities would vote satisfaction with the present system, there might be a key plant in which the men would vote for American Federation of Labor representation.

This plant might produce certain essential parts going into production of automobiles, and if it were placed under control of the national labor group could be used as an effective weapon to compel unionization of the entire industry.

The situation is held to be not far separated in its scope from that faced by the President in the strike of coal miners employed by the captive mines of the steel companies. This controversy, which in the case of the Weirton Steel company is still waging, brought the steel chiefs to Washington in the same manner as the automobile chiefs are here now, and they, too, expressed their unwillingness to accord any recognition to the United Mine Workers.

In that controversy the President employed the same plan that he is urging upon the automobile makers and the result was that the steel operators finally recognized the mine workers' union.

Those attending the conference today, in addition to the President and his NRA administrator, Hugh. S. Johnson, were Alvin Macauley, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the Packard Motor company; Walter P. Chrysler of the Chrysler corporation; Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors; Roy D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor company and former secretary of commerce under Mr. Hoover. C. W. Nash, chairman of the Nash Motors company; Donaldson Brown and John Thomas Smith, vice presidents of General Motors, and Nicholas Kelly of Chrysler.

Green Sees Big Stick.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has directed the sending of organizers into the automobile factory centers, late today declared that if the manufacturers refused to accede to the President's suggestion he should resort to the extraordinary and drastic measure of licensing the entire industry and compel its members to obey his dictates.

The President has been urged many times in the past, by Mr. Green and others, to employ this powerful weapon given him in the recovery act, but he has been reluctant to attempt it. He has given no sign whether he will use it in this emergency or not, but some of his advisers are of the opinion that he would wield this big stick rather than permit a strike to imperil his entire recovery program.

After dismissing the automobile manufacturers this afternoon Mr. Roosevelt called in Attorney General Cummings for a lengthy discussion. Mr. Cummings admitted later that the subject of their talk was the automobile situation. Asked if he had gone into the probability of the President's wielding the licensing club over the industry, Mr. Cummings became reticent.

"I will not discuss any details of the matter," he declared, a bit stiffly.

Expect Rail Compromise.

In the railroad controversy the union representatives, through A. F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, reiterated their intention of seeking a 10 per cent increase above basic wage rates, but it is generally believed they will not press the demand.

The unions, it is known, would be more than happy if the 10 per cent cut imposed two years ago were restored. The railroads, with the support of the President, ask a temporary extension of the present arrangement by which the 10 per cent is deducted from pay checks.

Mr. Eastman announced that he would meet the representatives of railways at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and the labor spokesmen at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. No arrangements for a joint meeting will be made until after these first sessions are held.

POSTAL WORKERS LUCKY TO HAVE JOB—ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt today warned postal employés who are protesting against a recent furlough cutting their pay that they are fortunate they were not discharged instead of merely furloughed.

The postoffice department is overstaffed by 15,000 workers, the President said in response to inquiries at his press conference this morning. He added that from a purely dollars and cents point of view all these people should have been discharged.

Instead, the President explained, he and Postmaster General James A. Farley had decided to keep them on under a furlough in the hope that there will be a spring pickup in mail which will justify returning them to full time. A slump in the mails has brought about the excess of workers, he said.

Told that some part time employés were able to earn only $4 or $5 a week since the furlough of one day a month was put through, President Roosevelt reiterated that real economy as distinguished from charity would have called for the dismissal of all the extra clerks and carriers. Most of them would have had to go on relief rolls or other doles if dismissed, he admitted.

POSTAL WORKERS TO HOLD PROTEST PARADE AT 1 P. M.

A mass demonstration and parade of postal workers is scheduled for 1 o'clock this afternoon at Congress street and Michigan avenue to protest against what representatives of the National Association of Substitute Postoffice Employés, sponsoring the parade, call "the unjust and inconsistent economy orders of the administration." Of 1,100 substitute postal employés in Chicago, 600 have been dropped from the payrolls, the remainder getting 53 cents an hour for day work and 58⅓ cents an hour for night work, and making in all from $3 to $5 a week, association representatives said.

AUTO INDUSTRY EYES CAPITAL AS PARLEY NEARS

Collins with 30 Aids Off for Powwow.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—[Special.]—The automobile industry, with 200,000 workers in the Detroit, Lansing, Flint, and Pontiac area, which has been leading the parade towards business recovery, fixed its eyes today on Washington and President Roosevelt's effort to head off a strike on the ancient issue of open shop versus unions.

Postponement of strike action pending White House conferences eased the strain perceptibly and Detroit streets, which up to a few months ago were filled with men out of jobs, echoed with hopes that the President may negotiate a settlement that will avert any walkout at the factories.

William Collins, national organizer for the American Federation of Labor, headed a group of thirty officials of 18 federation unions which left late today for the national capital. They are to meet national officials of their organization this morning at Washington and select a group of spokesmen to meet with the President. William Green, president of the federation, will head the delegation.

Always Open Shop.

Stripped to the buff, the issue is the old one of recognition of organized labor. Detroit and the other Michigan automotive towns have been traditionally open shop and so has the automobile industry. The controversy is regarded as offering the severest test of the NRA and section 7-A which deals with collective bargaining.

Collective bargaining itself is not at stake, but the method of applying it is. The automobile manufacturers declare that they have collective bargaining through representatives chosen by the workers themselves in specific groups and that they will continue that system. They say the federation wants to represent all the workers as spokesmen for an entire plant, and that they will not enter into any contracts with the federation.

Their position is that they will deal with any representatives regularly chosen by specific groups of their employés, whether these representatives are labor union officials or not, but that they will not make any contracts or agreements covering wages, hour working conditions or otherwise with the American Federation of Labor. They hold the national recovery act does not require them to do anything of the sort.

"Competence Demonstrated."

The industry says it does not intend to give recognition to the American Federation of Labor as such, and that it has demonstrated its competence to deal with the workers through representatives chosen by the employés. They point to wages, the highest in the big industries, and to hours and working conditions as being perhaps the best in the major industries.

Before departing for Washington, Mr. Collins, in speaking of the issue, said:

"The real issue is whether section 7-A of NRA on collective bargaining means anything, and whether automobile workers may organize without coercion from the employers.

"The men are determined to escape company domination through company unions, and tomorrow's conference, we hope, will decide this issue.

"We are hopeful that the President will accomplish what the recovery law has failed to accomplish. If the President fails nothing can stop a strike."

Send Johnson Ultimatum.

Mr. Collins disclosed that the federation had served upon Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, an ultimatum of its demands before it was voted to postpone the threatened strike. They were essentially what the federation officials have been speaking of in recent statements on the issues involved.

In taking officials of 18 local federation of labor unions to Washington for tomorrow's conference, it was pointed out, action is possible upon the results of the White House conference. In most cases the unions which voted for a strike have left it with the officials to set the time, and in case the negotiations at Washington should fall through, action might possibly be decided upon forthwith at the capitol. The general feeling, however, seems to be that the President will manage to avert a walkout.

As Detroit views it, too, the federation perhaps will be hesitant to advocate any walkout that would halt business revival just as it is swinging along and open the federation to criticism for knocking the props from under recovery to date.

Talk About Business Gain.

In the cigar shops, the taverns, the soda fountains today one chief topic was the great advance in pay rolls and employment in recent months since the automobile industry arose with its new 1934 models to sock the depression.

A rise of 3 million dollars in weekly pay rolls, and of 25 per cent in employment last month, increased buying in the stores, larger crowds at the movies, increased employment in steel mills, glass factories, and other collateral industries supplying materials for the automotive industry, business coming out of the dumps—all these things to be bowled over if a walkout should come—that's what the traveler found ordinary folks in downtown Detroit talking about.

Meanwhile, a 10 per cent decrease in hours and a 10 per cent increase in wage rates is set for establishment April 1.

The Ford company a week ago announced its restoration of the $5 a day minimum for its 47,000 workers, of whom 32,160 in the Detroit area alone are increased from $4 to $4.40 a day to $5. General Motors will cut hours from 40 to 36 a week and raise wages correspondingly in accord with the recommendations of the national chamber. It was announced a week ago. The industry as a whole is going ahead with its program as announced last week to reduce weekly hours from 40 to 36 and to provide compensating wage increases.

Factories at Full Blast.

Factories are going full tilt in filling schedules for 325,000 motor vehicles as the projected output for March. Some of them are working three shifts. A cruise through the factories this morning showed long lines of men at the employment offices. The threat of a walkout in some plants seems to have brought about a speeding up of output, and in some plants cars are being produced at a faster rate than ever before, according to men in the industry.

On its front page the Detroit Free Press this morning carried a picture of workers streaming from the Chevrolet plant at lunch time, crowding the streets, with a caption saying "Don't wreck America. This street was practically empty for three years during the depression, and looking back it seems a hideous nightmare. Shall it return again, a reality?"

Figures on the number of workers who have joined the federation of labor unions are difficult to get. Federation leaders estimate a membership of 50,000 in southeastern Michigan in fifty locals, but by some this is deemed too high. In the event of a walkout they look for practically the entire industry to be involved, with some 200,000 workers.

Manufacturer Keep Still.

With the action now centered in Washington, the manufacturers today held back from further statements of the case here, leaving that for their spokesmen in Washington. Federation headquarters put out a statement from Mr. Collins, dwelling upon the effect of semi-automatic machinery upon the labor cost in an automobile and upon the seasonal character of the industry.

"Labor costs of the wholesale selling price of an automobile," it said, "in 1923 were about 15 per cent. Since the depression the labor costs are about 10 per cent.

"The workers wish to find out if the NRA, which gave the employers the right to organize and regulate their business, is the same law that allows these employers to prevent the workers from collective bargaining and freely choosing their representatives to bargain for wages and working conditions."

WOMAN ROBBED OF HER COAT.

Mrs. Gertrude Poshepny, 40 years old, 27 North Laramie avenue, was robbed of her fur coat valued at $250 by two youths who halted her near her home early yesterday.

Mills Says Gold Standard Is Best for World Trade

New York, March 21.—(AP)—Ogden Mills, former secretary of the treasury, called for a prompt return to an international gold standard tonight, a few hours after Prof. G. F. Warren of Cornell university urged that the United States "do better" than restore the "old type" monetary system. Both spoke before the Academy of Political Science.

Mills criticized industrial control plans, saying "we shall never solve the paradox of want by doing away with the plenty. . . . I am prepared to cast my lot . . . with economic freedom as contrasted with the rigidity of a controlled and regimented economy."

Calls Gold Standard Best.

Launching his argument for an international gold standard, Mills stated "the growth of international trade is seriously hampered by the lack of one," and continued:

"Why a gold standard? As far as I am concerned, first, because I know of no system likely to function better. Secondly, because it is difficult enough to reach any agreement among many nations, and agreement on something which we know from experience facilitates the task.

"And, third, since we understand the functioning of the gold standard, and recognize its weak points, we are in a position to so modify it as to guard against them."

"While the immediate problem is to get out of the depression," Prof. Warren, an adviser to President Roosevelt, said, "we should give careful consideration to permanent improvement in the monetary system.

"While on the gold standard we had the worst inflation and worst deflation that has occurred since the formation of the Union—worse than the greenbacks of civil war days; and exchange rates have been in chaos. . . .

"With the progress of civilization the problem of stability of the purchasing power of a money becomes of increasing importance."

Briton Discusses Trade.

Sir Arthur Salter, British economist, described as fundamental in any monetary policy "the balance of trade and of payments which form the environment within which any currency system has to work."

"The ideal of self-sufficiency . . . represents, in my view, the despair of human reason and of human wisdom; a wanton abandonment of the wisest practicable level of prosperity. . . ."

Owen D. Young, presiding, discussed national economic policies and remarked:

"If our speculation went mad in the last years of the '20's, it does not mean we will find salvation by paralyzing security markets or inhibiting new capital issues now."

TELLS HOW CANADIAN FLYER ROUTED KAISER WITH A MACHINE GUN

TORONTO, Ont., March 21.—(AP)—How a Canadian flyer sent the German kaiser, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and the official German headquarters staff scurrying to shelter during the war was revealed for the first time today by Air Commodore P. F. M. Fellowes. The flyer was Flight Commander George C. Mackay, now living in a Toronto suburb.

Commander Mackay and two others were ordered to bomb the mole at Zeebrugge, and were given orders to use only bombs and not machine guns, Fellowes said. When Mackay returned from the flight he bashfully reported that he had used his machine gun. A group of men had been on the mole and he had missed them with his bombs. He returned and sprayed the mole with his machine guns and saw the men scurrying to shelter.

Later word was received from Berlin, via Holland, that among those on the mole were the kaiser and Von Hindenburg.

The story was news even to the man who had routed the kaiser, as it had not been told outside official war office circles, Fellowes said.

BORAH LASHES CODES AS WAY TO MONOPOLIES

Roosevelt Admits Wrongs and Plans Revision.

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—While the NRA's critics in the senate were condemning it as a device for choking small businesses, President Roosevelt himself admitted today that his recovery machinery is fashioning monopolistic price controls.

The President's abandonment of his own NRA pacts under a barrage of criticism from the federal trade commission and from Republican senators apparently forecast an early and complete revision of the Blue Eagle codes. President Roosevelt hinted at endeavoring to break up trusts under the codes with new methods of competition.

Borah Assails Codes.

In the senate, meanwhile, Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] was denouncing the codes as a device for allowing huge monopolies to squeeze consumers, workers, and small business men. The senator blamed threatening strikes on monopolies fostered by codes.

He took as his text a report of the federal trade commission on the monopolistic workings of the steel code, declaring that the steel trust is using the NRA to grind small competitors out of business.

"Here is given power not only to drive small independent plants out of existence but, if you please, to enrich or impoverish communities, to enrich or to leave desolate cities and towns," Senator Borah cried. "I cannot believe that such a program will long be acquiesced in. I cannot believe that the congress of the United States will return to the people without enacting laws which would enable the government to protect the people against such conditions."

Must Be Rewritten.

The solution, Senator Borah told the senate, is twofold: An immediate rewriting of the NRA codes and reenactment of the anti-trust laws now in abeyance under the codes.

President Roosevelt, at his press conference this morning, had admitted the codes may bring about monopoly prices even before Senator Borah launched his attack.

He said that some new form of competition must be found to break up such implicit agreements among large concerns. He proposed also, in dealing with the steel monopoly disclosed by the trade commission's report of yesterday, that the government force a disclosure o production costs in steel mills so that it would have a basis for determining fair prices. Steel companies, he declared, have resisted any disclosure of their costs.

Senator Borah, however, traced the steel monopoly back to the predominance which the code gives to large companies on the NRA governing board for the steel industry. United States Steel corporation has a 40 per cent control on the code authority and Bethlehem Steel holds another 13 per cent, according to Senator Borah.

Because this board has authority to make steel mills change their prices it is slowly forcing small mills to conform to prices which favor the steel trust, the senator said.

In a decision today on the complaint of the Sturtevant Ice Cream company or Rock Island, Ill., the trade commission tacitly admitted that had it the power it would institute anti-trust law proceedings to break up an existing monopoly under the AAA marketing agreement for the evaporated milk industry.

The provisions of the agricultural adjustment act, however, completely immunize monopolies under marketing agreements from prosecution under the anti-trust laws, the commission stated, and for that reason it had no power to act on the complaint by the Sturtevant company.

AL SMITH TO RESIGN AS THE EDITOR OF 'NEW OUTLOOK' TODAY

New York, March 21.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, it was learned authoriatively tonight, will resign tomorrow as editor of the New Outlook magazine.

In his letter of resignation to Frank A. Tichenor, publisher of the magazine, former Gov. Smith will say that the pressure of his other business activities makes it advisable for him to sever his editorial connection.

Neither the former governor nor Tichenor could be reached for comment tonight.

His editorial column was last fall the medium of an attack on the financial policy of the Roosevelt administration, in which he coined the expression "baloney dollar."

TAXICABSTRIKERS STAGE RIOT ON N. Y.'S BROADWAY

New York, March 21.—(AP)—Widespread disorder developed in the Broadway theatrical district tonight as taxi strike pickets and sympathizers fought with police.

About 800 striking cabmen, who had voted to reject operators' overtures to return to work, were joined by strikers from upper Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens. Arriving in buses, the strikers numbered about 3,000 at 11 o'clock. They outnumbered the police about a hundred to one.

Strikers and sympathizers marched through 16th street to Broadway. As they stopped cabs on the way, ripping off doors, breaking windows and pulling drivers from their seats, their lines were rapidly swelled by reinforcements. Bricks were hurled through the windows of passing cabs. At Broadway and 38th street a brick was thrown through a cab, breaking both side windows and showering two passengers, a man and woman, with glass.

The disturbers charged policemen at Broadway and 51st street and a free-for-all fight ensued.

"Charge the cops; beat the cops," shouted some as they charged into the policemen after a captain had ordered patrolmen to arrest two men who ripped a door from a cab.

Handpicked Men Re-elect President of Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 21.—(AP)—The constitutional assembly tonight reelected Gabriel Terra president of Uruguay for a four year term by a majority of 241 votes. The assembly is the one Terra selected after his coup d'état of March 13, 1933, when he suppressed parliament and the administrative council.

WORKERS FAVOR COMPANY UNION IN NRA VOTE HERE

Employés of the food stores of the Jewel Tea company in the Chicago metropolitan area voted last night, 185 to 90, to retain their company union method of collective bargaining under section 7-A of the national recovery act. The election was the first held under the supervision of the Chicago regional labor board under NRA.

The vote was called for after the Retail Clerk's union, No. 901, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, demanded it. The union had presented a petition signed by 61 of the 300 food store employés of Jewel Tea for the election, which was held in the regional board headquarters.

M. H. Karcher, president of the company, said that the company union had been adopted unanimously in December and that it had been functioning satisfactorily since. He added that negotiations on wages and working conditions had been carried on under the arrangement to the benefit of the workers.

U. S. AND JAPAN EXCHANGE 'GOOD WILL' PLEDGES

See Tokio as Aiming at Naval Parity.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—With a view to removing appearances of discord between them, Janpan and the United States, in an exchange of notes made public today, have given each other assurances of cordial regard and pledges of a desire for the settlement of any differences by amicable means.

The exchange of notes was the outcome of interchanges initiated by Japan in furtherance of a foreign policy the general purpose of which is to conciliate the United States. Japan is intent upon persuading the United States to abandon the Hoover administration's policy of obstruction of Japanese occupation of Manchuria and to recognize the Japanese dominated state of Manchukuo.

Seeks Conference.

Japan is also aiming at achievement of naval parity with the United States and Great Britain in the negotiation of a new navy limitation treaty next year to take the place of the present agreements expiring in 1936. To this end Tokio desires a preliminary negotiation with Washington in the hope of persuading the Roosevelt administration to consent to naval parity.

In addition, the Japanese are desirous of cultivating a favorable public sentiment in this country which would be important in the event of war between Japan and Russia.

Japan, however, in the preliminary informal overtures to Washington failed to receive any definite encouragement with regard either to the recognition of Manchukuo or naval parity. Hence the formal note dispatched by Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota contains no specific mention of the objectives behind it and Secretary of State Cordell Hull's reply is devoid of any commitment.

Actuated by a desire to enforce the Kellogg anti-war pact and the nine power treaty, Secretary of State Stimson in the Hoover administration sought almost single handed to halt Japan's seizure of Manchuria. He won eventually the support of the league of nations but brought the United States and Japan close to a breach of friendly relations.

Before assuming office, Mr. Roosevelt indorsed in principle Mr. Stimson's doctrine of refusal to recognize the seizure of territory by force in contravention of existing treaties. Since then he has been silent on the question, but he has avoided any further antagonizing of Japan in the matter.

Hull Dodges Naval Parity.

Much has been heard of the suggestion that all the powers with interests in the Pacific should meet to settle the questions raised by the erection of the state of Manchukuo and that the United States, Great Britain, and Japan should hold a parley this year on the matter of naval parity for Japan. Mr. Hull's language in the reply to Tokio, however, neither invites nor rejects such suggestions. It is couched in generalities and wholly noncommittal.

After calling attention to the eightieth anniversary of the opening of Japan to foreign intercourse, in which the United States was instrumental, and to the increasing commercial interdependence of the United States and Japan Foreign Minister Hirota said:

"I firmly believe that, viewed in the light of the broad aspect of the situation and studied from all possible angles, no question exists between our two countries that is fundamentally incapable of amicable solution. I do not doubt that all issues pending between the two nations will be settled in a satisfactory manner, when examined with a good understanding on the part of each of the other's position; discussed with an open mind and in all frankness and approached with a spirit of coöperation and conciliation.

Tells Desire for Peace.

"I can state with all emphasis at my command that the Japanese nation makes it its basic principle to collaborate in peace and harmony with all nations and has no intention whatever to provoke and make trouble with any other power.

"It is the sincere desire of Japan that a most peaceful and friendly relation will be firmly established between her and her great neighbor across the Pacific, the United States. And to this end I have been exerting my best efforts since I took the post of foreign minister."

Mr. Hull reciprocated these sentiments as follows:

"The cordial sentiments which you express in this message I highly appreciate and reciprocate."

"I have not failed to note, with gratification, your excellency's effort to foster friendly relations with other powers. In all such effort I am sure that you realize that you may rely upon me for the fullest possible measure of coöperation.

"Trade Benefits for Both."

"You express the opinion that, viewed in the light of the broad aspects of the situation and studied from all possible angles, no question exists between our two countries that is fundamentally incapable of amicable solution. I fully concur with you in that opinion.

"You refer to the gratifying fact that in the field of trade the interests of our two countries are not in conflict and commercial ties are being constantly strengthened.

"I perceive every reason to anticipate the United States and Japan will continue to develop their reciprocal trade with benefit to both countries and, where there may be competition, with constant reciprocal good will."

Britain Favors Naval Talks.

LONDON, March 21.—(AP)—Preliminary explorations of the ground for a new world naval conference by the United States and Japan, as a result of friendly notes between Washington and Tokio, were regarded favorably today in high British circles.

The view here is that sharp differences over naval matters exist between the chief American and oriental powers and that if these are smoothed out chances will be brighter of replacing with new pacts the naval treaties expiring in 1936.

REYNOLDS ESTATE SETTLEMENT IS HELD INVALID

Raleigh, N. C., March 21.—(AP)—The state Supreme court today held invalid a family agreement for settlement of the 25 million dollar estate of Smith Reynolds, but failed to rule how the tobacco heir's fortune should be shared by his two children, Anne Cannon Reynolds, a daughter by his first wife, and Zachary Smith Reynolds, an infant son by his second wife, Libby Holman, the Broadway singer.

The effect of the decision was to throw the case back into the lower courts for settlement of at least two vital points:

First—The validity of a will made in New York by young Reynolds soon after his first wife, formerly Anne Cannon, obtained a Reno divorce, and shortly before he married Miss Holman.

Second—The status of a pre-divorce agreement, under which Anne Cannon Reynolds and her infant daughter received $500,000 each in consideration of their renouncing all further claims to the tobacco fortune.

Should this agreement, recorded in Forsyth county Superior court, be allowed to stand, the court said Libby Holman's baby would be entitled to the entire fortune.

However, the court expressed the opinion that the agreement was invalid in so far as it related to Anne Cannon Reynolds II., on the ground that an infant's inheritance rights could not be signed away.

The agreement was attacked by the Cabarrus Bank and Trust company of Concord, N. C., which had been named co-guardian of Anne Cannon Reynolds II.

DOCTOR'S DEATH A MYSTERY.

ILLINOIS THIRD IN INCOME TAX PAYMENTS TO U.S.

Yield for Entire Nation Jumps 35%.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—Illinois paid about 17½ million dollars in federal income taxes during the March filing of returns, yielding more than any other state except New York and Pennsylvania, the treasury announced today.

Eight out of every hundred dollars collected in income taxes between March 1 and 20 came from Illinois, treasury department reports revealed. Total collections for the whole country during that period were 218 million dollars.

Illinois Yields $17,690,110.

Collections from Illinois amounted to $17,690,110, a gain of 6½ million dollars, or 58 per cent, over last year's collections, the treasury announced. This gain was larger than that for the country as a whole; aggregate collections from all states advanced only 35 per cent over those of last year.

Total collections from the five Chicagoland states amounted to about 34 million dollars, according to the treasury's figures. These five states, all of which showed advances over last year's payments, furnished 15 per cent of the national income tax.

Michigan in March of this year paid in $8,352,493, compared with $1,806,855 a year ago.

Wisconsin Pays in $2,583,521.

Wisconsin's income taxes amounted to $2,583,521 this month, compared with $1,615,103 in March, 1933.

For the country as a whole New York led the list with total income tax payments of almost 73 million dollars this year, compared with 57 millions a year ago. Pennsylvania was second with 18 million dollars as against 14 millions in March, 1933.

INSULL'S WIFE REFUSED PERMIT TO GO TO FRANCE

"Stranded" in Athens as Mate Sails On.

GREEN AT PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—Secret plans for weaving a new dragnet to ensnare Samuel Insull, fugitive utilities baron, were being worked out today by federal authorities in the state and justice departments.

Called into today's conferences were Dwight W. Green, district attorney for northern Illinois; Forrest Harness, who acted for the department of justice at Athens, just returned from Greece; Wallace S. Murray, chief of the state department's division of far eastern affairs, and his assistant, Paul H. Alling.

All those attending the Insull conference referred questions about the nature of their discussion to Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan, who called the meeting, but who refused to disclose its purpose beyond saying that it dealt with Insull.

"We Intend to Get Him."

Questioned about the plans which the government has for capturing Insull, who now is sailing the Mediterranean in quest of a haven, Keenan would say only, "Our job is to get him, and we intend to do it. We are well represented abroad."

The presence of Murray, who directs American relations with that section of the world in which Insull is seeking to hide, was taken as meaning that the conference was an effort to tighten extradition arrangements in eastern countries or to persuade them to deny Insull entrance.

Having withdrawn Harness, who represented the department of justice in Athens while Insull was there, the government is dealing entirely through state department officers abroad, Keenan admitted.

Refuses to Bare Plan to Insull.

In refusing to disclose what arrangements or plans had been worked out today, Keenan explained that he did not believe that the government's efforts would be aided by allowing the press to carry to Insull word of how the government expects to trap him.

Whatever the plans are, however, they appeared not to be entirely worked out. The conference between Keenan, Green, Harness, Murray and Alling are to continue tomorrow. It may branch out to include other federal criminal questions in Chicago, Keenan said.

The senate sent to the White House today a bill to prevent Insull from making a haven of any place where the United States exercises extra territorial rights, under which Americans accused there are tried under American law. Such rights are possessed by the United States in some of the Mediterranean ports.

Canada Delays Extradition of Martin Insull Two Weeks

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 21.—Martin J. Insull's hopes of a speedy extradition to Chicago, so he could be released in bail pending his trial on embezzlement charges, went glimmering in a snarl of Canadian red tape today.

The astounding announcement, from Insull's standpoint, that a warant of surrender cannot be issued for two weeks was made in Ottawa by M. S. Gallagher, advisory counsel for the minister of justice.

Papers Reach Ottawa.

J. C. McRuer, Insull's lawyer, and Joseph Sedgwick, deputy provincial attorney general, who is acting on behalf of Cook county, had expressed the conviction yesterday and again today that the warant of surrender would be here tomorrow morning.

The order of the Ontario Supreme court arrived in Ottawa today and all that remained was for the secretary of state to issue the warant and have it signed by the earl of Bessborough, governer general of Canada.

Reached by telephone at Ottawa, Gallagher, whose office prepares the warant for the secretary of state, said it had not been issued and would not be for two weeks because of a "statutory delay."

Refuses to Explain.

"What is the statute that causes the delay?" Gallagher was asked.

"It is in accordance with the usual practice," he replied.

"What is it then, the practice or the law?" was the next question.

"The practice conforms with the law," was all that could be elicted from Gallagher.

McRuer professed amazement when apprised of Gallagher's statement. He had expected to get Insull out of the eerie Don jail by tomorrow at the latest.

Tonight McRuer wrote to the solicitor general at Ottawa contending that the two weeks' statutory delay was designed merely to give a fugitive time to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. This Insull has already done, carrying his appeal to the Supreme court without success.

Holds Rule Does Not Apply.

The new warant of surrender was made necessary, McRuer pointed out, because the court limited the charges against Insull to the alleged thefts of $344,720 and $20,000. McRuer insisted that the two weeks' provision should not apply now, as in the first instance, and stated that if it were deemed necessary to a strict interpretation of the law Insull would waive it.

Despite Insull's complaints to his lawyer about the prison food and his protests that such confinement would "drive me crazy," the deputy governor of the jail insisted today that his most distinguished ward was likewise the most contented, and as for the food, "of course he likes it. All our prisoners get fat out here."

HOUSE NEGROES WIN FIGHT FOR RIGHTS AT FAIR

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—[Special.]—Upon the urgings of Negro representatives, the Illinois house today passed the Jenkins-Gaines-Warfield bill directed at concessionaires at A Century of Progress who would discriminate against serving Negroes. The vote was 98 to 2, dissenters being W. D. Gayle [Dem., Lincoln] and F. W. Lewis [Dem., Robinson].

When the Fair's enabling legislation was under consideration several weeks ago, the Negro members, William J. Warfield, Harris B. Gaines, and Charles J. Jenkins, all Chicago Republicans, insisted that members of their race had been discriminated against last summer and demanded that the measure include a new "bill of rights," guaranteeing equality.

Leaders on both sides of the house promised to support such a bill if the key bills were not delayed. The objections were withdrawn on that promise and today the "rights" bill was passed.

2D DAY'S AUTO LICENSE DRIVE NETS CITY $27,381

Receipts of $27,381 from 2,467 motorists for city licenses were reported by City Collector Edward J. Kaindl yesterday in the second day of the renewed campaign to compel automobile owners to procure 1934 licenses, now almost three months overdue. In addition, $4,475 was received through the mails. The total is almost double the daily average last week.

The secretary of state's office at 120 South Ashland avenue received 3,036 applications for state licenses yesterday and took in $32,000. This office will close at 5 p. m. daily, unless there is more of a rush, while the city collector's office will remain open until 9 p. m.

Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday campaign to force motorists to buy 1934 licenses will continue, "until the job is cleaned up."

FOREIGN DRUG CALLED LATEST IN ANESTHETICS

Patients Are Able to Eat Earlier than Usual.

Baltimore, Md., March 21.—(AP)—A drug physicians believe may revolutionize the use of anesthetics for operations up to half an hour long has been demonstrated at Sinai hospital here.

As yet unnamed, it is a white powder dissolved in water which is injected into the patient's arm and acts so rapidly that sleep is produced in 20 or less seconds.

In four cases used here by Dr. Albert E. Goldstein, a well known biologist, the anesthetic produced no ill after effects and the patient was able to eat heartily immediately afterwards, as well as before the operations.

Less Strain on Heart.

In one case an operation was performed under its use where Dr. Goldstein said no other type of anesthetics could be used because of the patient's weak heart. In another operation the patient climbed unaided from the operating table onto a carriage and pronounced himself ready for "a good heavy breakfast."

Dr. Goldstein said the anesthetic had been tried in Germany and in England, but was rare in the United States.

The dissolved powder is given with a hypodermic needle at the rate of one cubic centimeter for every 16 pounds the patient weighs.

The sleep is normal and there are no contractions of the muscles, the patient does not become excited or struggle.

Free from Discomfort.

The after effects of the new anesthetic are remarkable, Dr. Goldstein said. The patient awakes just as refreshed as if he had taken a nap and there is no illness or foggy feeling.

"I personally believe it is going to revolutionize anesthesia," Dr. Goldstein asserted. "For operations of short duration, with a limit of a half hour, it certainly will be the anesthetic of my choice."

One gram of the anesthetic when dissolved is good for half an hour, Dr. Goldstein said. It is not administered all at one time, but is divided into three parts, the second and third parts being given when the patient shows the first signs of becoming restless.

DE PRIEST TAKES CAFE WRANGLE TO HOUSE FLOOR

Chicago Negro Assails 'Arbitrary Ruling.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—With an impassioned appeal for "justice," Representative Oscar De Priest of Chicago, lone Negro member of congress, today carried the bitter controversy over the capitol restaurant ban on Negroes directly to the floor of the house.

Members of his race, he charged, have been barred from the dining rooms at the house by a purely arbitrary ruling on the part of the accounts committee chairman, Lindsay Warren, North Carolina Democrat. He asked only that 145 members of the house sign his petition to force consideration of a resolution challenging Mr. Warren's authority over the restaurant.

Eight More Sign.

"I ask every justice loving member to sign that petition," the Chicago Negro declared, adding that there were then 93 names on the document. Eight more names were signed, bringing the total to 101

"If we allow segregation and the denial of constitutional rights under the very dome of the capitol," De Priest asked, "where, in God's name, shall we get them? If I allow this challenge to go, people will say congress itself approves of denying one-tenth of our population equal rights and opportunities."

In answer to a question from Representative Thomas L. Blanton [Dem., Tex.], the Chicago Negro asserted:

"I am not asking privileges for Oscar De Priest or proper treatment for him, because I will take care of that. But I am asking for those people who have no voice in this congress, just as you, Mr. Blanton, would do if some of your constituents came here from Texas and were refused service. You would raise more hell than anybody I know of about it."

Reads Texan's Letter.

Mr. De Priest read a letter which he had received from Representative George Terrell [Dem., Tex.], in which Mr. Terrell said he did not believe in "social equality" between the white and Negro races. As the house rang with applause the Chicagoan said:

"When the Negroes came to this country originally they were all black. They are not now, because somebody has had a good deal of social equality—social equality not sought by Negro women; social equality forced upon them because of the adverse economic situation down there."

SERVANTS BACK CUDAHY IN HIS DIVORCE ACTION

Milwaukee, Wis., March 21.—(AP)—Former employés of the Michael F. Cudahy home today supported the millionaire packer's claim that his wife, Mrs. Alice Dickson Pinto Cudahy, was faultfinding, irritable, and high strung.

Cudahy, who occupied the stand Monday and yesterday, the first two days of the trial for divorce, maintained that these traits made his domestic life unhappy and constituted cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mrs. Anna Glavas, now the wife of a barber, who in 1928 worked in the Cudahy home, said that Mrs. Cudahy constantly was critical of her daughter, Peggy, 18, and that the girl never seemed happy while her mother was around.

Peggy is the daughter of Mrs. Cudahy and Carlos Pinto, her first husband, from whom she was divorced.

Dickie, the 8 year old son of the Cudahys, whose custody the father is seeking, was afraid of his mother, Mrs. Glavis said, and enjoyed eating in the kitchen with the help.

"Cudahy and the boy always got along well and Dickie seemed happy with his father," Mrs. Glavas concluded.

That the Cudahys "spied" on each other was asserted by Harry Wozniak, a former chauffeur and gardener about the home. Wozniak said that Mrs. Cudahy asked him to follow her husband one Saturday night to learn where he was going.

"Mrs. Cudahy always was finding fault. Not only with the children and her house, but Milwaukee generally," Wozniak said.

LILYAN TASHMAN, MOTION PICTURE STAR, DIES AT 34

Long Illness Is Fatal to Edmund Lowe's Wife.

New York, March 21.—[Special.]—Lilyan Tashman, known as the best dressed woman on the screen, died today at Doctors' hospital after a long illness, which became acute March 10. She was 34 years old.

The wife of Edmund Lowe, screen star, and an actress of the first rank in her own right, Miss Tashman underwent an operation, according to A. J. Gertenback, director of the hospital, for "an advanced tumorous condition which had necessitated an emergency operation shortly after she was admitted to the hospital."

Hospital attachés said the actress put up a tenacious fight for her life and only her driving will kept her alive. She worked through several pictures wracked with pain, it was said.

Grew Steadily Worse.

Miss Tashman, with her husband, went to Connecticut recently to regain her health, after finishing a picture, but her condition became steadily worse. She was working in "Frankie and Johnnie" at the old Biograph studios in the Bronx just before she collapsed.

Previously she had finished "Wine, Woman, and Song," which had its premier yesterday.

Born in New York Oct. 23, 1899, Miss Tashman was the daughter of Maurice and Rose Tashman. Her father was a children's clothing manufacturer.

While attending a girls' high school in Brooklyn she worked occasionally as a clothing model, but her entrance into the theater came dramatically one afternoon while she was having tea at Martin's.

One of those in the restaurant was Florenz Ziegfeld, who sent a friend over to Miss Tashman to tell her he would like her to try out for the "Follies." Without her parents knowing about it, Miss Tashman did and was accepted.

Played with Stars.

In that 1917 edition of the "Follies" were Marion Davies, Justine Johnson, Marie Wallace, and Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

While in the "Follies" she was discovered by David Belasco, who gave her a part in "Gold Diggers." Later she appeared in the Frazee production of "Barnum Was Right."

In 1924 Miss Tashman decided to try Hollywood. She landed a small part in "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," but had to come back east before Paramount gave her a featured part in "Manhandled."

Miss Tashman met Edmund Lowe fifteen years ago through Walter Catlett. They married after a brief courtship and, contrary to Hollywood custom, stayed married and devoted to each other.

ARMY MAY GET POSTAL MONEY FOR MAIL FLYING

Congress to Fix the Future Policy.

Washington, D. C., March 21.—(AP)—An agreement today between senate and house conferees on the emergency air mail bill indicated that the army soon would receive the benefit of post office funds to pay for the work it took over from private companies.

The emergency bill goes back to both houses for final action, but approval is expected without extended debate.

Official Pressure Used.

The administration brought pressure to hasten completion of the emergency measure after the army had complained that lack of funds was a contributing factor to the series of air mail fatalities.

The house post office committee, meanwhile, concluded hearings on the administration's measure designed to establish a permanent air mail policy to replace the structure torn down by the cancelation of air mail contracts.

One of the last witnesses was Col. William Mitchell, who repeated testimony he had made before the senate post office committee that America lagged in aviation development.

Begins Study Friday.

The house committee probably will begin a study in executive session of the administration measure Friday and the senate committee, which also had concluded hearings, is to meet within the next two or three days.

Quite a few changes probably will be made in the administration bill, principally with regard to reorganization provisions, but the post office department is expected to insist that the companies which receive contracts in the future be divorced almost entirely from holding companies and interlocking directorates.

There is strong support on the senate side for a bill drawn by Senator O'Mahoney [Dem., Wyo.], which would authorize the postmaster general immediately to put the mail back on private planes and would establish a system similar to that used in carrying the mail by rail.

TAKE DATA ON CHICAGO SLUMS TO WASHINGTON

John R. Fugard, president, and Albert J. Weisberg, treasurer of the Metropolitan Housing council, yesterday left for Washington to present to federal housing officials information on slum demolition possibilities in Chicago. Jacob Baker, who is head of the board in charge of all slum wrecking projects, called the conference which Mr. Fugard and Mr. Weisberg will attend.

Allan C. Williams, secretary of the local council, said it was hoped the demolition program could be coördinated with relief projects.

MAYOR SIGNS '34 BUDGET; $75,000 MORE IS PARED

Total Is $43,992,961; 20 Police Lose Rank.

Mayor Kelly yesterday signed the 1934 city budget, appropriating $43,992,961.30 for corporate purposes. This is a reduction of approximately $75,000 from the figure arrived at by the city council last week.

In making slight changes in the bill, the council concurred with recommendations made by Mayor Kelly. Chief of these was a reduction in the number of police sergeants from 497 to 472. This takes care of all sergeants now working, but shuts out the group of 24 who obtained a court order to force their promotion to lieutenancies.

24 Lose Sergeants' Jobs.

The 24 former sergeants thus are left without places, since the budget also fails to provide for them as lieutenants. They now must serve as patrolmen, if this can be done legally, or be put on an inactive list, eligible to promotion to lieutenancies. The police appropriation closed finally at $12,815,453.

The psychiatric division of the Municipal court, previously cut from $22,000 to $3,772.60, was given a total of $15,349.40. This provides for a staf of seven. Retention of Hiram T. Gilbert as assistant to the chief justice was provided by adding $6,000 to the budget.

The mayor's recommendation to cut the appropriation for installing a speaker system in the council chambers from $10,000 to $7,500 also was accepted. The other $2,500 will be spent on the city's exhibit at the World's Fair.

Keep Movie Censors.

By a vote of 37 to 4, the council tabled an amendment offered by Ald. James C. Moreland [41st] to eliminate an appropriation of $40,000 for 20 motion picture censorship investigators. Ald. Moreland called the investigators unnecessary.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], who made the motion to table, declared that outlying theaters reinsert sections cut out in the loop showings, and that investigators are necessary to enforce needed censorship. If the theaters coöperate with the city, he pointed out, it will not be necessary to use these investigators and a saving will be possible.

A resolution to hasten negotiations for $2,800,000 earmarked by the Public Works administration for development of the Calumet harbor and waterway project was introduced by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th]. It was referred to the committee on harbors and bridges, of which Ald. Rowan is chairman.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday, including those for 1932, were $728,227, making a total of $119,179,619 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

| | 1928. | 1929. |
|---|---|---|
| March 21..... | $ 5,176 | $ 27,495 |
| Uncollected .... | 14,878,036 | 39,979,961 |
| | 1930. | 1931. |
| March 21..... | $ 31,339 | $ 199,613 |
| Uncollected .... | 63,450,051 | 59,918,273 |

The day's collections of 1932 real estate taxes totaled $631,105; of 1931 personal property taxes, $5,193, and of 1932 personal property taxes, $111,331.

Cafe Worker Seized in Restaurant Gun Death

Russell, a dishwasher, was taken into custody when it was learned he had a police record. Mulvihill was found on the floor with a bullet wound in his head. His revolver, from which two bullets had been fired, was found by his side.

HUGHES FAVORS LOWER ILLINOIS FEES ON AUTOS

Says Owners' Burdens Are Too Heavy.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—[Special.]—Motorists of Illinois were told by Secretary of State Hughes today that he will urge the legislature to make a drastic reduction in automobile license fees.

"There is no valid ground," he said, "for assuming that because a person owns a motor car he can afford to pay an exorbitant license fee. I am making a thorough survey so that I may advise the next general assembly accurately. I want to see a marked reduction."

Fifteen States Cut Auto Taxes.

While he mentioned no figure, Mr. Hughes made much of the fact that fifteen states already have cut their fees, some to as low as $3 per car. Records in four of these states showed him that the use of automobiles increased immediately. The minimum fee in Illinois for a state license plate is $8, plus fifty cents for a certificate of title.

"The one million and a half auto owners in Illinois pay thirteen different taxes," Mr. Hughes said. "One result of the excessive taxation has been a marked decrease in the number of registrations in the state. Last year the total fees collected for licenses were $16,229,327, which represents a decrease from the maximum of $18,444,247 collected in the peak year of 1930.

Autos Now Necessities.

"Automobiles have passed from the classification of luxuries and today are necessities. Without them many of our citizens would be deprived of the means of earning a livelihood."

States which have already cut their license fees are Arkansas, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, and Michigan. Mr. Hughes believes that they followed the data in a report made by the auto industry which showed that in 1933 "motor vehicle taxes set an all time record by averaging $56 a car."

"Illinois," he added, "is a bit slow in realizing that something should be done for the autoist who is loaded with excessive burdens. Our auto owners contributed $50,000,000 last year, more than one-third of the revenue received by the state."

Still Another Tax.

The three cent gasoline tax collections in Illinois reached $27,997,156 last year. The federal tax was an additional cent per gallon.

This year Secretary Hughes estimates that registration fees will bring $16,000,000; the gas tax, $28,000,000; federal aid, $4,500,000, fines, etc., $25,000, a grand total of $48,850,000. Expenditures were estimated as follows: Retirement of highway bonds, $8,210,000; maintenance, $5,200,000; highway policing, $1,000,000; administration and engineering, $2,800,000.

Mr. Hughes also plans to request insurance companies to reduce auto theft rates "commensurable with reductions made in other states."

Concluding his announcement, Mr. Hughes said that "while seeking reduction in auto license fees for Illinoisans, I do not suggest that motor trucks and buses be relieved of the fair tax their use of the hard roads justifies. That is another matter. My concern now is for the owner of the passenger automobile, who is overburdened with taxation."

BOND FLOTATION FOR LOS ANGELES SCHOOLS BEATEN

Los Angeles, Cal., March 21.—[Special.]—Defeat of the $20,411,497 school bond issue at the polls yesterday caused an emergency meeting of this city's school board to debate the next step in an effort to provide 272,000 school children with quake proof accommodations.

The bond issue, which carried a majority of the ballots, but failed of the necessary two-thirds, had been intended to provide funds for the rebuilding and repair of school buildings damaged in the earthquakes of March and October, 1933, or deemed hazardous after inspection by committees of engineers.

Twenty-five thousand of the school children at present are attending classes half days in tents, with their former masonry school buildings placarded as closed. Ninety-two schools must be razed and rebuilt in entirety, and more than 1,000 school houses repaired, it was stated.

U. of C. Student Is Freed on Bond in Peeping Case

Reeve Luxmore, 20 years old, 518 Addison street, a junior at the University of Chicago, was released in $50 bond yesterday after he had been charged with disorderly conduct by the Town Hall police. Luxmore, who is the son of Dr. William Luxmore, a dentist with offices at 30 North Michigan avenue, was slightly wounded by a police bullet and captured when he attempted to escape police on the roof of an apartment building at 524 Stratford place. The police said Luxmore admitted that he had been peeping into apartment windows.

150,000 Are Homeless; 37,000 Houses Burn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 22.—[Thursday.]—One thousand persons are dead, three thousand are injured, and 80 per cent of the city of Hakodate, most important port in northern Japan, is a smoldering shambles as the result of devastating fire. It followed in the wake of a driving equinoctial wind and rain storm which tore through northern and western Japan yesterday.

A total of 150,000 of the city's 210,000 inhabitants are homeless. Thirty-seven thousand of the 48,000 houses were burned to the ground.

The blaze started at 6 p. m. yesterday (3 a. m. Wednesday Chicago time) when the wind toppled chimneys. The 70 mile blasts fanned the flames quickly into the worst conflagration in the history of this city of big fires.

Burns for 13 Hours.

Still raging at 3 a. m. today, the fire was reported extinguished four hours later. Driven by the winds, it was completely out of control from the first and firemen could merely wait until the wind died down. The mayor of Hakodate appealed to the government at Tokio for aid and army, navy, and other relief agencies responded.

One dispatch said the city was a "living hell" and that "through the darkness refugees were fleeing from death and were abandoning even the small bundles of possessions they carried from their homes." Many refugees sought safety on ships in the harbor. Radios of these vessels were the only contacts with the outside world.

Hakodate's main business section, in the center of which the conflagration started, was almost entirely destroyed. Only a timely change of wind from the southwest saved the postoffice building.

Stops Electric Service.

A tiny section in the southeast part of the city was reported undamaged. Electric plants were destroyed soon after the fire broke out and the city's only light was the lurid glare of the fire.

Today's windstorm, varying in force from 30 miles in Tokio to 70 miles in Hakodate, did much damage on land and sea. Ships collided, dragged their anchors, and otherwise experienced difficulties. The death toll from drowning may reach one hundred.

Only two Americans, both women missionaries, were reported to be residents of Hakodate. They were Mary Collins of Philadelphia and Alice Cheney, Missouri, both teachers in the Iai girls' school.

HOUSE WILL ATTEMPT TO BREAK DEADLOCK TODAY ON VETS' BILL

Washington, D. C., March 21.—(AP)—A new attempt to break the congressional deadlock on veterans' benefits and federal pay restoration will be made in the house tomorrow with the outcome in doubt.

The issue was tossed back today when senate conferees refused to accept the less liberal provisions already twice approved by the house.

It will be a third test of whether the house means to stick by the $83,000,000 increase in veterans' benefits adopted over the senate's $118,000,000 projected outlay and the restoration of $126,000,000 in pay, compared with the senate's proposal for a return of $189,000,000 in the coming fiscal year.

Notice of the vote tomorrow was given by Representative Woodrum [Dem., Va.], in charge of the independent offices supply bill after the senate conferees had rejected the house amendments.

BIG GOLD FIELD BELIEVED FOUND SOUTH OF YUKON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 21.—The famous tropical valley in the northern section of British Columbia, near the Yukon border, which was subject of an air survey by five American planes last summer, is regarded as immensely rich gold bearing territory. This is believed especially true of the Nahannie river, in Northwest Territories, between Fort Simpson and Fort Liard. Mining men who have gone there by air are close mouthed about the prospects, but Indians have "spilled the beans."

5,134 STUDENTS IN ILLINOIS GET U.S. CASH TODAY

Needy students in 58 Illinois colleges and universities will receive their monthly checks today from federal emergency relief grants for schools and scholars. Checks totaling $60,000 were sent out yesterday by Illinois Emergency Relief commission officials for distribution among 5,134 students in the state who qualified for the aid.

Average payments to each student will amount to $15 a month. Only 10 per cent of the total full time student body of any institution is eligible.

| School— | Students. | Aid. |
|---|---|---|
| University of Illinois | 900 | $14,850 |
| University of Chicago | 420 | 6,300 |
| Northwestern university | 489 | 7,335 |
| Art Institute | 38 | 570 |
| Illinois Wesleyan | 94 | 960 |

| Loyola university | 180 | 1,515 |
| Armour Inst. of Technology | 83 | 1,245 |
| De Paul university | 143 | 2,145 |

For the protection of the relief agency each of the institutions which has qualified students for aid must post a bond guaranteeing the proper use of the money.

SENATE ARGUES BUT PASSES NO SCHOOL RELIEF

4 Roll Calls Suspended in Hectic Day.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—[Special.]—After a day filled with bitter debate over pending school legislation the Illinois senate tonight adjourned without reaching an agreement. Roll calls were started and suspended on four school bills when votes were lacking for passage.

Both Democrats and Republicans tonight were scratching around for extra votes in order to pass one of the bills in the senate and go home for the April 10 primary campaigns.

The Horner administration, which would divert a third of the gasoline tax [about $10,000,000] to the state school fund, was one of the measures that failed to carry. Just before the senate closed up shop for the night Senator Richey V. Graham [Dem., Chicago], president pro tem., moved that the bill be on special order of business for tomorrow morning.

Passed Without Opposition.

The motion passed without opposition. The suspended roll call on the bill stood at 27 affirmative votes and 13 negative. The measure requires 34 votes for passage with the emergency clause attached.

Other developments in the school legislative situation were as follows:

1. The bill sponsored by seven Republican senators to place all above $2,500,000 of the monthly sales tax receipts in the state school fund failed to pass and consideration on it was postponed.

2. Another Republican supported bill, the Schnackenberg-Swanson measure to pour state liquor taxes into the school fund, was not voted upon, and opinion was growing stronger that this might have the best chance. The bill has already passed the lower house.

Suspend Baker Bill Roll Call.

3. A roll call was also suspended on the Baker bill imposing a tax on all pipe line companies transporting natural gas into the state at a rate of 15 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas sold. The revenue therefrom would be placed in the state school fund.

4. Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet], minority leader of the senate, proposed and received some support from both parties that the three bills, excluding the Baker measure, be passed by both houses and that the decision as to which is the best legislation be made by Gov. Horner with executive veto.

After waiting all day for the senate to pass a school bill, the lower house adjourned at 8 o'clock tonight until tomorrow morning. Two roll calls on a companion bill to the Schnackenberg-Swanson liquor tax for schools measure failed to obtain enough votes for passage. The companion bill earmarks $6,500,000 in estimated state liquor tax receipts to the schools.

Senate Galleries Packed.

The senators put on their show before galleries packed with several hundred teachers. One of their number, Senator Noah M. Mason [Rep., Oglesby], who is president of the Illinois State Teachers' association, came in for the roundest roasting of the day. Mason opposed and voted against the gas tax for school measure.

Mason asserted that the bill was unsound and would greatly increase unemployment. He declared that two large concerns would immediately go into court and enjoin the state from using the gas tax funds in this manner.

"What are those concerns?" shouted members on the Democratic side. "The opposition comes from the cement trust."

"The state administration is more interested in game wardens and rabbits than in the teachers," retorted Senator Roy C. Woods [Rep., Chicago].

"Talk about game wardens," said Senator R. M. Shaw [Dem., Lawrenceville]. "Why, you've had hundreds of game wardens walking the streets of Chicago."

Speaks as a Senator.

"Now I'm speaking as a senator and not as president of the teachers' association," said Mason. "This gas tax proposal is a delusion and a snare. It is true that there are three large cement mills in my district, but I'm not politically foolish enough to oppose the bill on that ground.

"The bill is fundamentally unsound. The Bible says that 'the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away—blessed be the name of the Lord.' The legislature giveth and the legislature taketh away, but there isn't a municipal official in the state who will bless the legislature if the gas tax is taken away."

Mason then contended that the sales tax for schools bill should be passed.

Tells of British Labor Problems

SCHOOL BOARD IS PRESSED TO BOOST EXPENSES

Trustees Aroused by Youth's Radical Talk.

Demands for many increases in the 1934 school budget, despite the school board's financial straits, were made at a public hearing before the board's budget committee yesterday.

Committees seeking restoration of Crane Junior college and groups desiring reinstatement of high school deans and elementary school principals were foremost among the advocates of the increase. Crane college, 48 deans, and 196 principals were eliminated from the school system last summer under the board's economy program.

Fights for Crane Reopening.

Dr. Louis Mann of Chicago Sinai congregation, as chairman of a committee for restoration of Crane college, urged the reopening of that institution or the establishment of a Chicago city college. He said that expensive school equipment is now idle at Crane, that city colleges can be operated at one-half the per pupil cost of state institutions, and that reopening would cost only one-tenth of a cent for each tax dollar.

A. F. McLeod, teacher at Sullivan High school, presented a plan for reopening Crane on a fee basis that would, he said, make the school 50 per cent self-sustaining.

The committee session was enlivened when Rudolph Lapp of the National Student league, who said he is a former Crane student, demanded three city colleges for Chicago, and said that students and teachers would unite in violent action if budget revisions were not made.

Trustees Assail Talk.

Trustees Joseph P. Savage and Irwin N. Walker said that if Lapp represented the work of Crane they would never consent to reopening the school. The trustees criticized communistic work among teachers and condemned radicalism and lack of patriotism of the student league. After the series of heated speeches the police industrial squad appeared and ordered Lapp and three companions to depart.

Representatives of Parent-Teacher associations, the League of Women Voters and other organizations asked for reinstatement of deans and principals, asserting their work is needed for the upbuilding of the morals and social welfare of pupils.

Members of the budget committee will work separately on various funds the rest of this week, James B. McCahey, president of the board, said last night. He hopes for final action on the appropriations next Wednesday. The legal deadline for the completed budget is March 31.

Will Speak Today

Miss Jennie Lee, 29 years old, a former member of the British parliament and the youngest member of that body when she was elected in 1929, spoke last night in the home of Herbert Friedman, 3800 Lake Shore drive, at a meeting held under the auspices of the League for Industrial Democracy. Her subject was "Britain's Next Labor Government." She will speak today at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club on "Fascist Terror in Germany." She is from North Lanark, Scotland, and is the daughter of a Welsh miner.

CHICAGO WOMAN, LEFT A FORTUNE, JAILED FOR CHECK

Madame Frances Taucher, 35 years old, former Chicago beauty shop owner who was reported to have inherited a fortune from an uncle in Italy three years ago and has since been promoting stage and movie enterprises in Hollywood, was held in a cell at the detective bureau last night following her arrest at the request of authorities of Los Angeles.

According to a telegram from Los Angeles police she is wanted there on a charge of grand larceny for cashing a check for $650 at the Bank of America in Los Angeles. She asserted that the trouble was merely a misunderstanding that had arisen because of the check having been drawn on a bank in Italy.

Efforts were made during the afternoon and evening by an attorney and a professional bondsman to get her out on bond. They made frequent trips to the detective bureau in quest of the jewelry she was wearing, and which she said was worth $1,000, to post as bond collateral, but the police refused to let her turn it over. Her attorney said he knew she had inherited $4,000,000 from an uncle in Italy, but he needed the jewelry to prove her financial worth to the bondsman.

ALDERMEN ACT: TEACHERS TO GET $4,000,000 PAY

Arrange School Warant Sale to Banks.

Chicago's 17,000 teachers and other employes of the board of education were assured a month's pay yesterday when the city council approved a supplemental levy for the 1933 educational fund. Checks for the month's pay roll, which will be for May, 1933, and will total $4,040,000, probably will be mailed today, according to school authorities.

The supplemental levy approved by the aldermen was for $5,887,523, an amount sufficient to "peg" the board's educational fund tax levy for last year at $44,000,000 in accordance with a bill recently passed by the general assembly.

Sell Educational Warants.

The council also authorized the sale of $3,000,000 of 1933 educational fund warants now held by the city and the purchase from the board of higher numbered warants to be issued against the same levy.

Bankers agreed last week after negotiations with Mayor Kelly and President McCahey of the board to purchase the $3,000,000 worth of warants. The remaining funds for the pay roll will be made up from cash on hand that was received from various sources.

"The board would have a levy of only $38,112,476 without the passage of this supplemental levy," said Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee. "It needs this additional levy of $5,887,523 to operate and to make possible a month's pay for the teachers. The increase will not raise taxes as the board has reduced its building levies."

Banks Make Purchase.

Over a year ago the council passed a resolution declaring it to be against the policy of the city to sell any of the school warants held in its funds and reinvest the money in other warants of the board. This resolution was rescinded yesterday to permit the sale of the $3,000,000 worth of 1933 warants to the banks.

Action for the teachers' pay, which reduces the board's back salary obligations to $24,460,000, was started immediately after the passage of the "pegged levy" bill by the legislature. The mayor and Mr. McCahey presented the financial plight of the schools in a conference with representatives of five banks, which led to the purchase of the warants.

COUNTY SCHOOLS CAN GET U. S. AID FOR TEACHERS

County and township schools and those in municipalities of less than 5,000 persons may receive aid in paying their teachers from the federal emergency relief school funds made available through the state relief administrator, it was learned yesterday. Blanks for applications for such funds were mailed out to all eligible schools in Cook county yesterday by Otto F. Aken, county superintendent of schools.

The funds are allotted for payment of teachers' salaries for the remainder of a school year ending on July 1. All schools, to qualify for aid, must have made the "maximum financial effort to keep schools open," and must fill out applications which give the complete financial picture of the school finances for each applicant.

Superintendent Aken asserted that most of Cook county's country schools and those of small towns were in dire need of the federal aid because of the delay in tax collections. Most of the schools, he said, have already exhausted their credit in attempting to keep schools open.

ACTRESS ASTOR SAYS SHE GAVE PARENTS PLENTY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 21.—(AP)—In tears at her modest Toluca lake home today, Mary Astor, movie actress, said she would support her parents "in comfort but not extravagance" and would file an answer tomorrow to their suit to compel her to support them.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Langhanke, obtained a court order late yesterday requiring Miss Astor to appear in court April 5, saying they were without money, almost without food and in danger of losing their $200,000 mansion.

"I've done everything in the world for them," the actress said today. "They insist on living in the mansion and I can't support them in extravagance.

"Why, in 1930 I gave them $1,000 a month and my father borrowed $18,000 on the house, that made $30,000. He took it and built an immense swimming pool in the yard of the mansion, and they never use it. They want me to give them $25,000 to pay off the mortgage and I can't do it, that's all. From 1920 to 1930, I gave my father $461,000 and of that amount I got not more than $200 a month."

QUIZ ABEL DAVIS ON RECEIVERSHIP OF GARARD TRUST

Congressmen Told of Two Sets of Attorneys.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, was questioned at length yesterday in the United States courthouse by the congressional committee investigating receiverships.

He was quizzed regarding the receivership of the Garard Investment Trust, before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, and about its affairs with the Garard Trust and Savings banks, for which the Title and Trust company was also appointed receiver by the state auditor. At one time the title and trust company appeared as both defendant and plaintiff in a suit between the two concerns for which it was dual receiver, but this did not seem to interest the congressmen as much as the manner in which the investment trust was placed in receivership and the reasons for constant employment of two sets of attorneys for the receiver.

Creditor Is Created.

The previous testimony of Fred H. Bashen, secretary-treasurer of the investment trust, disclosed that the receivership was prearranged in the office of the Chicago Title and Trust company. There being no creditor who could qualify as such to file the receivership bill, Bashen said, a qualified creditor was created. This was done on Feb. 28, 1930, Bashen testified, by giving a judgment note to the agent of a Dallas, Tex., law firm which had done work for the trust. The following morning the law firm was named creditor in the petition on which the trust was placed in receivership.

Both witnesses testified that just before the receivership another matter prearranged in the office of the Title and Trust company was that of funds which the trust was holding from the sale of construction bonds. Mr. Bashen explained that the investment trust was the agent which was to turn the money over to contractors doing the work, and in case of receivership these funds would be mingled with the general assets of the trust.

$2,900,000 Put in Escrow.

Therefore, on the morning that the receivership was ordered, before he went to court, Bashen said he placed $2,900,000 in securities held by the trust in escrow with the Garard Trust and Savings bank, for the benefit of the construction bond funds. This was done, he said, on the advice of Mr. Davis, who later corroborated the testimony.

"As a matter of proper business conduct," said Mr. Davis, "the funds should have been segregated. We refused to administer the company's affairs until they had been segregated."

"Did Judge Wilkerson know the whole story when he appointed you receiver?" asked Attorney George Lavin, counsel for the committee.

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Davis. "We laid all the facts before him."

John P. Barnes Retained.

John P. Barnes, now a federal judge, was counsel for the investment trust and was retained as counsel for the receiver.

It was brought out that Judge Wilkerson suggested that a co-counsel should be named, and this job went to Attorney Joseph B. Fleming. He withdrew within a few weeks when he discovered that another attorney in his office was representing bondholders of the Garard Trust, and asked no fee as receiver's attorney. The firm of Cassels, Potter & Benley replaced him.

It was also brought out that on the day of the receivership Chester Davis, vice president of the Title and Trust company, sent a letter to the Garard Trust and Savings banks giving them notice not to disturb the assets which the Garard Trust had placed in escrow, as the receiver intended to contest that action.

"Were you surprised when you found they had followed your suggestion as to segregating the assets?" asked Attorney Lavin.

"It was not exactly our suggestion," replied Mr. Davis. "We left the execution to their ingenuity."

"But they tried to extricate themselves along the line you had suggested," interposed Congressman Randolph Perkins [Rep., N. J.], "and the next day as receiver you told them not to do it."

One reason of Judge Wilkerson in urging appointment of a co-counsel, Mr. Davis said, was the fact that Attorney Barnes had served as attorney for the trust before receivership. The following conversation followed:

MR. LAVIN—If there was doubt as to Mr. Barnes' ability to serve, why appoint him at all?

MR. DAVIS—The affairs of the trust were very intricate, and he was familiar with them. He was a great help to us from the beginning of the receivership.

Doubt About Acceptance.

MR. PERKINS—He had helped you already, hadn't he, by having you appointed receiver?

MR. DAVIS—Let me say that, because of the intricate nature of the affair, we were in great doubt about accepting the appointment.

MR. PERKINS—Was there a question as to Mr. Barnes serving as attorney, when just before his appointment he had advised the segregation of those assets which you as receiver sought to set aside?

MR. DAVIS—That was a matter which we wanted the court to pass on.

MR. PERKINS—What I can't understand is the necessity of having as your attorney the man who had advised that action.

Fees Total $237,147.

Leonard C. Reinecke, investigator for the committee, had testified that fees in the Garard Trust case totaled $237,147, of which Judge Barnes got $35,000, paid six days before he ascended the bench. His former law firm, King, Barnes and Goldberg got $25,000, and thereafter, Cassells Potter and Bentley, $60,000, and the Chicago Title and Trust company, $75,950. Mr. Davis testified that creditors have received a dividend of 18 per cent, amounting to about $175,000.

Another case considered was the complicated receivership and bankruptcy action against the American Bond and Mortgage company. The committee received a report on the fees requested in the case, aggregating $681,339, which have been the subject of a number of hearings in recent weeks before Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles. Creditors of the company charge the fee claims are excessive.

Questioning of Attorney Roger Q. White also disclosed that an involuntary bankruptcy petition against the company on May 21, 1931, had been filed at the request of attorneys in the equity receivership case against the company, and that one of those attorneys, William H. King of Cassels, Potter and Bentley, had supplied Attorney White with the names of two creditors.

Third Creditor Found.

A third creditor was necessary, and King gave White two debentures of the company. White testified that he gave the debentures to his brother-in-law, Walker Everett, and to R. W. Kenyon, and then listed them as creditors in the bankruptcy petition.

A bankruptcy petition, if the court appoints a trustee to take charge of the property of the defendant, supersedes an equity receivership. When White filed his petition, another one was already pending in Portland, Me. Both petitions were continued without action for six months while the Chicago Title and Trust company and Arthur Draper administered affairs of the company as equity receivers.

Then a voluntary bankruptcy petition was filed on behalf of the company, the involuntary actions were merged with it, and the equity receivership terminated. Attorney Lavin demanded of Kink if his purpose in having White file the Chicago bankruptcy petition had not been to keep the case in Chicago, that the various attorneys involved might profit by fees. King denied this strenuously, asserting that his only interest was for the creditors of the company.

Council for Bondholders.

His law firm eventually became counsel for a bondholders' protective committee in the case, with the Title and Trust company as depositary. King admitted that of the five members of his committee, only one owned any of the insolvent company's bonds.

Testimony at the morning session yesterday concerned the receivership of the Daniel Boone Woolen Mills, extending from 1925 to 1928 in Judge Wilkerson's court. In this case the late Edward J. Brundage was appointed receiver. Attorney Lavin produced testimony that during the three year period, while Receiver Brundage was earning $38,000 in the Daniel Boone case, he was receiving $244,000 in the St. Paul railroad case, in which Judge Wilkerson also appointed him receiver, and $1,000 a month as attorney for the sanitary district.

Total expenses in the Daniel Boone case were $100,002. Ralph F. Potter of Cassels, Potter and Bentley, who received $38,000 as attorney for the receiver, testified that Receiver Brundage paid a $100,000 dividend to creditors and turned $130,000 in cash and a factory building over to a state court receiver.

The United States Supreme court ordered the Daniel Boone receivership restored to the state court on grounds that a fraud had been committed on the local federal court. An "unfriendly" receivership petition was pending in the Superior court. The company obtained a continuance, without appointment of a receiver, on the promise that matters would be kept in status quo, and then in a prearranged proceeding procured the appointment of the federal court receiver.

Congressman Tom D. McKeown [Dem., Okla.], chairman of the committee, announced that today the committee will go into receiverships of insurance companies, beginning with that of the Illinois Life.

A. P. MOORE ESTATE SHRINKS TO $85,000; ONCE WORTH MILLION

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 21.—[Special.]—Less than $85,000 of the Alexander P. Moore estate remains for distribution to relatives of the former Pittsburgh publisher and one time ambassador to Spain.

This was revealed today when the estate, once estimated at more than $1,000,000, came up for final audit in Orphans' court with all specific bequests paid.

But for a compromise reached by executors with the former Queen of Spain under which she was paid $40,000 instead of the $100,000 left to her by Mr. Moore the residue of the estate to be placed in trust would have been less than $14,000.

With $85,000 on hand there still is a state tax claim of $11,600 to be paid.

Other large payments have been made to Mrs. Dorothy Caruso Holder, widow of the Italian tenor, who refused to settle for less than the $25,000 Mr. Moore left her.

DAICHES' WIDOW DENIES HE LED PLAYBOY'S LIFE

Back from Palestine; She Talks of Slain Mate.

New York, March 21.—[Special.]—Apparently any hope the Chicago authorities may have had of clearing up the gangster murder of Eli Daiches, head of the Thomas M. Bowers Advertising agency, through anything his widow could tell them failed today. She returned from what was to have been a long visit to Palestine.

Mrs. Daiches said she knew of no enemies of her husband and of no business troubles that might have led to his death, and she did not think there was a woman in the case.

"I don't know what to think," she declared when asked if she didn't think it possible gunmen mistook her husband for someone else when they killed him with machine gun fire on March 3 as he sat in his automobile a few blocks from the Sherry hotel.

Met by Chicagoans.

Mrs. Daiches went abroad about the middle of February primarily to make a study of an art and crafts culture project under the auspices of an organization called Bezalel with a view to founding a branch society in the United States. She was met at the pier today by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan and Lieut. Otto Erlanson of the Chicago police homicide squad.

Attorney Regan and Erlanson will leave for Chicago tomorrow. Mrs. Daiches, who spent the night with her brother and sister-in-law in their Long Island City home, arranged to take a Pennsylvania train at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for Chicago.

Never Met Mrs. O'Shea.

Mrs. Daiches said she had heard of but never met Mrs. Lillian O'Shea, who had told the Chicago police that Daiches had spent money for her flat. Mrs. Daiches told that when she went away she left Miss Lucille Osburn, a nurse, in charge of Mr. Daiches, whose health had not been good since he was attacked in his office in January, 1933.

Mr. Daiches told was to meet her in London this spring, she added, and he always had phoned and told her where he was when he was detained downtown.

Mrs. Daiches could not see anything "unusual" whatever in the fact that her husband had had his life insured for more than $300,000 in favor of the advertising agency, of which he was head, but which he had ceased to own.

Louis A. Weitzman, who had obtained control of the concern from Daiches, is a distant cousin of Mrs. Daiches. She said he acquired the shares as security for loans.

What happens inside when you use a Laxative?

Doctors Warn Against Irritating Drugs

One way to start action is by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract with harsh medicine-laxatives (often disguised as candy).

That works for a time. Then the muscles become sluggish—you have to increase the dose. Soon the laxative-constipation habit has you in its grip!

Nature's Way—a Flush
(The Water Way)

Nature's way is far more simple. It is merely to flush out the wastes and poisons—without impairing the intestinal muscles in the least.

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour—cannot give you the laxative habit!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. That's because the proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—promptly opens the pylorus valve... permits the flush to enter the intestines and complete its work without anxious hours of waiting.

Shake off Asthenia!

If you feel achy, listless, only half-alive, that's nature's warning of Asthenia—a condition usually caused by the poisons of constipation. Pluto's famous ten-day treatment ends it promptly—makes you feel like a different person.

JUDGE PONDERS NOT GUILTY PLEA IN RACKET TRIAL

Prosecutor Argues for Verdict by Jury.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court last evening took under advisement defense motions to direct verdicts of not guilty in behalf of the eighteen defendants in the racket conspiracy trial. The defense motions are divided into two parts, one asking for directed verdicts of not guilty on certain counts and the other for directed verdicts of not guilty on all counts for certain defendants. A decision is expected today.

The judge indicated a possible attitude on the defense pleas at the end of the arguments when he addressed several questions to Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber.

"Isn't it possible for some of these defendants to be not guilty on some of these counts, Mr. Raber?" the judge asked.

Plans to Question Raber.

The prosecutor answered that if the defendants were guilty at all they were guilty on all counts.

"Mr. Raber, there are a few questions I would like to ask you in the morning as the representative of the state," the judge said as court adjourned.

Defense and prosecution lawyers have argued for two full days on the motions, while the jurors, who have been locked up since Jan. 4, remained inactive in the jury quarters. Defense Attorney Benedict Short indicated yesterday that arguments on other defense motions probably would keep the court occupied the remainder of the week in the event the motions now under advisement are decided against the defense.

Nelson Asks Acquittal.

Ald. Oscar Nelson is the chief defendant asking for an acquittal on all counts. Others are Attorney Aaron Sapiro, nationally known trade organizer, and Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, University of Chicago economist.

Mr. Raber argued yesterday against the granting of the defense motions' directing his remarks principally at Ald. Nelson, who, court attachés agree, appears to be the least involved in the prosecution evidence.

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, representing Nelson, had told the court that because the alderman, acting as attorney for the Laundry and Dye House Workers' union, drew up a contract for his client he cannot by the "wildest stretch of imagination" be found guilty of conspiracy.

Wants Time to Decide.

Prosecutor Raber in reply said that from the evidence of the prosecution certain deductions could be inferred against Nelson and that the jury should be allowed to decide the question of his guilt or innocence.

"The inference can be drawn from this contract that Nelson intended to drive every member of the trade into an association and create a monopoly," argued the prosecutor. "It is illegal restraint of trade."

Other evidence which implicates Nelson, the prosecutor said, was that describing his visit to the office of the late Edward J. Brundage, one time attorney general of Illinois, at the same time that Al Capone and others appeared.

Question for the Jury.

"Capone, the evidence shows, was in this entire setup," Raber argued. "The evidence that Nelson was at Brundage's offices at the same time as Capone shows his associations. I maintain it is a question for the jury to decide."

Mr. Raber argued that it makes no difference in a conspiracy case whether the defendants knew each other or were aware of the various acts of the different defendants. A person who plays any part in a conspiracy, no matter how slight, he said, is guilty of the entire conspiracy. He argued this point in reply to the defense contention that four different industries could not be connected in one conspiracy.

The courtroom was crowded yesterday, but before the arguments were finished many of the spectators went to sleep. Bailiffs awakened them.

ACTRESS DIVORCES BOOK SALESMAN WHO WOULDN'T SELL BOOKS

Miss Jordan told the court she tired of the "laziness" of her husband, Joseph Davis, more than four years ago and had left him to come to Hollywood.

The film capital had thought she was single and got a real surprise a few weeks ago when she filed the divorce suit.

The actress made her start for the stage when she won a beauty contest and was crowned queen of the Wembley exposition, an all British empire trade fair.

STATE DECLARES WAR ON ARMIES OF FIERCE CROWS

Farmers Complain Birds Carry Off Chicks.

Crows are so plentiful and have become so ferocious in northern Illinois this spring that the state department of conservation has declared war on them and is promoting hunts with the hope of exterminating them, or at least of preventing a great increase in their number.

Tall tales are told of the growing rapacity of the black birds. Joseph Scott, a farmer near Frankford, in Will county, on whose place one of the hunts was held last evening, asserted they had driven all other birds from the vicinity and, with insects scarce and the crops not yet set out, were raiding his chicken yard daily.

Seize Little Chicks.

"Just like hawks," he said, "they fly over and seize the little chicks and carry them away. They battle the bigger chickens. Prospects for crops around here would look slim if we didn't do something to get rid of them."

The hunt was under the direction of State Game Warden Peter Thanasulas. The shooting was done by William Kelly, George Turner, Louis Jadlecka, Harold Bush, and Howard Bush, farmers who volunteered for the work. Just at dusk they found several thousand crows roosting in a rookery on the Scott farm and blasted away at them, killing about 800.

Exterminating work against the birds can best be done at this season, Thanasulas pointed out, as the crows are now mating. Shooting, he said, should be good through April and May. It can only be done efficiently while visibility is low, as the crow in daytime has extremely strong vision and can recognize a hunter. Also, their habit of gathering closely by the thousands at night makes marksmanship then unimportant.

Famed for Appetites.

Other experts on crows declared the birds' appetites and their ingenuity are alike remarkable. One good sized crow, and they average around 18 inches long with a wing spread of two to three feet, will eat 18 bushels of insects and worms in a season. But these are just crow appetisers, and the benefit I ninsect destruction is mo than offset by the marauding in young corn, orchards, and hen roosts, and their driving away of harmless birds.

Many farmers have found in previous years that they had to reseed corn fields from which the big black birds had dug up the seed or pulled out the tender shoots by the roots. Crow intelligence is rated highly and the old scarecrow is not much of a scare any more.

One farmer at Mentone, Ill., in a previous season, reported that he had domesticated one of them while small and taught it to talk. Becoming adult, the crow went back to the wild and became leader of a flock, where it found use for this accomplishme . Whenever danger appeared this crow would notify the flock by calling loudly: "Let's Go!"

It is asserted that flocks containing as many as 1,000,000 crows have been sighted in good seasons. Charles F. Thompson, acting state director of conservation, has announced that so far this year more than 100,000 have been killed by hunters.

CHURCH WRECKED BY BOMB; PRIEST AND 3 OTHERS DIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAMAGUEY CITY, Cuba, March 21.—More than a dozen persons were killed today as disorders continued in Cuba. Clashes between strikers and troops brought an order tonight by President Carlos Mendieta enforcing martial law throughout Camaguey province.

The Rev. Fr. Casimiro Fernandez and three unidentified persons were killed when a bomb wrecked La Merced Catholic church here this evening.

Six laborers were reported killed in gun fights at Moron. Two soldiers and several strikers were killed at Puerto Tarafa, where a mob set fire to the railroad station and warehouses.

The $500,000 Santa Clara city home of Juan Antonio Vasquez Bello, governor of Santa Clara province under President Gerardo Machado, was wrecked tonight by a bomb. The family escaped uninjured.

FLAMES WRECK A $40,000 HOME IN LAKE FOREST

Fire last night wrecked a $40,000 residence at 410 North Washington road, Lake Forest, and endangered the homes of a number of millionaire residents of the neighborhood. The house was unoccupied at the time. It was vacated last Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell and their three children, who moved to a home on Laurel avenue so the Washington road residence could be redecorated for May 1 occupancy by Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Mead.

The fire broke out in the basement, apparently from an overheated oil burner. It swept up through the 14 room frame structure and was burning fiercely before it was discovered. The owner of the place, Van Wagenen Alling, lives only a short distance away at 450 North Washington road, but he was not at home.

GANG SLAYING BARES STRANGE TALE OF CRIME

Victim Is Identified as College Bred Outlaw.

them was Goetz. Another was Winkler. Goetz was not caught, however, and thereafter he vanished. Soon the man named Zeigler appeared in the underworld.

The Kansas City Massacre.

Then came the Kansas City Union station massacre.

On the morning of last June 17 seven policemen and government agents arrived in Kansas City with Frank Nash, notorious Oklahoma train robber and killer, who was being taken to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth.

As the group left the station they were met by a blast of machine-gun bullets. Nash and four of his guards were killed.

During the investigation of the killings, which has continued since that time, government men have been convinced that "Zeigler" was involved in the affair.

Yesterday government agents revealed that some time ago they had information that "Zeigler" was hiding in a Chicago hotel reputed to be operated by Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil, confidence man.

At the request of federal authorities police raided the hotel but failed to get "Zeigler." They did, however, seize Jimmy Head, one of Weil's lieutenants, and $25,000 worth of stamps.

Find Evidence on Body.

When Goetz' pockets were searched after his murder the police found considerable evidence that he had been engaged in various extralegal practices.

There were a number of blank proxies for United States Steel corporation shares, made out in the names of Floyd C. Zeigler and Mrs. Mary Zeigler. There were cards purporting to show that "Zeigler" was a landscape artist, and a member of a number of clubs in and around the city.

These cards were used, the police believe, as an aid in cashing forged express money orders and in playing the part of gang contact man. Concealed in the leather belt Goetz wore were six slender but strong steel saws, which indicated that he was prepared to escape from any jail in which he might be incarcerated.

His pockets also yielded a $1,000 bill. This was turned over to the federal government to determine if it could be identified as part of any kidnaping ransom or bank robbery loot.

Traced to Gasoline Station.

His cards, with the name of J George Zeigler, gave his address as 40 West Chicago avenue, Oak Park. Investigating, police found this to be a filling station.

Attendants there admitted having known the dead man as Zeigler. They said he had been receiving his mail there for the last two years. Further than that, they said, they knew nothing.

However, two attendants, Frank Blohowiak, 2004 Armitage avenue, and Stanley Samatalski, 19 Second avenue, Maywood, were taken to the Cicero police station for further questioning.

Anthony Pirelli, part owner of the gasoline station, was also to be questioned.

From Goetz' automobile license card the police discovered that he had purchased a car from Joseph Bergl, who is alleged to have sold cars to several gangsters and to have been a former partner of Winkler in the automobile business. Bergl admitted he had sold a car to Goetz and was released by the police.

Sister Views the Body.

Although the fingerprint identification of Goetz was regarded as positive, the police took Miss Sophia Goetz, a sister, to the county morgue to view the body. At first she made no definite statement except to say she felt the dead man was not her brother. She added, however, that she had not seen Goetz for nine years.

Finally late last night Miss Goetz said she was convinced the dead man was her brother. She lives with her mother, Mrs. Ottillie Goetz, at 1503 Ardmore avenue. Her father, Samuel T. Goetz, is living in Cincinnati, Miss Goetz said.

BANDIT KILLS CICERO GASOLINE STATION OWNER IN HOLDUP

Corrado Lavorini, 38 years old, was shot and killed by a robber early last evening in the Inter-City gasoline service station at 1800 South 52d avenue, Cicero, of which he was part owner.

With Lavorini when the bandit arrived were two friends, James Clamor, 1638 South 51st avenue, and Primo Giorgiotti, 1635 South 51st court, Cicero. The man first asked that a can which he held be filled with gasoline, but when Lavorini started to fill it he drew a pistol and demanded money.

The filling station owner handed him the contents of the cash register, but as the robber started to back away he reached for his own pistol, concealed near the register. The robber saw the movement and fired first. He fled as Lavorini fell.

UNION OF THREE BRITISH DEFENSE FORCES HINTED

MacDonald Sees Trend in That Direction.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 21.—An important declaration of British arms policy was made by Prime Minister MacDonald to the house of commons tonight in reply to an appeal by the deputy Labor leader, Maj. C. R. Attlee, for the formation of a single ministry of imperial defense, coördinating the activities of the army, navy, and air forces.

MacDonald opposed the appeal on the ground that the committee for imperial defense meets all the needs of the moment. Nevertheless he hinted guardedly that such unification is possible in the remote future. He pointed out that Great Britain's entire system of national defense is passing through a critical transition period and that the tendency is for closer, smoother coöperation for the three services to lead eventually to unity.

Emphasizes Navy Defense.

Emphasizing the importance of navy defense to the country, MacDonald assured the house that Great Britain would build up to treaty limits. Signatories to the London treaty have been informed that Britain intended to build every ton allowed, he said.

Regarding precautions for the safety of civilians during air raids, he said this matter has been under consideration since 1924.

"It is the duty of every government to use foresight and forethought to protect the people," MacDonald declared.

He preserved strict silence, however, as to the nature, extent, and effectiveness of precautions which he said "must be increased."

He reaffirmed the government's resolution to strive for treaty agreements, adding that "armaments alone cannot give security." The government's aim is peace based on international coöperation, MacDonald said. He observed that the league of nations is the only organization in existence to secure peace, and that therefore the government will do everything to restore and maintain the league's authority.

Churchill Urges Coördination.

The need for closer coördination of defense services chiefly on the ground of economy was strongly urged by Winston Churchill, Conservative, who declared his experience was that each service fought for money and the minister with the most influence got the most.

Churchill, though, argued against drastic and fundamental change. He approved continuation of the evolutionary process, but asked the government to affirm the principle of a single ministry and to make it an aim of its policy.

Stanley Baldwin, president of the council, winding up debate, declared that the only reason the air strength is kept low is financial stringency and hope of disarmament. He assured the house that coördination of services had improved greatly in the last ten years and said he believed no rivalry of a bad sort exists today.

Town to Tax Rockefeller So It Can Pay Him $25,000

New York, March 21.—(AP)—The village of North Tarrytown is going to tax Peter in order to pay Peter. Peter is John D. Rockefeller jr. Rockefeller recently won a $25,000 verdict against the village for taxing him on property outside of the town limits. Now the village, in order to pay Rockefeller this money, has been forced to raise the tax rate $1 a thousand. Thus Rockefeller, on a $4,000,000 assessment, will have to pay $4,000 of the $25,000 that's due him before he can collect a cent.

Wins $5,000 from Chum for Hurts in Air Crash

Philadelphia, Pa., March 21.—(AP)—Richard C. Murphy, 21, was awarded $5,000 today by a jury in his suit for damages against Joseph J. Neely jr., 20, a former school chum, who took him for an airplane ride on which he was injured. The case attracted a number of lawyers, who expressed the opinion the outcome might have a bearing on future court decisions concerning the question of negligence in airplane accidents.

CZECHS DESIRE AUSTRIA FREE BY LEAGUE ACTION

See Danger in Too Much Italian Influence.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, March 21.—Foreign Minister Eduard Benes, addressing the committee on foreign affairs of the Czech congress, warned today that chaos threatens unless European powers come to an agreement on Austria's fate.

He appealed to all European powers to unite and solemnly guarantee the independence and invjoinbility of Austria on the basis of the protocol signed at Geneva in 1922.

Dr. Benes suggested that European powers work out a compromise using the Austro-Italian-Hungarian protocol signed last Sunday but expanding this treaty to avoid danger of Italian or any other nation's supremacy in the Danube area.

Abandon Union Plan.

Dr. Benes revealed that during the war when he and President Masaryk were preparing for the independence of Czechoslovakia they favored union with Austria and Germany but then abandoned it and "are abiding by international agreements reached by their allies and friends."

Protocols arranged at Geneva guaranteeing Austrian independence must "remain the magna carta for central Europe," Dr. Benes declared. "Austria should under no circumstances be incorporated in a political constellation directed—for this would be futile—against Germany. Relations between Germany and Austria are bound to improve, sooner or later.

"Central European problems can be solved only if everybody makes up his mind that central European nations are grown up and do not need a big power as a mentor. Each group seeking control in Austria—Germans, Italians and powers advocating a federal union of central Europe—is strong enough to prevent the victory of the other fellow yet not strong enough to impose its will alone.

Has French Support.

"As soon as Austria's independence is assured, her economic difficulties will end. Czechoslovakia is ready to coöperate with all powers interested in the Austrian question. She wants help from England, Italy, France and Germany to find a joint solution."

Dr. Benes stressed that Czechoslovakia has the fullest support of France and the little entente [Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania]. Should "Austria and Germany ever unite, Czechoslovakia is not worried at being surrounded by a big Germanic sea. We have preserved our independence for eleven centuries. We have increased in strength and in energy and in a few years we will number 20,000,000. Therefore we feel strong and not worried, whatever may happen."

CITY PRISONERS TIDY POLITICAL CLUB, IS CHARGE

Supt. Denemark Orders Investigation.

At 9:10 o'clock yesterday morning a dark blue bus, bearing the legend in gold lettering "House of Correction," drew up in front of 1721 South Ashland avenue. The basement of the old fashioned two story brick residence at that address houses the Kielminski Boosters' club and Bowling Alley, sponsored by State Senator Peter P. Kielminski, who is also assistant superintendent of the Bridewell.

On complaint of neighbors that Kielminski daily assigned inmates of the Bridewell to tidy up the club rooms, a reporter and a photographer waited at the address for more than an hour before the bus arrived. The driver, an employé of the Bridewell, opened the door in the rear of the bus to let out one of the three prisoners who were clad in the khaki garb of the institution.

As the prisoner went into the club rooms, carrying a small package, which appeared to be his lunch, the photographer took a picture of the departing vehicle. The driver, warned by the remaining prisoners, stopped the bus around the corner, raced down the alley and brought back the prisoner who had been left in the club.

The driver then turned into alleys and doubled track on several streets in an apparent effort to shake off pursuit. He finally stopped west of Ashland avenue at 18th place.

The pursuing car, containing the reporter and photographer, also halted. The prisoners waved greeting and grinned in enjoyment of the chase. Suddenly the driver of the bus started again, turning into an alley and then in 18th street. The conveyance stopped at the Des Plaines street police station where the prisoners delivered a load of bread for those being held in the station.

Driver Is Questioned.

The reporter approached the driver to ask him of the complaint of neighbors of the club.

"I left the Bridewell with three prisoners and I have them now," the driver said. "Look at them. I don't know anything about the club. I was told to deliver a few towels laundered at the Bridewell to the club. We do that now and then. There is no one from the Bridewell cleaning the club."

Neighbors said Kielminski regularly sent prisoners to the bowling alley to clean up the rooms. Almost daily the Bridewell bus appeared between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning to deliver a prisoner and returned at 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon to pick him up again, they said.

Denemark Is Told of Reports.

The reporter relayed his information to Edward J. Denemark, superintendent of the Bridewell, who said, "I am happy to receive this information. If any one in the Bridewell is using prisoners for personal work, I want to know about it. I shall investigate immediately upon the return of Kielminski who is in Springfield. No complaints have been made to me."

In Springfield Senator Kielminski said, "This is a plot of my political enemies to spoil my chances of reelection. I have never used Bridewell prisoners to clean up the club and I don't have its towels laundered at the prison. Sometimes when the Bridewell truck goes downtown I occasionally ask the driver, a prisoner, to stop at a billiard supply house to purchase supplies for the bowling alley."

Later the driver of the truck, who is not a prisoner, reported to Supt. Denemark that he had delivered a few pins for the bowling alley at the club. He denied that he had previously said he delivered towels at the clubrooms.

French Suspect Spy Cells Exist in U. S. Universities

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 21.—The existence of numerous communist spy cells in American universities and intellectual centers is suspected by French police after a further study of confessions made by the two Americans, Robert Gordon Switz and his wife, and in the light of six additional arrests yesterday.

Professional spy chasers of France's deuxieme [second] bureau have hitherto always been skeptical about the activity of amateur spies on behalf of the soviets, but the apparently worldwide activities of the ring revealed by the Switz's confessions have made them change their minds.

"The most stupendous and dangerous espionage ring ever discovered in France," the examining magistrate, Andre Benon, called it today.

Impressed by High Character.

But what impressed police the most, one sleuth said, was the high character of many suspects.

"Compared with the usual run of double agents who do most of the real spying," this informant continued, "the present gang is of the veritable elité. Many of its members move about in intellectual circles or belong to intellectual classes themselves. They hang out in laboratories, classrooms and exclusive salons."

The police conclusion from this is that the communists have been successful in building up a powerful espionage machine from men and women recruited in advanced intellectual circles where communist ideas are fashionable.

They think that while the Switzes revealed nearly everything they know about the exclusively French angle of the gang's activities, they are keeping back a lot about the American end of the gang and they think it would be interesting to know more about the Switzes' intellectual and university connections.

Regard Americans as Victims.

The police theory is that the Switzes are not the type who turn spy just to pick up a little cash—this is the first time Americans ever have been mixed up in a spy case in France. According to this view the Switzes were drawn into the espionage web by stronger personalities who kept them from realizing at first what dangerous rôles they had undertaken.

For this reason there is a certain tendency here to regard the two Americans as victims rather than malefactors and it is quite likely they will receive leniency. Technically the Switzes cannot benefit from their state's evidence until the persons whom they have denounced as accomplices are actually convicted, but the evidence against the rest of the gang already is so strong there is a good possibility the two Americans may be released on bail after Easter.

May Seek U. S. Aid.

PARIS, March 21.—(AP)—Leaders of what secret police called the biggest spy ring in history were being sought today along a world wide trail as Judge Andre Benon, in charge of the investigation, considered asking American police authorities for help.

The magistrate sought specifically to uncover angles leading through New York where the young Americans, Robert Gordon Switz and his wife, were recruited as members of the alleged spy syndicate and where, authorities said, United States secrets were obtained.

More clews were furnished today by a raid on a chemical laboratory in the College De France where police uncovered "a generous harvest" of documents involving Prof. Aubry, who was arrested with six others yesterday.

Authorities paid particular attention to evidence turned up showing the gang's traffic in naval and military secrets of the United States, England and France and their sale to soviet Russia and Germany. Investigators said they are convinced the band had been operating for at least ten years.

LONDON, March 21.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz, the two Americans held in Paris in the investigation of an international spy plot, were pictured today as catspaws of the vast organization. The real director of operations in Britain, the Daily Mail said, was a woman who has now left the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Switz left London hurriedly 18 months ago, leaving behind them a book containing puzzling entries indicating a code to which different styles of handwriting were the keys, the Mail said.

Another mystery in the case, the newspaper brought out, was the fact that the couple bought many eggs daily—the shells of which were found in the flat, a hole neatly pierced in one end of each.

Oriental Sultan and Scotch Wife on Way to America

SHANGHAI, March 22 [Thursday]. —(AP)—The sultan of Johore, reputed to be one of the wealthiest rulers of the orient, arrived today from Singapore en route to the United States with the sultana, the former Mrs. Helen Wilson, Scottish divorcée. The sultan and sultana first met in Johore when she visited there as the bride of the sultan's English doctor, from whom she was later divorced.

URGES GERMANS TO SPURN DOGMA FOR TRUE NAZIISM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 21. — "Germans should rebel against the jail of dogma which has held them for 2,000 years," Minister of Culture Schemm declared today, speaking in Oldenburg.

This is not an attack on Christianity, Schemm said.

"Those who assert that Naziism is against Christianity should go down on their knees before Chancellor Hitler, who saved religion from real godlessness," he continued. "If the church fails to open its doors to racial principles then it shows it does not want to coöperate with the Nazi state."

HITLER LAUNCHES HIS $400,000,000 PUBLIC JOBS PLAN

Aims to Provide Work for 5,000,000 Unemployed.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 21.—Five million of the 6,000,000 unemployed persons in Germany will get jobs this year, Chancellor Hitler declared today as he launched the "1934 battle against the depression." The "battle" was launched at Unterhaching, near Munich, with an impressive ceremony. Hitler spoke from a dump truck.

This vast number of idle will be put to work on the chancellor's $400,000,000 public works program. The program includes the construction of highways, land reclamation, and the building of ships and houses.

Plans 200,000 Weddings.

One feature of the scheme is to get at least 200,000 girls married off this year. This feat, Bachelor Hitler explained, will be accomplished by setting aside about $80,000,000 as matrimonial loans. Interest-free loans up to $400 will be made to couples in cases where the bride-to-be has been employed for at least six months before the marriage date on condition that she promises to quit her job for as long as her husband is making at least $50 a month.

In explaining his program, Hitler said:

"If we procure jobs for 5,000,000, then we will increase the power of consumption of the German people by $2,000,000,000 yearly. In reality, the increase will be much bigger."

The chancellor apologized for the low wages to be paid, but he promised that the standard of living would be raised as soon as the bulk of the men are working.

Bars Raise in Prices.

"German people of the future will not pay pensions to those who do not work, but they will enable every one to earn his own bread and coöperate to raise the standard of living," he said. "No one can consume what he has failed to produce in coöperation with others."

Hitler threatened employers who try "to get as high dividends as possible in these times. Whoever tries to raise prices will henceforth be punished drastically.

"We will not make presents to industry but will use all funds available for practical creation of work and jobs. Intelligent and active business men will be able to do business, but let the lazy, stupid or dishonorable business men perish."

Hitler promised that Germany would finance enterprises only out of the regular budget or through loans and would avoid inflation.

The heads of the new public works program reported to Hitler in a broadcast ceremony, with the nation listening in in factories, homes and on street corners. In martial tones the chief of the volunteer labor camps cried out:

"My leader, I report that this day 180 new camps have opened. We shall reclaim 70,000 acres of bad lands for cultivation and regulate 180 kilometers [about 108 miles] of road beds and rivers."

CASH FLOWS TO FARMERS FROM SURPLUS MILK

Cheese Expert Develops New PMA Industry.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Out of the efforts of the organized dairy farmers in the Chicago milk area to find new outlets for that part of their milk not used in milk or cream in Chicago and suburbs has come a new industrial project that in five months has developed a demand greater than its sponsors had anticipated.

The 18,000 farmers belonging to the Pure Milk association were faced last year with considerable "surplus" milk, for which little or no demand existed in the usual channels. Along came a skilled cheesemaker, a Frenchman who had studied, with several scientists in Europe, the making of new and superior kinds of cheese.

Build New Plant.

The farmers, through their board of directors, believed in the man. So they built a milk plant in Elgin, incorporated as a separate concern, but carrying the PMA name and control. It was equipped to handle 75,000 pounds of milk daily, either skimming off the cream for butter, separating and cooling of the cream for resale, or for making any of several kinds of dairy products.

The plant itself is shrouded in secrecy, even a friendly reporter finding the cheeserooms inaccessible. The processes there in operation are producing in quantities two types of cheese, of the sort Europeans enjoy but which they cannot ship here and keep fresh.

Entirely New Product.

Neither of these cheeses is similar to anything on the market here, hence the PMA believes it is not intruding upon other farmers' markets.

These two cheeses are made in thick round cakes of 6 pounds each, and so scored as to allow the storekeeper to cut off slices of exact size and weight. More than 200 stores in Chicago and suburbs find a ready demand for them. The New York appetite has been even greater, while most cities from the Mississippi river to Boston and south to Louisville are drawing upon the supply.

20 Days of Ageing.

Additional equipment for the plant, to produce a greater quantity without sacrificing the quality, has been made necessary. One of the popular types is called "goud' ados," quite similar to the gouda cheese of Holland. The other is the "port' ados" a variation of the Oka cheese made by the La Trappe monks in France and Canada. They each require thirty days of ageing, but possess none of the sharp or the rubbery characteristics of ordinary cheese.

Coaxing, Not Roping, Used to Capture Last Buffalo

Wild west tactics, which resulted in the death of one buffalo last week, were avoided yesterday in capturing Pete, the last of the Cook county buffalo herd of eight in the forest preserve at Palos park. Workmen coaxed the animal into a V shaped corral and then through the small end and into a crate. A few minutes later he was on his way by truck to his new home on the farm of Edward Reilly at Delton Lake, Wis.

VIENNA, March 21.—(AP)—Socialists said today that the widow of Georg Weissel, the Floridsdorf fire department chief who was hanged for participating in the civil war, had refused an offer from Josef Stalin, secretary-general of the communist party, to adopt her small son. She was quoted as saying in her refusal that she had sworn to her husband that she would bring up the boy in Socialist and not communist principles.

How Farm Gets Its Water

How Farm Gets Water

March 21, 1934.

YESTERDAY Clarence Thurow, manager of the experimental farm, had to check over the hydraulic ram that is working day and night here on the farm. This piece of machinery is one of the most unusual mechanical things on the farm. With no other power than flowing spring water, it pumps water up a hill that is about fifty feet high, and then a distance of some 100 rods into one of the farmouhes and the barns near by. It's a sort of "perpetual motion" water system, furnishing fresh cold water winter and summer.

There are a number of springs here on the farm. In fact, you find springs all along the Fox river, the majority of them seeping out of hillsides to form small marshes filled with cat-tails. On the experimental farm one with a fairly large flow of water has been piped down hill about 70 feet into the hydraulic ram.

This piece of machinery does a few trick things with the water by means of valves and a plunger, and then shoots a steady stream of this water right back up the hill by means of vacuum pressure. There is a big "head" on the ram in which the vacuum is created automatically by the working of the valves and the flowing water.

About every ten days it is necessary to check over the ram to make sure that the vacuum chamber has not partly filled with water, and also to drain the pipes of any sediment. Clarence did that yesterday while I was trying to figure out which valve does which in the ram. Not knowing the power of the pressure in the head, I was nearly drowned by the rush of air and water which came out of the machinery when Clarence took it apart. This ram has been going for 35 years with only occasional replacements necessary to keep it in good condition.

Judging by the green which is showing in the narrow channels of the spring brooks around the hydraulic ram it won't be long until the spring season develops the first batch of crisp watercress. All the springs are banked with this edible plant. In fact, some of them are just about choked with it. Right now the new 1934 crop of watercress is being developed slowly but surely.

The spring season, which sees a quickening of all forms of life in the barnyard, in the fields, woods and along the streams, is revealing some new surprises nearly every day.

Hawks are being seen in increased numbers now. Clarence has noted the first mourning doves of the spring season. The first pair observed dropped into the cornfield, where the chinch bugs were running wild last summer. [If they will find some of the hibernating bugs and start to work on them they can be a big help around here.] Seven more little pigs were born yesterday. They ought to have an easier time than the 35 little ones which came in February and had to go through those spells of cold weather.

MRS. WILLETT'S ACTION TO END SUIT IS DELAYED

Action to dismiss Mrs. Grace Williamson Willett's $1,000,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Mary Cave Hall, widow of David Hall, wealthy Addressograph company executive, was continued until today by Judge Paul McWilliams of the Superior court yesterday.

Mrs. Willett was in court with Attorney Robert R. Mix, who told the judge that he had been retained by Mrs. Willett only that morning and had not had time to file his appearance to substitute for Attorney David D. Stansbury in the case. Judge McWilliams ruled that Mix must do this before he moved to dismiss the suit.

Mrs. Willett then told the court that the property settlement between her and her husband, Howard L. Willett, head of a trucking company, which was reached on March 10 in the chambers of Judge Rudolph F. Desort of the Superior court, provided for the alienation suit's dismissal.

"Everything has been settled," Mrs. Willett said.

"It hasn't been settled so far as we're concerned," said Attorney Alice Greenacre, counsel for Mrs. Hall, as she left the courtroom.

Under the Willett agreement Mrs Willett is to receive a guaranteed annual $17,500 from Willett for five years, after which her income from a trust fund and stocks set aside for the purpose would approximate that amount for the rest of her life. In return she is to ask for an absolute divorce and drop the alienation suit.

Mrs. Frances Harriet Burn, a radio singer known as "Alice Joy," was granted a divorce yesterday on the grounds of desertion from Eldon Burn, a theatrical press agent, and former captain in the Royal Flying corps. Mrs. Burn, who lives at 922 Glengyle place, was given custody of Bruce Robert, 6 years old, and Lois, 4.

HELD FOR FRIEND'S DEATH.

John Hultgren, 38 years old, 741 Aldine avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death Feb. 16 of his friend, Nels Sandin, who died from a skull fracture incurred during a fight with Hultgren.

EXPERT BURGLAR IS SEIZED WITH $35,000 IN LOOT

Edward Larkin, 39 years old, described by police as one of the most efficient burglars ever captured in Chicago, was in a Chicago avenue police cell yesterday while detectives examined loot valued at $35,000 which they had seized in his Logan Square apartment, the address of which was kept a secret.

The merchandise recovered consisted of eighteen suitcases holding more than 1,000 individual items including jewelry, cameras, coin collections, clothing and other articles of value. Larkin sold many of his stolen articles to county fair carnivals for prizes at games of chance, police said.

Under arrest with Larkin was Miss Jean Newman, 21 years old, who was seized in Larkin's apartment. Larkin was arrested by accident. The car in which he was riding was involved in an accident with a taxicab. Larkin attempted to drive away, but was brought to the police station by Policeman Fred H. Hoffman. Questioning and an investigation revealed his burglaries.

GETS TWO YEARS FOR BAD CHECKS.

Raymond Williams, 35 years old, 6450 Kenwood avenue, was sentenced to two years in the house of correction and fined $2,000 yesterday by Judge Frederick W. Elliott. Williams was charged with passing ten worthless checks in loop department stores.

FAIL TO DISPEL MYSTERY OVER DEAD INVENTOR

A coroner's jury yesterday was unable to dispel the mystery surrounding the death of Hans von Wolforsdorf, 48 years old, 516 West Seminary avenue, Wheaton, an inventor, whose body was taken from beneath a Marshfield avenue elevated train earlier in the day. The inquest was closed with a routine verdict of death from external violence.

Louis Evensen, motorman on the train, testified that he saw the body lying on the track, but too late to prevent the first car from passing over it. There was no evidence to indicate suicide. Von Wolforsdorf's widow, Johanna, and her son, Hans Jr., said that the victim was in excellent health and had no financial worries.

Joseph Krewczynski, 4856 North Ada street, testified that he and Von Wolforsdorf, who was a pattern maker and an inventor of novelties, had planned to take over a tool, die and novelty manufacturing shop at 1622 Fulton street, and that Von Wolforsdorf had been jubilant over the prospect.

PHYSICIANS HEAR DETAILS OF NEW SUNSHINE MILK

Discuss the Question of Bottle Labels.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The story of how Chicago is to get its new supply of "sunshine" milk, rich in vitamin D content, was told last night at an open meeting of the Chicago Medical society in the Medical and Dental Art building.

Three types of vitamin D milk are being considered by the Chicago dairy industry, in one of which the milk is irradiated under ultra violet ray lamps, in another the dairy cows are fed irradiated yeast, and in the third cod liver oil concentrate is added to the milk. The Wisconsin Alumni Research foundation controls the first two methods and the Columbia University foundation the third.

Draft Health Rules.

Regulations governing the new milk are being drafted by the Chicago board of health, the physicians were told. At the same time it was disclosed that the health board is planning to compel the dairies to specify on the bottle caps the vitamin potency of each kind of milk. Statements by several speakers indicated that scientific knowledge of the vitamin content of milk was yet too incomplete to make such a labeling a safe guide for consumers.

"Vitamin D is the rarest of vitamins in the average diet," declared Dr. H. L. Aussell, director of the Wisconsin foundation. "We do not advocate that foods be impregnated with vitamins to the point of becoming medical, yet we believe that milk, being the best source of calcium and phosphorus and most used by those subject to bone deficiencies, is the best medium for vitamin D."

A report of the committee on foods of the American Medical association, presented by Raymond Hertwig, its secretary, disclosed that the medical control over the products will also include scrutiny of the products and claims made for them. Mr. Hertwig declared that research indicated that 50 Steenbock units of vitamin D in a quart of irradiated milk taken daily will prevent rickets. He emphasized that the committee does not favor specifying the potency of the vitamin content of the milk on the bottles or in advertising.

Is Subject to Change.

"We have also found that at least 150 Steenbock units of cod liver oil concentrate is needed to obtain the results shown by 50 units of the vitamin in the irradiated milk," said Hertwig. "The unitage will be subject to change from time to time as the result of new experiments."

He added that his committee feels that the use of units on the bottles would be "misinforming and misleading to the public."

Pediatricians, led by Dr. Isaac Abt, professor of diseases of children at the Northwestern university medical school, discussed the advisability of a "wholesale vitamizing of the population." Dr. Abt wanted to know if all people needed the same amount of vitamin D, if the inspection would be uniformly thorough, and if the "sunshine" milk is needed equally in winter and summer.

He was joined by several doctors who warned against a "false sense of security" by mothers in feeding the sunshine milk, and that use of less than the quart a day might bring a "dilute formula" for children.

3 Bandits Rob Woman of Coat, Ring, and $40

Mrs. Catherine Van Camp, 3829 West 103d street, was held up by three men last night at 103d street and Sacramento avenue and forced to surrender $40, her fur coat, and a diamond ring. She reported to the police that the automobile she was driving was forced to the curb by that of the robbers and that a pistol was pointed at her by one of the trio. After taking her property the men drove away in their car.

JEAN NASH IN N. Y. FOR MURDER TRIAL OF HER SON

New York, March 21.—(AP)—A mother often called the world's best dressed woman arrived in New York tonight to stand by her son in his trial on a charge of murder.

Jean Nash, wife of Paul Dubonnet, son of the multimillionaire wine producer of France, came into New York aboard the 36 hours late Berengaria and found she would not be permitted to meet her son, Andrew D. Kirwan, until tomorrow. Kirwan is charged with having stabbed to death Gilliam Sessoms of Seattle when they were fellow passengers aboard the liner President Garfield Feb. 10.

"My son couldn't have done such a thing," Miss Nash told reporters. "He was too sensitive, too friendly a person.

"He has always been sick and weak, suffering from a form of infantile paralysis. He was so ill that he couldn't control his hand enough to write his name."

Miss Nash, frequently touching her handkerchief to her tear filled eyes, was attired in a simple frock as she talked. A ship's officer quoted her as saying that "I will jump overboard before I will be photographed."

ROBBERS FLEE POLICE TRAP IN LOOP BUILDING

Two robbers escaped the police yesterday after they were trapped in the Hartford building, 8 South Dearborn street. When the robbers had found their escape cut off by police, who were waiting for them on the first floor, they ran up to the third floor, broke into a vacant office which led to a fire escape and fled down the fire escape and into the crowds in West Madison street.

Lawrence Josephson, 53 years old, 6644 North Clark street, proprietor of the Chicago Stamp and Coin company which occupies suite 1405 of the Hartford building, was the victim of the robbers. He was alone when the two walked in displaying revolvers and demanded he open the safe.

Instead of complying, Josephson tried to escape through the door, but the robbers grabbed him and beat him over the head with their pistols. They fled without loot.

HURT IN 30 FOOT FALL.

AAA MAPS PLAN TO CUT SUPPLY OF MILK IN U. S.

Might Pay 300 Millions to Producers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—To the dairy industry of the country the Agricultural Adjustment administration today proposed a broad national program for reducing the nation's milk supply from 10 to 20 per cent in return for federal cash payments to the individual milk producer.

The program, evolved after months of effort by AAA experts, was proffered by Chester C. Davis, farm act administrator, while irate representatives of the dairy industry were gathering for a meeting here tomorrow at which they were expected to voice sharp criticism for the AAA's failure to take definite action for aid of the dairy farmer. Announcement of the national milk program today was regarded in some quarters as an effort on the part of farm administration officials to stave off the impending trouble.

Might Cost 300 Millions.

The plan suggested by the administration would involve some 165 million dollars at the outset, it was said, with prospects that the cost might rise as high as 300 millions. It would be financed by a processing tax of a cent per pound on butter fat, gradually increasing as the program advanced, to a peak of 5 cents per pound.

In substance the dairy program contemplates the voluntary submission of individual dairy farmers to the establishment of a federal sales quota for their milk. Under contract with the government they would agree to reduce marketings of milk by 10 per cent from the high average volume of sales in a base period covering 1932 and 1933.

In return for this reduction the government would pay "benefits" at the rate of about 40 cents for each pound of butter fat which the farmers reduce below their 1932-'33 sales quota. In terms of fluid milk the benefit payments would amount to approximately $1.50 for each 100 pounds reduced from the base period marketings, it was said.

Might Sell Off Cows.

Just how the production of milk would be curtailed would be left to the individual farmer, although the government would be ready to advise and recommend certain methods. Among these, it was understood, are the sale of cows and a regulation of feed.

In addition to the general control program the AAA would spend at least 5 million dollars to aid in financing the distribution of surplus milk to needy children in the cities, buying supplies direct from farm cooperatives and other marketing agencies. Another fund of some 5 million dollars would be used to buy up and distribute healthy milch cows to poor farmers, particularly in the southern area, who have no such animals at the present time. Still another 5 millions would be utilized in the eradication of bovine tuberculosis by killing off infected cows.

Announcement of the program is to be followed at once, it was stated, by an intensive campaign to sell the scheme to the farmers throughout the country. Specially trained "teams" will operate in various localities, explaining the program at a series of regional conferences with producers.

CROOKS' SANCTUARY ASKED BY NEW YORK POLICE FORCE'S LEADER

New York, March 21.—[Special.]—A "sanctuary" for criminals should be established somewhere outside the territorial limits of the United States. The crooks would love to go there, if Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan's scheme for handling them is approved. He made his suggestion in a speech today at the interclub meeting of Kiwanis.

"I can have any one of you killed within twenty-four hours for $300 or $400," he said. He added that after New York adopts the practice of forbidding known habitual criminals to stay within its limits, they will flock to other large cities. Those cities will be quick to take up the ostracism idea, too.

The sanctuary would be a small territory set apart, perhaps by international agreement, for criminals. Facilities for getting there would be provided any one who could prove that he was a thoroughly ostracized hoodlum.

MERGE GARRETT INSTITUTE AND SO. SIDE SCHOOL

Students Will Be Moved to Evanston.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, and the Chicago Training school, 4949 Indiana avenue, will merge their educational programs next September.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, head of the Methodist Episcopal area of Chicago, made this announcement late yesterday. He said details of the merger, which has been under consideration for a number of years, have been agreed upon by President Horace G. Smith of Garrett and President L. F. W. Lesemann of the south side training school. Participating in the development of the two presidents' plans were the presidents of the boards of trustees of the two institutions. These are Henry A. Wheeler of the Garrett board and Dr. Fred G. Stone, pastor of the Irving Park Methodist church, of the training school trustees.

Students Will Move.

Members of the training school staf and the entire student body will be moved from the south side to the Evanston campus. It was announced that, while the educational work of the schools will be merged, the two corporations will remain distinct. Just what provisions will be made for the use of the Prairie avenue training school property has not been disclosed. Plans are being discussed which look to the use of the property for Methodist educational work.

President Smith of Garrett will have general oversight of the merged educational work of the affiliated institutions. Dr. Lesemann will become the director of the reorganized training school and professor of practical theology at Garrett. The two schools with their merged educational programs will bring together two pioneer Chicago institutions for religious training. Garrett, created in 1855 by founders of Northwestern university, has prepared more than 6,000 ministers for service, of whom 2,000 are in active work.

2,000 Leaders Trained.

The Chicago Training school was founded in 1885 by the late Lucy Rider Meyer and Josiah Shelley Meyer. Its chief benefactor was the late M. W. Harris, founder of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. In addition to sending out more than 2,000 trained leaders in missionary, religious education, and Christian social work, the school is known as the mother of 40 other Methodist institutions throughout the country, including Wesley Memorial hospital, the Lake Bluff orphanage, the Methodist Deaconess home, and the Methodist Old Peoples' home.

About 50 graduates of the training school are employed in Chicago churches and social work institutions. Throughout its history it has, in the main, been a school for training Methodist deaconesses and women workers. Since the school's reorganization in 1917 under the presidency of Dr. Lesemann, provisions for coeducational work have been carried out. Women students have been admitted at Garrett for several years.

In the future all degrees will be conferred by Garrett and Northwestern university, while certain special diplomas will be granted by the training school. The students now members of the training school will be permitted to graduate according to provisions in effect at the training school when they were registered.

TREATIES AND THE SENATE.

Mr. Bennett, the Canadian prime minister, has expressed his regret to the house of commons that the United States senate refused to ratify the St. Lawrence treaty. There was some opposition to the agreement in Canada, but Mr. Bennett's party and government were committed to the fulfilment of the plans projected by the international proposal.

Canadian opposition sprang mainly from the eastern port cities which desire to remain terminals rather than ports of call. Mr. Bennett could go before the country confidently and justly, asserting that he had driven a very good bargain with the American state department. The treaty he brought back favored Canada at a half dozen points and contained some really startling concessions from the American government to Canadian welfare. Mr. Bennett would have been within the truth if he had said that it was one of the greatest Christmas gifts that Canada ever stood in line to receive.

The Canadians drove too good a bargain. In the negotiations they got too much for their own good. Even they may have overestimated the profits they would get from the waterway, but the terms the American state department granted them were of such lopsided benefit as to make the failure of the treaty in the senate a virtual certainty.

Some day foreign governments may learn that it does not pay to out-trade the American negotiators of a treaty. It would be different if the final decision rested with these negotiators. But many foreign statesmen are slow to learn that the decision is with the United States senate, which generally has been excluded from the preliminary arrangements and comes uncommitted and free-handed to the final consideration. In the senate the real national interests will be carefully looked into and debated by the representatives of forty-eight states. They will take a bargain which American negotiators have offered a foreign nation and give it a thorough testing. Every unbalanced provision, every gratuity which the negotiators have conceded, and every uncompensated benefit which they have conferred is bound to be brought out to view and discovered for what it is.

Some very strange surrenders of American interest have been stopped by the senate, to the enduring good of the American people. John Hay, for instance, made a surrender of American interests in his Panama treaty with Lord Pauncefote which now seems so unnecessary and so unreasonable as to be unthinkable. It would have gone through if the senate had not stopped it. The nations negotiating the treaty of Versailles and the covenant of the league of nations pretended to think the United States acted in bad faith when it rejected Mr. Wilson's work at Paris. If this were not a mere pretense, the opinion came from a stupid misunderstanding of the American treaty making power. It is not intended that the state department or the chief executive shall commit the American future or material welfare in international agreements without the consent, even if without the advice, of the senate.

The senate prerogative is not an atrophied and lifeless right such as the veto of an act of parliament by the British king, a prerogative long extinguished by procedure and custom, but is a vital part of the American system of government. When American treaty negotiators are outsmarted or out-traded, the foreign shrewdness which has taken too much for too little defeats its own purpose because the United States senate will not have the product of this sharp dealing. The St. Lawrence treaty is a fresh illustration of a truth which should be more generally appreciated.

CERTAIN SCRUPLES AGAINST CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Two of the Dillinger gangsters who engaged in the jail break at Lima, O., and later were caught by the Arizona police, have been convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of the sheriff guarding the jail. The third, Russell Clark, is going to trial. His attorney objected to the selection of the jury on the ground that Clark could not get a fair trial, setting forth that his client does not believe in capital punishment and, with jurors having a belief in it, there could not be that meeting of minds without prejudice necessary to a fair consideration of the evidence.

The court overruled the objection but must have conceded its entire sincerity and honesty. Clark, through his attorney, was not making a specious, technical or hair splitting point. He was stating an opinion candidly and conscientiously held, no doubt one of the most genuine opinions ever voiced. His objection would not extend to killing per se but only to capital punishment inflicted by the state. He is opposed to it upon the logical and sincere grounds which would be the basis for the objection all murderers have to this form of punishment.

Respect can be given his opinion for its real quality. Killers and sentimentalists join in thinking that capital punishment is a flaw in modern civilization and a reflection upon its pretentious humanitarianism. Strongly as the sentimentalists may feel, the murderers bring a still deeper conviction to the arguments against the gallows and electric chair. Their belief is profound that the system of punishment is barbarous.

Mr. Clark's may be the first instance in which a murderer has had the straightforwardness to protest that he ought not to be subjected to a punishment which offends his conscience, although in a less degree of undesirable unaccountability to law there can be found some precedents of a sort. Many debtors have set up that they should not pay obligations which would make them uncomfortable, and they have much governmental support in this idea. A jury composed entirely of hard bitten creditors might make hash of such a debtor's case, whereas a jury of hard hit debtors might deal with him sympathetically. It appears to be Mr. Clark's point that he is entitled to a jury of citizens who dislike capital punishment as much as he does. Dillinger himself might have little difficulty in giving the court such a panel.

THE NEW STOCK EXCHANGE BILL.

The stock exchange bill, as amended, is still a bad bill, calculated to cause a great deal more trouble than it remedies.

Stock exchange regulation should have just one objective: to maintain a free and open market, safeguarded against manipulation. That kind of regulation can be enforced because by and large it is to the interest of the vast majority of the members of the exchanges and their customers to maintain such a market. Any other kind of regulation is likely to drive the security business up an alley or out of the country and thus aggravate precisely the evils which it is intended to correct.

The attempt to regulate margin requirements is a mistake. The loan value of securities is something the lenders can be counted upon to determine far better than the government can or will. If the heavier margin requirements laid down in the bill will delay or minimize the upward surge of a boom, the same requirements will also tend to exaggerate the depths to which a declining market will fall.

The grant to the federal trade commission or any other governmental body of the right to intervene in the market when in its judgment intervention is necessary can only result in adding another factor of uncertainty. In a nervous market a rumor that the government was about to intervene might produce catastrophic results.

Speculation in stocks, like any other form of speculation, is a risky business. Nothing can make it safe. The regulation of the exchanges by the government may mislead some innocents into thinking that speculation has at last been made safe for the unwary, pretty much as the line "Under State Supervision" led a lot of people in Illinois to think that any bank which could make that claim was sound. We live but we don't always learn.

INDIGNATION (MEX.).

The secretary of the treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, some days ago suggested that some advocates of silver legislation were not wholly disinterested Mr. Morgenthau since then has been busy denying that he meant to impugn the honor of any member of either house of congress. No congressman, he says, has been found to be speculating in silver. In spite of Mr. Morgenthau's repeated apologies, the indignation in congress has been terrible to behold. Only the other day Senator Borah [Idaho], not to mention Senator King [Utah], shook with emotion as they demanded Mr. Morgenthau's proofs.

The secretary ought to be ashamed of himself. He was right the first time and should have stood by his guns. The enactment of any silver legislation of the sort now being agitated in congress will make the rest of the people of the United States subsidize silver mining. There are no exceptions to this rule. Some support for silver valorization schemes comes from monetary cranks, but the backbone of the movement is to be found in eight or ten silver producing states. The congressmen from these states know that in pressing for valorization they profit politically. Their mine-owning and miner constituents will regard them as great fellows, worthy of reelection.

The congressmen [Idaho, Mont., Utah, Ariz., Colo., N. M., etc., both Democratic and Republican], who advocate silver legislation because of its value in electoral campaigns in the silver mining states are speculating in silver just as certainly as if they had a bet laid in Wall street. If any one in Washington was entitled to be indignant, it was Mr. Morgenthau. If Mr. Morgenthau wasn't indignant it may have been because his own monetary schemes are not without somewhat similar political implications.

Editorial of the Day

THE ROUGH ROAD OF ECONOMY.

[Kansas City Times.]

The administration's economy act of a year ago may not now be completely wrecked, so far as the will of congress is concerned. That is the import of the house vote on amendments to the independent offices supply bill, which carry veteran and federal employé pay restorations of about 106 million dollars less than those provided in the bill as passed by the senate. It was under the threat of a presidential veto that the house compromised on the restorations, and it is the assumption that, under the same threat, senate conferees will acquiesce in the house reductions.

It is interesting to recall briefly the history of this economy legislation. The economy act of last spring grew out of Mr. Roosevelt's repeated campaign promise to reduce ordinary expenditures of the government by at least 25 per cent, in accordance with the pledge of the Democratic platform. The act called for a reduction of approximately ½ billion dollars, affecting mainly veteran allowances and federal employé pay. But so drastic and seemingly unjust were the veterans' cuts that about 96 million dollars soon was restored, leaving the saving at about 400 million.

Of that amount the senate recently voted to restore a total of 354 million dollars. This would have reduced the economy to little more than 40 million dollars. The bulk of the veteran benefits would have been returned and the federal pay reduction would have been ended completely by the close of the fiscal year on June 30. That brought the veto threat, then the house compromise. Under the latter the total restorations would run to about 248 million dollars, or approximately 106 million less than those previously provided by the senate. If the latter concurs in the house action, the 248 million would represent the final net saving from the original act calling for economies of nearly ½ billion. Economy in government is much more easily promised than accomplished.

MAMA X. writes in to say that the teacher was telling how Robinson Crusoe found Friday. "Yes," said the dear little teacher, "there was poor, lonely old Robinson Crusoe away out in the middle of the ocean, all alone on a desert island thousands and thousands of miles away from civilization. He had roamed all over the land, but he was the only human being on it. No ship had come in sight to bring other people to look for him, yet suddenly as he walked along he saw something that almost made him faint dead away. He saw footprints in the sand! Now whose footprints were they?" "Mrs. Roosevelt's," piped little Snoonie, and the teacher spanked her soundly and sent her home. And served the little smarty right!

TWO SONNETS FOR MARCH.

I.

Now the loud winds of March have swept the skies
Free of their iron clouds and left a shield
Of burnished copper where a lone hawk flies
Reflected in a solitary field.
Across that bitter blaze, lit by no sun,
The hawk moves slowly in a timeless arc,
And ending, beyond vision, in the dark.
Till now beneath horizons of the sight,
His flight has arrowed past a million spheres,
Curving along a sudden comet's light,
A tangent to the Pleiades' bright tears.
Evil, remote, implacable and dire,

II.

The rabbit's paths are quartered in the dew,
The brown grass holds a winter-weary mouse,
Bewildered where his gardenings are few,
Estranged from his small, rounded, empty house.
Red hulls of berries hang below the hedge.
Tall, sodden cornstalks lean against the fence
That closes in the good land from the sedge,
Rich with the furrows' even eloquence.
Two crows caw bravely in the early chill
And far smoke rises lavender, from where
The farmhouse shelters underneath the hill,
And in the thicket where the woodchuck digs

"I'LL COME BACK!" says Jesse Livermore, Wall street plunger, who has recently gone into bankruptcy. "I'll take another fall out of the market and pay every dollar I owe. Six million is a lot, but I've done it before and I'll do it again." And he probably will, and it's going to take a lot of us little fish to contribute to Mr. Livermore to make up his six million at that. Oh, Mr. Livermore will get his six million all right. For, as Mr. Barnum is reputed to have said, "There's a sucker born every minute." But the old suckers chip in as liberally and graciously as the new ones do.

Business Is Bad!

Sir: Business is bad! Last night I'm coming home thinking how I coulda got two more tricks in the last hand if I'd pulled a spade queen finesse, when a big buy sticks a cannon in my chest and says, "Gimme all yer dough and no stallin'." Honest, I coulda laughed in his face. "Say, mister," I says, "business is so bad that I'm behind the seven ball; there's no more room behind the eight ball, and I ran out of buttons last week." "You think business is bad," says the big buy. "Hell, I can't even buy bullets for this gun." J. D. N.

For if Mr. Insull could only land in Egypt the eager correspondents who trail him around every day would tell us about the Pyramids and the Tombs of Luxor, and the temples and the Scarabs, and Khartoum, and Cairo, and the Red sea, and Pharaoh's daughter finding little Moses in the bulrushes *(Mr. Insull is the center figure of group looking at the bulrushes where Pharaoh's daughter found little Moses. ## How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

THE HAIR.

SOMEBODY asks if the bare head fad is sound from the health standpoint. The answer is that it has no health relations. Under ordinary, brief, moderately severe exposures the hair supplies protection enough in both cold and warm weather.

The hair is developed from the skin, being essentially the same biologically and in chemical constitution as the outer layer of that structure. Not so long ago barbers occasionally would suggest that a man have his hair singed rather than cut. The theory on which this suggestion was based was that the hair was a live structure that breathed and had a blood supply; that in the middle of the hair shaft was a tube, and when this was cut across and left open some vital fluid oozed out. A hair has vitality, in a sense, but it is not of the kind this theory supposed. It does not breathe, it has no circulation in the shaft, and nothing oozes out when the canal is cut across. In a certain biologic sense it has life, and it is, among other things, a fine insulating substance. Animals that have a good mat of hair do not need overcoats.

It has been said that baldheaded men do not need to eat foods rich in sulphur. This statement is based on the fact that the hair is rich in compounds that contain sulphur. The statement is an exaggeration, but it is founded on facts.

The hair is akin to that outer layer of the skin commonly called the dead layer. It is better known as the keratin or horny layer, for it is far from dead in some senses. The individual cell has become horny, or keratinized, and cannot produce new cells, but it has important work to do. Its labors are chemical in nature, as Dr. Lloyd Arnold has shown, and sulphur is a very important and necessary substance for its undertakings. It serves to insulate the tissues below against heat and cold; to protect them against exposure to chemicals and bacteria from the outside; and to prevent loss of substances that belong below it.

It maintains an acid surface as a measure of protection. The tissues below are alkaline and must always remain so if life is to continue. The tissues of the skin and hair surface are always mildly acid and nearly uniformly so, or trouble results. We wash with alkaline soaps in order to remove grease and dirt. This is necessary, of course. But, that job finished, the skin quickly regains its acidity and retains it. In that way it keeps down the growth of bacteria. This rapid change in chemical reaction is partly because of the substances that contain sulphur.

The so-called dead layer of skin is about the livest tissue in the body in some ways, Dr. Arnold says.

Probably bald people had better not abandon sulphur foods entirely. And they need hats for comfort, even if their long haired fellows do not.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN.

V. L. S. writes: Whenever an inquiry regarding nervous breakdowns is printed in your column I am tempted to put in my oar. I hope you will pardon me for yielding to the temptation this once. The year I left college, apparently in the pink of condition, I put in a tremendous amount of work. I was 21 and no judge of pace. About May of the following spring my nervous system went to smash so suddenly that I was badly frightened. I went at once to the old family doctor. His prescription was this: Walk a mile before breakfast, find the best boarding house available and never eat away from it, learning to eat what was set before me, and to ease up when I could, but not stop work. He also advised me to learn to nap when I could, and not to go to bed with the fixed intention of sleeping. At that period I found the time to go swimming twice a day. I liked it and the reaction through the skin circulation probably helped a great deal. But there was one piece of advice he gave that has always impressed me as the best. It was to get something to worry about besides oneself.

EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION.

P. W. J. writes: Up until three years ago I was very active in athletics, having been an amateur wrestler for about twelve years. I am 28 now. During that time I would perspire excessively only during a workout. Now, after having been away from gym for about three years, the least little exertion causes me to perspire profusely. If I try dancing [and I dance quite a bit] in a short while I am wringing wet. I ruin my shirts and ties and even my suit becomes wet. I smoke and drink moderately. Also, I bathe with cold water.

REPLY.

Deficient sweating is apt to be due to thyroid deficiency. There are several possible causes of excessive sweating. Among them is too much thyroid.

An examination would be required to determine why you sweat too freely.

NOSE BLEEDS.

J. S. writes: For many years since childhood I have been troubled, more or less frequently, by ordinary nose bleeding, which I have always stopped by firmly packing as much moist paper as possible between the upper lip and the gums and leaving it there for half an hour or so, when the paper would be removed, with no further bleeding. The presence of the moist paper would close the small vein under the nose which supplies it with blood until the bleeding would cease.

KNOCK KNEES.

Mrs. E. S. writes: Do you believe a lift of a quarter of an inch on the inner side of the heel of a child's shoe has a correcting effect on knock knees?

REPLY.

I don't think so. Well developed knock knees call for more than that.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE.

Chicago, March 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Two years ago my aunt died, leaving a small estate to four minors and myself. My cousin, their mother, is executrix. A law firm, administrators, deposited all money due and accrued from sales of stock, etc., into a trust company bank. During the probation year, required in Pennsylvania, where this transpired, the bank closed. I have heard, indirectly but reliably, that this and another bank [1] have merged, a receiver appointed, and expect soon to pay 50 per cent, the balance in time. 2. The same law firm has been appointed administrators of these banks, and I have reason to believe they are, as individuals, stockholders in the banks. 3. Could the law firm have sold the stock without informing me and without a written permit? 4. If we feel their interest in the banks' affairs supersedes ours, could we sue to have them replaced by another firm? 5. Can executrix sell real estate without my consent? 6. Does the law firm collect their stipulated fee more than once upon liquidation? Can they collect if relieved before liquidation? 7. Does the government collect inheritance tax only once [8] at liquidation? G. E.

1. There would not be a merger during receivership.
2. A law firm would not be appointed receivers. Evidently you do not have the facts accurately.
3. They would have no authority to do so. Your use of the word administrator in the fourth line of your letter is inaccurate.
4. The executor can employ other attorneys. If what you mean is that the executor failed to qualify and that a lawyer was appointed "administrator with the will annexed" then application would have to be made to the court for a change.
5. Her powers depend on the wording of the will.
6. It could be handled either way.
7. Yes.
8. There is a premium for prompt payment and it seems probable that the executor will take advantage of this.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN.—Gen. Hans von Seeckt, one of Germany's most distinguished world war leaders and former commander of the reichswehr [regular army], will leave for China soon.

He has been invited by Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and intends to remain in the far east for several months. Although it is stressed here that the general is not visiting the orient in any official capacity, it is believed that his advice on military matters will be of great value to the Chinese dictator.

As chief of staff for Field Marshal von Mackensen, Gen. von Seeckt helped to win one of the most decisive battles of the world war—the battle of Gorlice—which broke the backbone of the czar's armies and prepared the way for the bolshevik revolution.

He also was largely responsible for what military experts here consider the most brilliant campaign in the war. It was the German victory over Rumania. A few months after Rumania declared war the German forces had stormed the mountain passes, routed the Rumanian armies, occupied the capital and, for all practical purposes, wiped Rumania off the list of Germany's enemies.

After the war Gen. von Seeckt became commander of the reichswehr. From the remains of the former imperial army he forged a formidable instrument of war despite its small size of 100,000 men. Von Seeckt has often expressed the view that the days of big conscription armies are over and that a small but highly trained professional army is of a higher military value than a comparatively large short term militia.

Von Seeckt was forced to resign as commander of the reichswehr because he allowed a son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm to attend army maneuvers.

Von Seeckt is not the first German officer to visit the Nanking government. Col. Bauer, right hand man of Gen. Ludendorff during the war, acted for some time as military adviser to the Chinese government. So did Lieut. Col. Kriebel, who now holds a high office in the Nazi party. Kriebel, an ardent Hitlerite, was sentenced to several months' imprisonment in a fortress for participating in Adolf Hitler's ill fated beerhall putsch.

SALARIES AT THE STOCKYARDS.

Chicago, March 14.—Regarding the communication from Mr. J. C. Rogers, which appeared in "Voice of the People" this morning under the rather apt caption "Faunces," the following facts may prove of interest:

We know of no company in the meat packing industry in which the salaries of any twelve officials aggregate anywhere near $1,000,000, or half of that.

Salaries to executives in the packing industry are notably lower than in almost any other industry of comparable size.

Executives of most of the packing companies receive no bonuses other than those prorated among all employés. To the best of our knowledge, no bonuses have been paid since war days.

Because of the peculiar requirements of the industry virtually all of the executives of the major meat packing companies have come up through the ranks, learning the business from the yards up, and this is best evidenced by the fact that practically every executive of every meat packing company has been with his company for many years.

If every officer of every substantial meat packing company were to go Mr. Rogers one better and, instead of working for $10,000 per year, were to work for nothing, the amount saved probably would be too small to affect live stock prices or the price of meat to the consumer.

As to the number of men employed, the employment index of the bureau of labor statistics of the United States department of labor reveals that employment in the meat packing industry in January of the current year was the largest for any month since January, 1929, the index figure for January this year being 105.2, as compared with the bureau's basic figure of 100 for 1926.

That this figure was attained very largely through the industry's coöperation with the government program of reemployment may be noted in the fact that the index figure stood at 84.5 in January, 1933, and at 92.8 in July, 1933, immediately before the adoption by the industry of the President's reëmployment agreement with substitutions.

PARKING IN THE LOOP.

Chicago, March 16.—It has been very noticeable for the last few months that the no parking rule in the loop district is not being observed. Any day on Clark street from Randolph street south to Adams there is always a line of autos parked on both sides of the street.

AN INGENIOUS SCHEME EXPOSED.

Wilmette, Ill., March 17.—Whether we are or are not in sympathy with the efforts made in the past to restrict the flow of water from Lake Michigan to the gulf, the latest endeavor in this direction must bring a chuckle of admiration for the ingenuity displayed in giving the proposal such a wholly ingenuous aspect.

If a dam across the Mississippi below Alton has the effect, which it must have, not particularly of damming the Mississippi, but of damming its major affluent between Keokuk and Alton and, upon completion of the dam, a pool is formed backing up the Illinois river from Grafton, in order to prevent overflow of this artificial lake, there must be an immediate restriction in inflow of water from Lake Michigan through the drainage canal probably to 1,500 cubic feet per second or less; the penalty being that damage had will be wholly within the state of Illinois. Or, whoever controls the spillways of the proposed dam, directly controls the intake of water from Lake Michigan.

It might appear that an intelligence responsible for thus ingeniously arriving at an end to which the United States senate objects might be more profitably employed in manipulating the New York stock market.

SPECIAL DELIVERY.

Chicago, March 15.—Is there any good reason why an air mail and special delivery letter, 13 cents postage, dropped into a mail box on the corner of Springfield avenue and Ohio street at 10:30 p. m. Friday, March 9, 1934, and addressed to Springfield, Mass., should be postmarked Garfield Park station, Chicago, Ill., March 10, 1934, 8 p. m., arriving at Springfield, Mass., March 12, 1934, 1:30 a. m., and delivered 8 a. m., same day and date, occupying approximately 12 hours longer en route than an ordinary 3 cent letter.

Please note neglectful delay of at least seven hours in Chicago.

AN IRRITATING ADVERTISMENT.

Chicago, March 15.—The spectacle of a motor car being driven through the loop streets yesterday with a platform built over it on which was placed a billiard table to demonstrate the steady riding quality of the car seemed to me to be a cheap perversion of the use of our streets. It did no credit to any one connected with it. The use of these moving advertisements, many of them with their hideous noises, are a disgrace to any city that permits them. Certainly they should be well paid for, if allowed at all, and $1,000 a day would not be an excessive fee for each unit so operated in this, "the city where nobody cares."

JEWISH THEATER OWNER BOMBED IN BERLIN STREET

Police Deny Plot Against Gen. Goering.

BERLIN, March 21.—(AP)—A tin can filled with high explosives was hurled on the famous Unter den Linden today and wrecked a taxi carrying David Oliver, Jewish owner of a motion picture theater.

First reports which raced through Berlin that the bombing was an attempt to assassinate Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and close associate of Chancellor Hitler, were denied. Evidence indicated it was a plot against the life of Oliver.

The automobile was wrecked near the intersection of the avenue with the Wilhelmstrasse and the taxi driver was seriously injured.

Members of the family of the theater owner, a native of Austria, but for thirty-five years a resident of Berlin, refused to discuss the affair. He was "at home," it was said.

Exhibited Protested Film.

It was at his theater recently that anti-Jewish demonstrations resulted in the banning of the film "Catherine the Great," featuring Elizabeth Bergner, a Jewess.

Film dealers had attempted to protest against the ban on "Catherine the Great," pointing out that it was allowed by the censor and that legally they had the right to show it. They were told not to bother about legalities, that the public feeling was what counted.

[Miss Bergner chatted with Queen Mary in London last night. The queen, after attending a performance of "Catherine the Great," asked that the actress be presented to her.]

Rumors that Goering had been seen to drive past the corner shortly before the explosion lent color to the story that he was the intended victim, but these met a vigorous denial from police. The premier, they said, was attending the ceremonies opening a ship lock at Niederfinow at the time.

Offer $2,000 Reward.

Police offered $2,000 reward for information to clear up the mysterious explosion and issued an official communique which said:

"About 2 p. m. an unknown individual threw an explosive object at the corner of the Neue Wilhelmstrasse, in the immediate vicinity of the Prussian ministry of the interior, hitting the curb.

"The driver of a taxi happening to pass and also a pedestrian were slightly injured, while the occupant of the taxi, despite flying glass, was unhurt. There is suspicion the explosive was intended for some hitherto undetermined person who was near or expected to be near the spot."

Followed by Another Car.

Details which Oliver was understood to have given friends indicated that the grenade might have been thrown from a car which had been following that of the theater man. The suspicion was held in some quarters that anti-Semitic elements may have been responsible.

A difference in details contained in the communique and those received from reliable sources, as well as the fact that seven hours elapsed before police published their report, increased the mystery surrounding the case. It was understood a plain clothes policeman appeared at Oliver's apartment shortly after the bombing.

BODY OF MISSING DUQUOIN, ILL., WOMAN FOUND NEAR HOME

Duquoin, Ill., March 21.—[Special.]—Missing since the 16th of last January, the body of Mrs. Lethia Greathouse, 38, divorced wife of Earl Greathouse, was found buried in a shallow grave in a field in the northwest part of this city today. She had told her 16 year old son, Raleigh, she would be back soon when she left her home. The body was discovered by Sam Vitale, when his hunting dogs, while exercising, discovered the crude grave. The body was buried within 100 yards of her home.

The grave was not deep enough to hide the body and washtubs had been placed over a shoulder and the feet.

Examination revealed a large knife wound in the right side of the woman's throat. A coroner's jury has been sworn.

Her divorced husband had been in Alabama, where he was employed but had returned to Duquoin to assist in the search.

No arrests have yet been made in connection with the affair.

Woman and Man Slain by Former Police Captain

Lafayette, Ind., March 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Esther Lockwood, 34, and her brother-in-law, Russell Wells, 30, were shot and fatally wounded on a downtown street tonight by Walter Scott, 45 year old former Frankfort, Ind., police captain. The woman died almost instantly, and Wells, hit by a bullet that entered his back and pierced the left lung, succumbed in a hospital four hours later. Police were told Scott had followed Mrs. Lockwood home from work each night for six weeks and had become threatening when she spurned his attentions. Mrs. Lockwood separated four years ago from her husband, Rufus Lockwood, who is said to be in California.

La Guardia Stops Band Playing on N. Y. Ferries

New York, March 21.—[Special.]—Mayor La Guardia discovered today that the city was a partner in a "tin cup" racket and ordered it stopped. As a result passengers on the Staten Island ferry will no longer be amused—or agonized—by the small band which toots manfully on the deck of the city's ferryboats during the half hour ride.

1 KILLED, 1 HURT IN CRASH.

La Porte, Ind., March 21.—[Special.]—George Nelson of South Bend, was killed, and his companion, Marie Tudor, 26, of Indianapolis, injured today when Nelson's car was sideswiped by a truck near here.

STAVISKY LINKED TO 7 YEAR OLD POISON MURDER

Sensations Pile Up; Order Body of Crook Exhumed.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 21.—The $60,000,000 Stavisky pawnship bond scandal produced a new batch of sensations today.

One of the strangest of them was the news from Chamonix that the hut where Serge (Handsome Alex) Stavisky died of a bullet wound as police closed in on him, has been burglarized. The news will be published in the morning papers tomorrow simultaneously with the announcement that Judge Ordonneaux, the examining magistrate in the investigation into the case, has ordered the disinterment of Stavisky's body for a new autopsy. The disinterment was requested by members of the parliamentary investigating committee after they had been shown a suppressed newsreel made in the hut before the body was removed. This newsreel left many deputies convinced that Stavisky could not have committed suicide, as officially announced.

Link Stavisky to New Murder.

Next came the hearing by the investigating committee of the young Deputy Philippe Henriot, whose revelations last January led to the downfall of the Chautemps cabinet. Henriot opened a bulging brief case before his colleagues and what he showed them apparently staggered them. The committee was so staggered in fact, that it refused to publish a résumé of Henriot's documents and turned them over immediately to the magistrate in charge of the whole investigation.

One of the hair raising pieces of evidence produced by Henriot is understood to be a burned fragment of a letter from Stavisky to some one who arrived in French Guiana seven years ago a short time before Deputy Jean Galmot died of poison under mysterious circumstances. That crime never has been solved. The burned fragment of letter said:

"Galmot will realize now what it costs to cross my path."

Stavisky Lawyer Seized.

Of almost equal importance was the arrest of Maitre Georges Gaulier, one of Stavisky's battery of legal talent, after authorities had searched his apartment and found in a trunk a bundle of important documents relating to the Stavisky affair, some more check stubs and a roll of coupons of more than 300 foreign stocks and bonds owned by Stavisky.

As a result of yesterday's session of the parliamentary committee, radical deputies who sit on it demanded of the party's executive committee that two prominent politicians in its ranks, Gaston Hulin, former under secretary of state, and Louis Proust, head of one of the important party campaign fund committees, be struck off the radical lists.

LEGISLATOR IS SHOT BY 3 MEN IN KENTUCKY

Crawls 300 Yards, but May Die.

Paducah, Ky., March 21.—[Special.]—John W. Taylor, 35 a Republican member of the Kentucky legislature, was shot and critically wounded early today by one of three men who leaped upon him as he walked to the farm house of his father at Princeton, near here.

Taylor, who returned from Frankfort last Sunday after the assembly adjourned, declared he was shot by enemies who have opposed him since he began an investigation into the lynching of a white man more than a year ago. He was assisted in his investigation by the Civil Liberties union, New York. Last November he made the lynching a campaign issue and won the election in Caldwell county, normally Democratic.

He took a taxicab in Princeton and drove to the outskirts of town, from where he began walking to the home of his father, R. N. Taylor. He said that as he approached the farm three men assailed him. One, he said, pointed a pistol at his heart, but as he fired Taylor squiremd. The shot tore through his chest. After he had failed the man again attempted to shoot him, but a companion pushed the gun aside and the three fled.

Seriously wounded, Taylor crawled 300 yards to a farmer's home and was sent to a Princeton hospital. Doctors said he will probably die. Taylor said $100 in cash and papers were taken from his pockets.

BOY DIES, MOTHER HURT AS STREET CARS CRUSH AUTO

Woman Tries to Pass on Narrow Bridge.

Gordon Harris, 12 years old, 6239 North Fairfield avenue, was killed and his mother, Charlotte, 39 years old, was critically injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was crushed between two street cars at Western avenue and 32d street.

Firemen worked for 20 minutes before the victims were freed from the wreckage wedged between the cars. The rescuers were afraid to move either street car in the fear that grinding of the wreckage would further injure the mother and her son.

Driving to Dog Pound.

Mrs. Harris was driving her son to the dog pound at 31st street and Lawndale avenue to rescue the family dog, which had been picked up and incarcerated there. A dog collar and chain were found in the wreckage.

The automobile was moving south in Western avenue when it came to the old canal bridge, which is narrow and has room for two street cars and no other vehicles. Mrs. Harris sought to pass a south bound car on the left, using the track on which a north bound car was approaching.

Her machine swerved, struck the east curb, and bounded in front of the southbound car. The crash hurled the automobile in front of the northbound car and before the motormen could stop the cars the automobile was pinned between them. Witnesses called the fire department and members of Engine Company No. 65 used heavy jacks to raise the wreckage enough to remove the victims. Passengers on both street cars were badly shaken, but none was seriously injured.

Student Pinned Under Car.

Louis Zoubek, 21 years old, 2459 South Crawford avenue, a student at the University of Chicago, was found pinned beneath the wreckage of his automobile yesterday morning in a ditch at 55th street and Long avenue. He was taken unconscious to the Southtown hospital, where physicians said he had incurred a possible practure of the skull.

The death of the Harris boy and three others yesterday brought to 272 the Cook county motor toll for 1934. The other victims:

Miss Loretta Ryan, 25 years old, 6017 South Francisco avenue. Died in the Auburn Park hospital of injuries suffered March 18 when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another at 75th street and South Park way.

Alter Goldberg, 51 years old, 4917 North Ridgeway avenue. Died in the Swedish Covenant hospital of injuries incurred March 12 when he was struck by a hit and run motorist at Hamlin and Lawrence avenues.

John Lumpp, 33 years old, 7912 Ingleside avenue. Died in the Jackson Park hospital of injuries incurred March 19 when the automobile he was driving struck another at Yates avenue and 79th street.

Supervising Police Captain John P. Stege will leave today for St. Augustine, Fla., to be at the bedside of his wife, Nellie, who was injured near there in an automobile accident several days ago. Mrs. Stege, who was riding with her niece, Louise Coyle, and Mrs. Daniel Lynch, fell out of the car when the door came open, incurring a broken wrist.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Faith

AUDITOR'S WIDOW ASKED TO GIVE UP FUNDS IN TRUST

The Kane county board yesterday offered to withdraw its suit against the estate of Fred A. Butke, absconding county auditor, on the condition that his widow turn over securities in a trust created with $76,000 her husband allegedly embezzled from the poor farm fund. Butke committed suicide in a Chicago hotel three years ago a few hours after he had deposited $100,000 worth of securities with the Chicago Title and Trust company to establish a trust for his wife and parents.

The county obtained an order restraining the trust company from making any disbursements of the fund and then filed suit against Butke's estate to collect the amount of his alleged peculations. The securities in the trust are said to have depreciated in value until they are now worth about $30,000.

OLD BUILDING COLLAPSES ON 11 BOYS; 1 KILLED

Joseph Karoskiewicz, 14 years old, 1073 North Hermitage avenue, was crushed to death last night when an abandoned cottage at 1067 North Hermitage avenue collapsed while he and 10 other boys were inside. Frank Jenerek was in front of his home at 1082 North Hermitage avenue and saw the building begin to fall. His shouts warned the boys so that they were able to escape, but the Karosklewicz boy was in the center of the structure and was struck by falling timbers.

Hamlet in Andes Buried by Enormous Landslide

LIMA, Peru, March 21.—(AP)—Belated press dispatches reaching here today said the entire Andean hamlet of Chaccho, at Ancahs, north of Lima, was buried under an enormous landslide five miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide. The reports said 139 houses and huts were carried away or buried, but no loss of life was reported. The landslide was believed to have been caused by torrential rains on Feb. 26.

AMERICANS FORM CHAMBER TO PUSH AUSTRIAN TRADE

Seek Means to Increase U. S. Exports.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, March 21.—Another step forward in developing trade between the United States and Austria was taken with the recent decision of Austro-American commercial interests here to found an American chamber of commerce in Vienna. Later a cognate institution is also to be established in Washington.

The decision to open up a chamber of commerce here is the result of lengthy study by a committee appointed some time ago "for founding a special organization to develop trade and tourist traffic between Austria and America."

The organization of the American chamber of commerce has the backing of President Ernst Streeruwitz of the Vienna chamber of commerce, American Consul General E. L. Harris, and Commercial Attaché J. H. Hughes.

Points Way to More Trade.

General inquiry here indicates that the United States can get a bigger share of the Austrian market through this way of making an intensive study of detailed openings for exports than through any new general trade agreements.

Commenting on the formation of the new chamber of commerce and of the outlook for American exports to Austria generally, Hughes said:

"The only way we can sell more here is to enable Austria to sell more to us. We can no longer follow our old and time worn ideas that we want to export only, and when those who buy our goods in turn come to use with their own exports raise a high tariff barrier against them.

"For some months we have been busily studying the whole range of exportable stuffs and manufactures and have submitted the results of our explorations to Washington.

Urges Buying from Austria.

"If we can enable Austrian business men to find a better market in America, we can get our quotas raised here, and with a larger quota we are certain that American enterprise and salesmanship will be able to compete successfully with the Germans, Czechs and French in getting our goods placed on the market here in such lines as automobiles, machinery, fruit and lard.

"American automobiles are favorites here, and more could be sold except for the quota limit. Last year we actually increased our exports here, and we were the only country which sold its entire quota of automobiles."

American trade observers here are generally agreed that little is required in the way of improving banking or shipping facilities for the export trade between Austria and America. The credit of the country has risen since the dark days of two years ago, when the collapse of the Credit Anstalt bank set the match to the depression period in Europe.

Currency restrictions at one time were an obstacle to trade, but this has been removed now through the permission for private clearings through the Giro und Kassenverein. Foreign money can now be obtained readily for any real demands.

The export of American cars into Austria seemed to one item which trade authorities here wished to increase in return for the raised quota on Austrian wines into the United States. Germany is at present the biggest supplier of the Austrian automobile market. The United States comes next and Czechoslovakia is third, with France, Italy, and England following in the order mentioned.

The quota for automobile imports has been severely diminished during the last two years. In 1932 the quota for each country was 300 and the United States sold 206; last year the quota was 170 and the entire quota was sold by the United States. This year, however, the quota is reduced to but 80 automobiles.

Auto Trafic Grows.

Automobile trafic in Austria has shown an increase of 50 per cent during the last four years.

One of the difficulties here at present, aside from the quota limitations, is the high rate of duty which cars must pay to enter the country and the complicated way in which it is levied. The import duty is based on what the customs officers estimate that a similar car would cost if it were manufactured in Austria.

Radio sets are another item which are practically barred from the Austrian market because of the high import tax. This tax is eight gold crowns per kilogram of weight plus a 15 per cent turnover tax and crisis tax. If other incidental fees are added it is estimated that the duty on a complete set would amount to something like $1.50 per pound weight of the set.

Besides this fact, moreover, there is very little possibility for the sale of radio sets in Austria for the reason that the Austrian manufacturers are able to supply the whole market with excellent machines.

Fresh fruit ought to be a field for American exports here if apples, pears, and oranges can be packed for such a lengthy shipment.

CHILD REACHES LONDON TO BEGIN ECONOMIC PROBE FOR ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 21.—Richard Washburn Child, President Roosevelt's envoy to study economic conditions in Europe, arrived here tonight. He will begin work immediately. He has an appointment to meet Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon at the foreign office tomorrow.

Child said his mission in Europe is "to see what the world wants to do about rejuvenating itself. To learn, not to teach, is my mission. I am going to study the situation and decide what kind of coöperation we can have to achieve economic disarmament."

Child, who was American ambassador to Italy from 1920 to 1923, was recently appointed special adviser to Secretary of State Hull in the latter's capacity as chairman of the American delegation to last summer's world economic and monetary conference in London, now indefinitly adjourned. Child will inquire into the status of resolutions and other projects left pending at the adjournment, the state department said. League of nations circle are discussing rumors that his visit is connected with a project to use President Roosevelt's recovery program as the basis for a new world economic conference.

SEVEN KILLED IN N. Y. TENEMENT FIRE ON EAST SIDE

Death Toll Includes 3 Children.

New York, March 21.—[Special.]—Seven persons, including three children, were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed the upper three floors of a five-story, old law tenement house on Second avenue, a congested east side district.

Their deaths bring to 25 the total number of persons who have lost their lives in similar fires in the last six weeks.

The dead were Mrs. Rose Brulo, Anna Brulo, 6, her daughter; Dominick Flora, Michael Flora, 14, his son; Mrs. Nancy Deddio, Frank Deddio, seven months old, her son, and Samuel Tirello.

Four others suffered minor burns and other injuries.

Many Rescued from Fire Escape.

More than a score of persons were rescued from the front and rear fire-escapes by firemen using aerial ladders. Other residents made their way to the street unaided.

Joseph Coraccio, 70 year old owner of the tenement, trapped on the top floor by the flames, narrowly escaped death in a desperate leap to an obsolete fire escape several feet away. Firemen rescued him as he was clinging by his fingers to a side rail of the escape.

Two of the Brulo family escaped. The father and a son, Gelaudo, 14, were rescued by firemen from the fire escape in front of their apartment on the fifth floor, where they were found semi-conscious. But apparently mother and daughter were overcome by smoke before reaching the window.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started shortly before 2 a. m. Three alarms were sounded.

The tenement was occupied by sixteen families.

Tragedy Arouses Mayor.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia was aroused by the tragedy which swelled the list of fire deaths in so-called old-law tenements—those which are not fireproof. The mayor, with Langdon W. Post, tenement house commissioner, is pressing a campaign to eliminate such tenements. After conferring with Fire Commissioner McElligott Mayor La Guardia issued a statement characterizing the tenements "veritable tinder boxes."

BOARD APPROVES 26 COUNTY WORK RELIEF PROJECTS

Employes to Be Shifted from CWA April 1.

Officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission announced yesterday that 26 projects, employing 17,193 persons, have been approved for the work relief program in Cook county. This program, under direction of the relief commission, will take the place of the federal civil works program when that is discontinued on April 1.

The work relief projects approved are already being carried on by the CWA. The employés will merely be transferred from the CWA to the work relief rolls. They, however, are only about a fourth of the CWA employés who will be kept on the work relief rolls after April 1.

Cook county's quota of the 115,000 work relief jobs to be provided in the state is 65,000. Since only 17,193 workers have so far been provided for, relief commission officials within the next nine days must find and approve projects that will give work to the remaining 47,807 persons in the county's quota.

The largest work relief project so far approved will keep 4,642 persons employed in the county forest preserves. The relief commission has also approved the continuance of projects under the following employing agencies in Chicago:

| Agency— | No. of Employes. |
|---|---|
| West park board | 2,481 |
| Lincoln park board | 2,119 |
| South park board | 1,842 |
| Illinois Institute for Juvenile Research | 207 |
| Quartermaster depot | 161 |
| Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium | 116 |
| City controler's office | 28 |
| School board | 18 |

The continuance of projects under the following employing agencies in the county has also been approved:

| Agency— | No. of Employes. |
|---|---|
| Sag channel improvement | 4,100 |
| City of Chicago Heights | 596 |
| Village of South Chicago Heights | 138 |
| Village of South Holland | 124 |
| Village of Stickney | 83 |
| City of Park Ridge | 72 |
| School district 69 | 70 |
| Village of Bellwood | 63 |
| Proviso Township High school district 209 | 56 |
| Village of River Forest | 54 |
| Village of Kenilworth | 49 |

| Village of La Grange Park | 47 |
| School district 64 | 32 |
| Village of Spring Forest | 31 |
| Village of Glenview | 22 |
| Palatine Township High school | 6 |

Relief commission officials announced that the total number of families receiving aid in Cook county and the total expenditures for this purpose in the county during February had decreased from the totals of January. In January 109,647 families were on the rolls, while during February 103,180 families received aid. Expenditures dropped from $3,242,606 in January to $3,100,000 in February.

Finds Half of Drunks from Welfare Center

Rockford, Ill., March 21.—[Special.]—Rockford's federal transient center was declared a disgrace to the city by Police Magistrate E. V. Rohlen this morning after court records showed that for the second successive time more than 50 per cent of the persons arraigned for drunkenness were from the center.

TIGHTEN GUARD AT OHIO TRIAL OF DILLINGER'S PAL

Lima, O., March 21.—(AP)—Guards were more cautious and spectators were frisked more thoroughly today as state witnesses for the third time began to tell the story of the raid on the Allen county jail last October in which Sheriff Jess L. Sarber was killed and John Dillinger liberated.

Russell Clark, the third member of Dillinger's gang to go on trial for the murder, yawned unconcernedly and dozed a little as the trial progressed. He is charged with being a lookout during the raid.

Rumors of a visit by Dillinger to Clark, Harry Pierpont, and Charles Makley for a return jail delivery, caused the stiffening of the guards. Brig. Gen. Harold M. Bush made further changes in his military setup at at the courthouse.

Common Pleas Judge E. E. Everett said that with Pierpont and Makley already convicted and the Clark trial well along, he considered the danger of a sortie by Dillinger increased.

Wins Divorce, Charges Her Husband Fled with Child

A charge that her husband, Harold, had fled with their daughter to Canada, was made yesterday by Mrs. Marjorie Riffle, 25 years old, 123 South Sacremento boulevard, in a divorce hearing before Judge Walter LaBuy. Her attorney, Harry X. Cole, told the judge Mrs. Riffle, a former extra girl in the movies, had separated from her husband last June 27. Judge LaBuy granted a divorce, and issued an order giving the mother custody of Patricia, 5 years old, if she can be found.

WARN THEY ARE DILLINGER'S PALS AND ROB BANK

St. Cloud, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—Three unmasked men rode up to the Citizens' State bank here today in a blue coupe with an Indiana license tag, warned their victims they were members of the Dillinger gang, seized about $10,000 in currency and fled into the swampy fastnesses of central Florida.

Armed with machine guns, the trio ordered Miss Edna Godwin, a teller, and three customers to lie on the floor, and then compelled P. E. Kirkpatrick, cashier, to open the vault and hand out all cash and securities.

HUNT DILLINGER IN NORTH WOODS OF TWO STATES

Ironwood, Mich., March 21.—(AP)—Dozens of sheriffs and police of the Michigan peninsula and in north Wisconsin were searching miles of unfrequented forests tonight for John Dillinger, fugitive jail breaker.

At the Gogebic county jail in Bessemer Sheriff Denis O'Leary questioned John Hosmer, 29, who last night said he encountered a motorist identifying himself as Dillinger at the sawmill village of Marinesco.

Hosmer said an automobile ran down a woman on a village street. Two of the six men in a large sedan picked her up and sped away, saying they would take her to a hospital. Hosmer said he tried to talk to them, but one drew a pistol and exclaimed, "Get out here; I'm Dillinger."

Trotting Club Seeks Revival of Sport Here

County Fair Grounds Will Be Scene of Races.

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

Two score years ago in the winter time hundreds of citizens from street urchins to the Four Hundred lined the curbs of Grand boulevard, then South Park way, from 31st street north to 23d street to watch the Sunday morning trotting races with John R. Thompson and other gentlemen drivers urging their sleigh horses up the double boulevard. In the summertime racing enthusiasts turned to the fashionable Washington Park club where gentlemen drivers raced fleet trotters.

Today a group of men who were prominent in trotting circles then have organized a club at the Cook County Fair grounds at River road and North avenue. It is the Chicago Riding and Driving club, intended to revive interest in trotting horses. The club will open on Memorial day with a polo game and a horse show in addition to the trotting races.

Henry H. Knight is the club's temporary president, Frank Fulton is vice president, and Thomas B. Hogan is secretary. Mr. Knight, who with Mrs. Knight moved here from Columbus two years ago and took an apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive, is one of the most active men in trotting circles in the country. He has a trotting horse stock farm in Kentucky, his and his wife's original home, and is said to be the only man who owns two stallions which trot a mile in two minutes—Calumet Adam, raised by Warren Wright, and Mr. McElwyn.

The old Washington Park club was the first trotting club in Chicago. When the property and upkeep became too costly the members moved to the site of the South Shore Country club, which is an outgrowth of the old Washington Park club. Later the racing moved to Austin.

Another famous club was the Wheaton Gentlemen's Trotting club. Such sportsmen as Solomon A. Smith, the late Arthur Caton, E. A. Lord, and Frank Sanford Gordon were members of the Wheaton club before it broke up in 1916. Two years later the Austin club disbanded. Life moved at such a different pace after the war and the members began shipping their horses away to compete at Indianapolis and other more professional tracks that the trotting race structure crumbled.

Twenty-five men gathered for dinner two months ago and laid the plans for the new Chicago Riding and Driving club. Most of them had kept their trotting horses and have indulged in the sport quietly during the last sixteen years. Now there are a hundred members of the club.

Because the spectators become restless between heats at trotting races the club has planned to run a horse show between races. It will be different from the usual horse show in that the judging will be based on the horsemanship and skill of the rider rather than on the quality of the horse. There will be classes for every one from children to mothers and fathers, and a class in which the whole family will compete. The polo games will be played by amateurs. The races and the horse show will be held in the evening as well as in the afternoon of Memorial day, for the field is lighted.

Trotting is a sport that formerly had a tremendous following in Chicago. One of the outstanding men in the field is Cornelius G. K. Billings. He once owned one of the finest matinee stables ever assembled by an amateur, and held many world championships. All Chicago was thrilled the day he raced his world champion trotter, Lou Dillon, a mile in two minutes flat. He also owned Uhlan, another world champion.

Uhlan was dethroned fourteen years ago by the present world champion, Peter Manning, who trotted a mile in one minute 56¾ seconds. The late William Monroe Wright raised Peter Manning on his Libertyville farm, and Peter's sire, Azoff, was owned by John R. Thompson, who also had a stock farm at Libertyville. Mr. Billings is living in California now, and still enjoys riding and driving.

When the Austin club broke up Mr. Billings and Fred Hartwell took their horses to the Driving club in Cleveland, which has always been the criterion for driving clubs in America. John D. Rockefeller drove his horses there.

Charles H. Shaffer's Coldstream farms, near Lexington, Ky., is one of the best trotting stock farms in the country, and he has had more outstanding luck than any other small breeder. Main McElwyn, sired by Mr. Knight's Mr. McElwyn, is one of Mr. Shaffer's best known horses. The five mile drive that marks one border of Coldstream farms is shut off from the grounds by a hand built stone wall five feet high and two feet thick that stretches the entire length of the drive and is considered the finest fence in Kentucky.

The best known trotting races in the United States today are held at Goshen, N. Y., in August, when amateurs from all over the country enter the $50,000 Hambletonian stakes. The race was won three years ago by William Wright with his Calumet Butler.

English Movies Pay Fairbanks on Profit Basis

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 21.—[Special.]—Douglas Fairbanks, who is to make two pictures in England, is working there under a financial agreement which is new for him: he is to receive a percentage of any profits and have a drawing account. He is working with Alexander Korda, who did not have Hollywood at his feet while here making silent films seven years ago but who certainly has all Hollywood Korda-conscious at this time due to his "Henry VIII." and "Catherine of Russia."

In Fairbanks' first story he will do an original idea concerning the further adventures of Don Juan. His desire to look over location spots and soak up romantic impressions is responsible for the recent trip of Doug and Korda through Spain, Italy, France and other Mediterranean lands. Doug's second picture will concern further adventures of his mythical Latin hero, Zorro. Bob Fairbanks, Doug's brother and business head here, thinks Doug will try to stay in the background in this one and push Doug Jr. forward to be featured.

Charles Laughton, who won the gold statuette of the Motion Picture academy emblematic of the best movie acting accomplishment of the year, will arrive shortly to resume his work in American movies playing the elder Barrett in "Barretts of Wimpole Street," with Norma Shearer. He will get his statue when he arrives here. Norma Shearer plays Elizabeth Barrett, Maureen O'Sullivan plays Henrietta, her romantic sister.

American film followers will get a thoughtful pause out of the fact that only one of the six players nominated for the gold statuettes as the year's finest actors and actresses was American by birth. Laughton, who won the men's award is English; Leslie Howard, also nominated, is English, and Paul Muni [Muni Weisenfreund] was born in Lemberg, Poland [then Austria], although he has spent most of his acting career in America.

May Robson, one of the nominees for the women's prize which Katharine Hepburn of Connecticut won, is a native of Australia. Diana Wynyard is an English girl. So that three English players and one from Australia captured four of the six highest places in screendom's contest for accomplishment.

The impressive part that foreign talent plays in Hollywood is further emphasized by the fact that Frank Lloyd, designated as the year's finest director [for "Cavalcade"], was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and William Darling, selected as the finest art director [also for "Cavalcade"], is a Hungarian.

A few more touches of merry old England: Diana Wynyard is to costar with Clive Brook [also English] in screen version of "Sour Grapes," Vincent Lawrence's play. And Universal has brought Evalyn Beresford from England to play in a series of stories, her first being in "The Practical Joker," with Chester Morris and Marian Nixon.

Three former favorites of soundless movies are getting the best parts in a long time in "Dames," a musical featuring Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, and Guy Kibbee at Warners. The old timers are Claire McDowell, Pat O'Malley, and Mary Maclaren.

Joan Gale, second of the "four Gale sisters" of radio to get going in the movies, is working in a short at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, in which Ted Fiorito and his band are presenting "What Price Jaz." The Gale sister team split up recently to buck Hollywood individually. Jean has a contract at Warners.

The start of Lionel Barrymore's current rôle with Jean Harlow in the Anita Loos-John Emerson story, "100 Per Cent Pure," marks the 25th anniversary of his camera debut. Barrymore has played in more than 200 films since he had his first film part in "The New York Hat" with Mary Pickford in 1909.

Richard Barthelmess and his wife, the former Jessica Sargent, go to Europe in April to look over private schools in Switzerland for their children, Stewart Sargent II., and Mary Hay Barthelmess II.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is adding Lionel Barrymore and Otto Kruger to the cast of "Treasure Island." Barrymore will play the marooned pirate, Billy Bones, and Kruger is Dr. Lindsey, who outfits the gold seeking expedition.

Esther Ralston says she thinks Josephine, wife of Napoleon, was the most interesting woman in history because she never permitted any man to see her at her worst.

Two Theaters Get Plays for Spring Runs

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Horace Sistare, lessee and manager of the Studebaker theater, returned from a play shopping expedition along Broadway yesterday to announce new productions at both the Studebaker and the Princess. On April 15, in the former theater, he will stage a comedy called "Affections Limited," by the late Avery Hopwood, with James Spottswoode and Percy Helton in the leading rôles.

On April 1 he will reopen the Princess on a stock company basis with "The Rosary." Oscar O'Shea, now in the cast of "Elizabeth Sleeps Out," at the Studebaker, will be the leading man.

Sistare's régime at the Princess will be on a "play of the month" basis. On the first day of every month he will offer a new bill. "The Rosary" will run through April, "It's a Boy" through May, and "The Mad Honeymoon" through June.

He also is planning for a revival of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" at the Studebaker, with Guy Bates Post as star.

The Braille Theater Guild, composed of twelve blind men and women, will give its first production of the current season in the Chicago Woman's club theater, 72 East 11th street, tonight. Three one-act plays—"The Dear Departed," "The Undercurrent," and "The Last Refuge"—will be staged. This company won second place in the Chicago Drama league's little theater tournament at A Century of Progress last summer.

The winning plays in the tournament of dramas of religious significance will be staged in the Chicago Woman's club theater tomorrow and Saturday nights. The entries in this festival program, which concludes city-wide activities of the last three weeks, will be:

"The Undercurrent," acted by the Wilmette parish Methodist church group; "Dust of the Road," by the Gross Park Methodist church group; "Blessed Vagrants," by the Pilgrim Players of the First Congregational church, Evanston, and "A Child of the Frontier," by the South Shore Community church group. Each is a regional prize winner.

The complete cast for "The Shining Hour," which will begin an engagement in the Selwyn theater April 1, will be: Violet Heming and Conrad Nagel as co-stars; Nancy Sheridan, Kathryn Collier, John Stacey, and Theodore St. John. Miss Sheridan was last seen here as the heroine of "Cynara," with Philip Merivale. Miss Collier and Mr. Stacey were members of the "Mrs. Moonlight" company of two years ago.

Offers Spanish Version of Love Song Reversed

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Ada Tilley is a highly competent singer of soprano songs, but in addition to her own artistic merits she more than justified the recital that she gave at Kimball hall last night. That was because she presented a Spanish group, two by Joaquin Nin and three by Manuel de Falla.

Here were five enticing melodies, the fifth, if memory is correct, striking the high point to date of cynicism, of the love song in reverse. Under the title of "Seguidilla Musciana" it concludes, according to the translation, "Because you are so fickle, I compare you to a peseta which passes from hand to hand until it finally becomes thin and people think it is bad and nobody will take it."

Apparently the Spaniards have their own ideas about what sort of moods will take lyric treatment, but these words can give no idea of the bewitching tune De Falla devised for their setting.

Elsewhere, and because of better known songs, Miss Tilley was more subject to comparison with other singers, and she came off well in the test. Her voice has quality, range, and power. She is evidently both a faithful student of songs and a good musician. By no means the least of the evening's merits was the fact that she had Edgar Nelson as accompanist, a brilliant artist in this capacity as in others.

The traditional musical service of Tenebræ, a service of lights and Lenten symbolism, will be given at the University of Chicago chapel this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The University of Chicago choir, directed by Mack Evans, will be assisted by the Lindblom A Cappella choir directed by David Nyvall Jr.

Work Started on New Home in Lake Forest

Leslie Wheeler Residence to Be English Style.

BY JUDITH CASS.

While the Leslie Wheelers were far away in Aiken yesterday, the first clod of earth was turned for their new country house in Lake Forest. In these days when a new house is nothing less than an event, it seems there should have been a special ceremony for the ground breaking, but the Wheelers were anxious for work to get under way and they couldn't bear to leave Aiken and come north in this uncertain month of March.

With an English design executed by David Adler and a site opposite the Cyrus Hall McCormicks' great rambling house, the Wheeler home is bound to be a charming place. The construction will take a year, and then after that there will be the landscaping of the gardens. This means that the Wheelers will be continuing in their present house on Woodlawn avenue in Lake Forest at least until next spring.

In another week or two the old residence of Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan is to be razed to make way for a second fine new Lake Forest house. This is to be the home of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour . . . "a comfortable home for my old age," she has said, "where there'll be plenty of flowers, lots of comfortable chairs, and plenty of room for my grandchildren."

Mrs. Armour purchased the property, which comprises six acres along Green Bay road, from Dr. Bevan last spring. It's directly across from the Onwentsia club. This house, too, will be of restrained English design by David Adler.

Junior Chappells Are Going to Move.

And still more movement out Lake Forest way! Mr. and Mrs. George S. Chappell Jr. are moving this next week from their present house to another on Elm Tree road very near Mrs. Chappell's parents' country residence, that of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith. It was just a year ago that Mr. and Mrs. Chappell gave up urban life for the country.

West of the city there will be an even more interesting colony this summer than in years gone by. Just yesterday Mr. and Mrs Winston Elting decided definitly that they would spend the summer in Wayne. On May 1 they are moving out to the George Moseley farm, which comprises a good many acres and a half dozen farm buildings. The Eltings plan to live out there for at least five months. The two older sons of the Moseley family, which is living in a house in the village of Wayne this winter, have been busy trapping animals in the woods of the vicinity and thereby hangs a tale.

On a recent Saturday night Mrs. Moseley was giving quite a large and formal dinner for her week-end guests, the Melvin Brorbys, and just as the dinner party was assembling in came the two boys with the evidence of what they had found in one of their traps that afternoon. They had let the animal go, but unfortunately it was a "sachet pussy," as a skunk is called in polite society sometimes, and it had evinced its displeasure at being trapped.

In trooped the boys through the hall and up the staircase to their own bathroom and, as every one who has had a similar experience knows, the perfume lingered and almost changed the dinner party into a picnic on the lawn.

The younger boy did not realize the necessity of changing all his clothes, so later that night when he and his brother went to a movie in St. Charles they soon found themselves isolated with empty seats all around them, and it wasn't long before a very polite usher had told them that their presence wasn't as welcome as it might be, and with their returned money in their pockets, home they went, sadder and wiser boys.

Ambrose Cramers Seeking House.

Wayne and Geneva are being visited every weekend by the Ambrose C. Cramers, for they want very much to find a house out there for the summer in which to install themselves and Susie, a Scotty. Mrs. Cramer's brother, Arthur Meeker Jr., is planning to spend about two months with them, April and May.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Farwell, down in Charleston, S. C., enjoying the azaleas, will decide upon a house or a farm near Wayne when they return after Easter. In Charleston, or rather Yeaman's Hall, they are with Mr Farwell's parents, the Arthur Lincoln Farwells.

It's hard to get Mrs. Champ Carry away from Mundelein these days she's so completely wedded to her lovely house and gardens . . . Monowioto farm . . . now that they're all rebuilt after having been ravaged by fire last year. Although we haven't seen them, the report is they're more charming than ever.

Perhaps no one has ever had more fun building a house than Ralph Fletcher Seymour Jr., who has been putting up a log cabin on a hillside ten miles west of St. Charles the last couple of years. It's nearing completion, but there's still enough work to be done to make it interesting.

New Bracelets Reflect Mode of Monograms

BY RHEA SEEGER.

For some unaccountable female reason, we suppose, lots of the best shoppers have suddenly become monogram minded. It apparently started with stunning lettered effects on handbags. After all, it was soothing to know that even though you might have a handbag like a couple of others you did manage to be different with your three initials plastered in high and easy-to-see metal formations on the flap.

Now you proudly pin clips on your chesty lapels, sometimes modestly in one letter, sometimes in two, but the jingles that will charm you and hold your interest for weeks are the clever new disc bracelets of either chromium or gold metal. They are simple, smart and just what you need for street and sports costumes.

The round disc not quite as large as a quarter is attached to the end of a looped chain . . . the loop of the chain fastens over the disc and presto, all you need is the new block, black monogram to have one of the best looking identification bracelets of the moment. The very modest price tag will make thousands cheer!

Try some new Scotch . . . clear, transparent, oval bracelets of prystal with eye striking plaid designs showing through from the surface next to your skin . . . the oval shape is new and most comfortable, and the jellied look of the Scotch is most intriguing, especially if you match the bracelet with large oblong brooches fashioned in the same way.

Have you a weakness for sailors, the straight dashing models with just a bow for decoration, the kind with a good flattering brim and a well fitted crown, a sailor that will fit snugly and slant dashingly over your best eyebrow?

Ask to see the knockout new numbers made of grosgrain ribbon, black with white band [which could be changed], navy with white, and so on . . . the price stuns you, it's so modest, and the sailor itself will pull you through a month or so of funny in-between-weather till you feel safer in straws.

Good Morning!

March 21, BIG DAY! Saw "Catherine the Great," starring Elizabeth Bergner! The talkies are certainly making history easy to take!

And just AREN'T these English productions throwing down the mitten to Hollywood! Well, as our editorial writer so patly commented, a little competition never hurt anybody.

The historical film on the United Artists' screen, starring the petite German Jewess, Elizabeth Bergner—for which reason it has been barred from Germany—is a fascinating production and Miss Bergner is a completely subjugating person. The piece lacks the humor of "Henry VIII.," but it has more romance. It is, in fact, too romantic—a highly sentimentalized account of Catherine's career, ascribing to her a passion for the Grand Duke Peter which she never had, and presenting her lustful love affairs as mere figments of her own imagination, designed to make her husband jealous and attract him to her side. Catherine has been much "gentled," so to speak—but, as portrayed by the exquisitely artistic Miss Bergner, the character still suggests the iron within the velvet sheath, and the young empress' air of hesitating wistfulness is like a filmy lace, only partly veiling shrewd intelligence and an innate, diamond hardness.

Elizabeth Bergner isn't pretty. I imagine that she can look downright homely at times. But she has the something that is so much more than beauty. Her rather round eyes are like living coals; her smile is wide, radiant, and compellingly friendly; her manner is spontaneous, whimsical, sincere. She's a tiny creature, but she has a gracious dignity and is indisputably impressive in her court regalia.

The picture takes up her life at the time when as the "little country cousin" of Empress Elizabeth, she comes to St. Petersburg to wed the Grand Duke Peter, at her majesty's command. It ends with her ascension to the throne of all the Russias where she has been placed by her troops at the wish of her people, after their conspiracy to dethrone and arrest the weakling Peter has flowered.

While events do not transpire exactly according to biographical details, the photoplay as a whole offers a clear cut panoramic view of the times, customs and costumes, and the private and public lives of the Russian imperial family.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr.'s portral of Elizabeth's decadent nephew is a triumphant waving feather in that young man's cap. Flora Robson is a card as Empress Elizabeth. Autocratic, ribald, rompish—and homely after the revivifying fashion of Edna May Oliver. Her scenes with Catherine are memorable—especially the deathbed episode.

The film has been admirably directed—by Miss Bergner's husband!—and photography and sets are truly fine.

You will be impressed by the terseness of the production which, with all its magnificence retains narrative simplicity and honest directness of treatment.

[On the same bill—Walt Disney's new Silly Symphony, "The Grasshopper and the Ants."]

From the sublime to the ridiculous—or something like that.

Coiffure Styles to Fit Costume Feature Show

Public Sees Spring Event of Hairdressers.

How spring and summer coiffures can be adapted to comfortable sport or sophisticated evening dress was shown at the annual spring and summer coiffure and fashion show at the Hotel Sherman last night. The revue, which was sponsored by the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, attracted not only tradesmen, but hundreds of the general public. The association opened the affair to the public for the first time.

Forty-five models demonstrated during the evening the now fashionable coördination between the coiffure and the rest of the ensemble. Specially featured were the "Cocktail," the "Breton Sailor," "Fantastique," "Helen of Troy," and the new croquinole marcel hair styles, correct for every hour of the day.

The now fashionable streamline effect was the leading characteristic of the new coiffures, and will continue in popular appeal, according to Marc Gartman, president of the association.

Flower tiaras and other hair ornaments are being used to supplement the streamline styles, many of which have the hair straight on top, but waved directly back to the neck on the sides. The bob, better liked than ever, according to Mr. Gartman, continues to be shorter, many women preferring the natural neckline cut rather than curls.

"Braids and coronet styles are no longer in the first rank of fashion for the summer months," he said.

Added features of the revue included famous hair styles of history from Marie Antoinette to the gay nineties, the Gibson girl, and "La Moderne" of 1934. Three models appeared in costume wearing the coiffures of Katharine Hepburn, Mae West, and Claudette Colbert.

The fashion revue, under the direction of Thelma Roberts, featured simply cut black sheers with touches of white for the cocktail hour, brilliant chiffons for garden parties, town and country silk sports clothes, and fur trimmed light pastels for afternoon.

Report Patsy Ruth Miller to Wed Hungarian Student

BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 21.—(AP)—The newspaper Reggelji Ujsag today said Patsy Ruth Miller, American film actress, would marry Jeno Csepreghy, 24 years old, Hungarian student. The actress has sent Csepreghy a steamer ticket, the newspaper said, and he will leave for the United States next week with a six months nonquota visa.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Have you ever emerged from the house feeling like a million and with a smug little idea that you pretty much looked it—then caught a glimpse of your face in a true mirror under a good light? The poise goes completely whoosh when you see that you've got too much rouge on, that your mascara is smudged and that the powder is piled up sketchily here and there. It happens to us all the time—and we swear it isn't our fault. It's the fault of the lighting under which we make up.

But we've got a new gadget, and you can have one, too, if you shop for it in one of our stores, where it appears for the first time today. It's a jewel of a makeup mirror on a metal stand, the round beveled mirror is set in a hood that conceals a small electric bulb. It can be plugged in anywhere, and because the whole tilted contraption has a chromium handle you can carry it from dressing table to window very conveniently. It's rather smart looking, too, nautical in design and in three boudoir shades, ivory, green and orchid. We pounced on it for our photographic studio you'll be seeing it in some of our pictures any day now.

The hood idea, with a 25 or 30 watt bulb set in back of the mirror, assures perfect lighting for the delicate and important operation of putting on the war paint. It's indirect, with the light thrown directly and evenly to the face, all hint of shadow effectively eliminated.

The mirror can be a plain one, or, if your spirits can stand it, one of those (to us) utterly depressing magnifying affairs. They tell the truth—but it's the stark truth that shows up every large pore, every little surface bump and, worse yet, those maddening little lines. That's more than we can bear, even on our strongest days. We'll go along in blissful unconsciousness.

This mirror isn't expensive and in size it's small enough to fit into compact bedroom or bathroom space.

A Vicious Circle

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS.

Dorinda, known as Dodo Quarles, is found stabbed to death following a dinner party in her Paris apartment. Dodo, who was untrammeled by scruples or breeding, had served a drug to her guests. Helen Roderick, who was a friend of Dodo's deceased mother, was staying with Dodo. She didn't attend the dinner, but awakened early in the morning and discovered the crime and Dodo's guests lying about in deep sleep. She is able to arouse her friend, Tommy Rostetter, a journalist. Tommy's dinner partner was Dinah Blake, an American artist, whose engagement to Christopher Loughton, in the American embassy, was, according to rumor, broken on account of Dodo. Dinah is not among the sleeping guests. Tommy arouses the others and sends for the police. A doctor set the time of Dodo's death around midnight.

INSTALMENT X.

A VANISHED GUEST.

A fleet of taxis had borne the shattered men and women away to baths, beds, and other restoratives. Tommy, whom Helen Roderick had implored to wait till she could speak to him privately, lingered on, and in so doing caught a low exchange of remarks between the two officers of the law.

"Think it's true that big Englishman has got no more of the stuff in his possession?" asked the subordinate doubtfully.

"We'll soon find out," returned the inspector with a shrug. "An hour ago two of our men were dispatched to search the studio where he's living. If there's anything there they'll have laid hands on it."

All at once Tommy recalled what he had hitherto entirely forgotten. He fished up from his side pocket the unconsumed portion of the sweetmeat, with lint adhering to it, and presented it to the speaker.

"In case your men don't find anything, this is a sample of the drug we took. I happened to save some."

"You saved it? Why?" The black eyes narrowed with suspicion.

"Merely because I had important work to finish this morning. Drug taking isn't a hobby of mine, and what I did eat was sufficient to plunge me into a heavy sleep. You may remember I came only at the last minute, to oblige mademoiselle."

It was impossible to say if the inspector was satisfied with the explanation. Accepting the bitten cube, he continued to regard the donor very closely as he suggested: "Perhaps the lady who went away—she was your partner at dinner, I think—made a similar pretense and left part of her share?"

Tommy met the challenge without a tremor. "You are wrong, monsieur," he answered composedly. "I am positive she swallowed the whole lump. She was much distressed when she discovered what she had eaten."

"But, like the servant, she may have got rid of it directly afterward, when she went upstairs with the other ladies."

"I hardly imagine so. It's true she was out of the room for a few minutes, but I can swear she showed every symptom of succumbing to the soporific effects."

"Then how do you account for her subsequent departure?" snapped the officer with a swift glance at his companion.

"I don't attempt to account for anything. I do say, however, that it will be hard to convince me she had any hand in this murder."

Although he had spoken with the utmost confidence, Tommy was far from being as certain as he pretended. At the first opportunity he put through another telephone call to Dinah's flat, and from the daily servant, just arrived, learned that the girl had not come home. Where in heaven's name could she have gone? He replaced the receiver heavily and joined Helen, who, with the aid of her address book, was supplying the inspector with the names of such English and American residents as Dinah knew intimately. To his intense relief she did not refer to Christopher Loughton. The inspector pocketed his notes, announced briskly that his colleague would remain on guard to superintend the removal of the body to the Institut Medico-Legiste, where the complete autopsy would be performed, and that till further notice the salon and dining room would be placed under official seal.

"One thing more, mademoiselle. Has any one informed the victim's father of this occurrence?"

"Not yet," she stammered painfully. "There's nothing he can do, and I wanted to spare him as long as possible. For a man in his position . . ."

"Ah, yes, I understand. He is, you say, the gentleman who was received yesterday by the ministre de l'instruction publique?" The little martinet's voice showed the respect a Frenchman accords to a foreigner only when the latter's worth has been recognized by France. "Well, mademoiselle, he will have to be told now, but I am willing to leave that matter to you. We shall have to interrogate him, naturally, but we shall take care not to subject him to any needless inconvenience. Meanwhile I hope to have a report to make to you concerning the lady now under suspicion."

The instant the man was gone Tommy whispered urgently, "Quick! Give me those addresses. I want to find that poor child myself before she falls into the clutches of the police. For her sake it's absolutely essential."

"You think it will help?" She eyed him doubtfully. "I'll let you have the list, of course, but, O, don't waste time on that now! I was going to beg you to break this awful news to Basil. It's my business to do it, but I simply can't!"

He hesitated. What she asked was singularly distasteful to him, besides hindering his immediate intention. Still, how could he be so brutal as to refuse? The big, usually composed woman was on the verge of collapse.

"I'll do it on one condition," he agreed reluctantly. "You must promise to ring up all the people you mentioned and see if Dinah is with any of them. Whatever view you may take of this, it's certain she never knew what she was eating, and that, having eaten it, she was not herself. There's something deucedly queer about it all which we've got to get unraveled or she'll be in a ghastly fix. You'll do your utmost to get in touch with her?"

"Yes, yes—only go, right now, to the Hotel Mirabeau and——"

"Pardon, mademoiselle!" It was Benedetto who interrupted her, coming forward from the back of the hall. "Mr. Jethro is not stopping this time at the Mirabeau. He told me last night he was unable to get his usual room on the court, so he put up at another place—the Hotel Stanislas, Rue Berger. Miss Dorinda was to ring him up there in the morning."

"Hotel Stanislas? Never heard of it." Helen seemed surprised. "O, well, I dare say Benedetto knows."

The Rue Berger was only some ten minutes away. Eager to get the disagreeable duty over as quickly as possible, Tommy ran down the stairs to the court.

At the door of the loge the concierge and his wife, both drab, respectable people, were conversing with the neighboring butcher and, from evident signs, extracting the last drop of ghoulish enjoyment out of last night's sensation. At sight of yet another guest emerging from the scene of the crime, they stopped dead to stare with cold reserve at Tommy's dinner jacket and hatless head. The butcher withdrew and Tommy, to satisfy himself on a matter of grave importance, accosted the couple with hardy determination.

"Exactly when," he inquired, "did you close the outer doors last evening?"

"At a quarter past twelve, monsieur. It was later than usual but, thinking mademoiselle would follow her general practice of taking her guests on to some place of amusement at about midnight, we waited rather than be waked from our first sleep. When no one came down I shut the doors and went to bed."

"No one came down! You're sure of that?"

"Not after the doors were closed, monsieur. They'd have had to call cordon' in order to get out."

The statement proved conclusively that Dinah must have quitted the building prior to twelve-fifteen. If the doctor was right about Dorinda's being stabbed at some time close to midnight, the inference was terrifying.

If the boy made any effort to see you oftener you would have a chance to win him back completely. As it is, I'd leave him to this other girl for interest in some other chap.

"Dear Miss Blake: What do you think of my boy friend who claimed he cares for me, yet puts me last in everything? EMILY."

Maybe you just think he does. If he puts lots of attention behind his words you'd have no reason to think so. Don't take him seriously if he neglects you.

Five Year Beau Is No Marriage Gamble for Her

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He's been hanging around for five years now, acting the part of steady suitor. Her family and friends keep on wondering why there is no marriage in sight. So, she broached the subject to the gentleman one evening recently and he told her that he could not marry now for financial reasons. In fact, he added, he did not believe he would ever marry.

There is another young man in the background, waiting patiently for a chance to prove his worth as a matrimonial partner. Yet, the girl, who, after five years waiting, is told there may never be a marriage, is still willing to hang on, hoping.

That is love, probably! Or, habit! Or, maybe both! But "hoping" is not our recommendation. Action, we'd urge. A very definite decision one way or the other, and no fooling. After a five years' monopoly of her time a young woman has the right to know how and where and when it is going to end as a guessing game.

But that's the trouble with long engagements. The longer it is postponed the danger increases of it never turning into a happy marriage romance. The two involved get to taking each other too much for granted. There is no new interest such as marriage would provide in children, say, or in other common interests peculiar to a home. Also, the old zest for pleasing, as a pair works at it in the beginning of their courtship, suffers deterioration. The longer they keep on seeing each other, under the same circumstances, they begin to see faults and exaggerate them, because there aren't these new interests to distract.

However, if a woman wants the man who postpones the marriage day, and wants him more than any other candidate for her hand, she'd better make a bold move and know that there is a tomorrow with wedding bells to look forward to. Otherwise she may as well become resigned to the fact that each succeeding year will see a wider gap in her chances.

Maybe what the man needs is to be jerked out of his feeling of security about the girl he's been courting five years. A rival on the scene might inspire mention of the early wedding date. Anyway, something to scare him.

Work Started on New Home in Lake Forest

Leslie Wheeler Residence to Be English Style.

this morning that it is to have an historical jamboree on April 17. It's to be a day at the Chicago Historical society in Lincoln park with luncheon at 1 o'clock followed by a directed tour through the museum.

More than one of the guests that day, we wager, will be uncovering some family skeletons for the Junior leaguers are representative of many of the city's oldest families and these families have helped to make the Historical society what it is. Miss Phyllis Walsh, who is an assistant curator at the museum and a member of the league, will be one of the guides.

Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer is the chairman of the arts and interests committee with Mrs. Norman L. Pritchard, Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfs, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, and Mrs. Shreve C. Badger as members. Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings, who, as chairman of the league's publicity committee, told us of the party, is leaving this week with Mr. Owings for a fortnight in North Carolina. They are going directly to Tryon where they will spend most of their time on horseback enjoying the glorious mountain air.

Two Weddings Next Saturday.

Another wedding scheduled for Saturday afternoon in addition to that of Miss Ann Winifred McKeown of Winnetka to William S. Miles Jr. of Peoria is that of Miss Miriam Hamilton, daughter of Isaac Miller Hamilton, to Spencer R. Keare of Evanston, son of the Charles R. Keares of Chester, Pa.

Miss Hamilton will be wed at 4 o'clock in the candle-lit drawing room of her father's apartment at 3500 Sheridan road in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. A large reception will follow the ceremony.

Mrs. Dorothy Dryden, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Bowen Schumacher will be the only attendants for the bride. Benjamin Burdsall of Port Chester, N. Y., will serve Mr. Keare as best man, and ushering will be Roger Palmer of Kenosha and Bowen Schumacher.

Mrs. George B. Dryden will open her home at 1314 Ridge avenue, Evanston, this morning at 10 o'clock for the last of three lectures by Dr. Karl Menninger, vice president of the Institute for Psychoanalysis, for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society. The Evanston senior center is sponsoring the lectures. "Limitations of Psychoanalysis" will be the subject of today's lecture.

Alliance Francaise Will Meet Today.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Affleck and Mrs. James W. Marshall will preside at the tea table at this afternoon's causerie in the Alliance Française library. Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. Bernard J. Mullaney, Mrs. Otho F. Ball, Miss Alice Bremner, and Miss Barbara Bullard will act as hostesses.

The members of the alliance have been faithful in their work of sewing garments for the Red Cross at the Thursday causeries and dozens of articles for babies have been made this winter. Today Mrs. Giuseppe Garibaldi will recite a French monolog. Pierre de Lanux, director of the Paris office of the league of nations, will be a guest at the causerie.

The woman's auxiliaries of St. James', St. Chrysostom's and other near north side Episcopal churches are sponsoring a tea this afternoon at St. James' community house in the interests of the Penland Weavers and Potters of the North Carolina mountain district. Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, Mrs. Samuel Willson, and Mrs. George de Tarnowsky are some of those interested in the affair.

Friends of China to Hear Dr. Binyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will open their house at 2704 Lake View avenue next Monday evening for a lecture by Lawrence Binyon before the American Friends of China. Dr. Binyon is the keeper of oriental prints and drawings in the British museum and this year he is at Harvard as a visiting professor in the department of literature. His subject Monday will be "Chinese Painting."

Next Wednesday afternoon the Evanston-North Shore Smith club is going to meet at the Lake Forest home of Mrs. John W. O'Leary. A film of campus life will be shown.

Invitations were in yesterday's mail for the conference Prof. Calogero De Caro of the University of Perugia, a visiting professor this year at Northwestern, is to conduct next Wednesday evening at the Drake hotel for the Dante Alighieri society. The conference will treat of Italian art and music.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

PROCEDURE OF OPENER AFTER THREE NO TRUMP RESPONSE.

At all times the opening bidder must endeavor to visualize his partner's holding after the response of three no trumps is made to an opening bid of one in a suit.

Sometimes the original bid was made with three aces. The response must, therefore, be based on one ace, two kings and queen combinations, another king and some jacks. With three aces it is obvious that there is a slam in the hand, but is it a small or a grand slam? The only possible way to ascertain this for sure is to respond informatively. You can place your partner's cards, but he, at this time, has no way of knowing that you hold these important key cards. With three four card suits, each headed by an ace, bid each suit if possible.

The biddings:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 Sp. [1] | Pass | 3 N.T. [2] | Pass |
| 4 Ht. [3] | Pass | 5 Cl. [4] | Pass |
| 5 Dl. [5] | Pass | 6 N.T. [6] | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

1. The three aces make this hand too promising to pass, though defensive in type.

2. Slam possibilities are apparent. A force in clubs would be bad, as the opener is almost certain to respond with three no trumps, and the lead through hearts would possibly defeat a six bid.

3. Although the opening bid was made with an absolute minimum holding, North could count about eleven tricks in the combined hands. The three aces are the slam key cards and so he bids four hearts.

4. South now gives North credit for having an aggressive hand, probably two five card suits. At the same time North has accepted the slam invitation, so the club suit is shown.

5. North denies that his hand is aggressive and shows three four card suits, or two four card suits and one five carder. He definitly marks himself for three aces.

6. There is no assurance that a finesse will not have to be taken, so the final contract is left to North to decide. North has amply bid his values, so he passes the six bid.

The play:

| Trick | West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1. | ♠J | ♠5 | ♠6 | ♠K* |
| 2. | ♦4 | ♦3 | ♦2 | ♦K* |
| 3. | ♦6 | ♦7 | ♦5 | ♦Q* |
| 4. | ♦10 | ♦8 | ♦9 | ♦J* |
| 5. | ♠3 | ♠Q* | ♠8 | ♠9 |
| 6. | ♠9 | ♠A | ♣2 | ♣4 |
| 7. | ♠10 | ♠7[1] | ♣3 | ♣6 |

West must now lead into the club ace, king and jack or the heart king and jack. Whichever lead he makes, the contract is fulfilled.

1. It will be noted that North does not cash in the thirteenth diamond. If he does so, South will have to discard and then if the hearts do not break and the finesse is wrong the contract could be defeated. By making the play as above, the contract is absolutely foolproof.

Sickness May Bring Mother Closer to Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It just fascinates me, that's all—the different ways that mothers have of being mothers.

I hope the time never comes when I write for mothers about children from some aloof observation tower instead of down on the ground among them. Differences in mothers' attitudes toward convalescence have just come under my notice.

Two mothers:

One: "Betty's been getting over grippe and I'm just about frantic. She isn't really sick now and she just calls me and calls me. And I can't get my housework done and I can't get that typing done that was going to buy us a new rug. I believe she just makes excuses to get me into her room."

The other: "We're out of quarantine at last. We were so afraid the other children would get it when Bud came down with scarlet fever, so grandma made me send all the family over to her. The result was that I could devote myself to Buddie and when he began to feel better we had a beautiful time together. I'd always been so busy with my growing family and I'd never really had enough time for each one. What things we talked about, Bud and I—and the books we read. I believe I understand my oldest boy as I never would have otherwise."

You can get out of experiences what you will—something or nothing. You may never be in the circumstances of the second mother—but you need never be like the first.

Convalescence can be a nuisance—or a pleasure and an opportunity. You can fret and begrudge the time and energy it costs you. Or you can have cozy, companionable times, you can talk and read, you can sit comfortingly by with your sewing, you can let everything but essentials slide and have real leisure to be with and enjoy your son or daughter—large or small—who is getting over something.

BY MARY MEADE.

Places there are where sourness becomes a virtue. Consider lemons. Perhaps you can't, as some of us can, drink them down straight and love it, but I've yet to look the knowing diner in the eye who doesn't have a warm spot in his heart for the lemon flavor or to greet the menu maker who isn't all ear and pencil when she hears of a new way of teasing lemons into the bill of fare.

So whether you squeeze your own or (in cases where no rind is demanded) take advantage of the new, neat bottles of already squeezed lemon juice we've just discovered on sale in at least one store in town, here follow tips for what to do with the juice when you get it.

LEMON SOUFFLE.

4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 lemon, juice and grated rind

Beat the egg yolks until fluffy and light in color. Add the sugar gradually, beating all the while. Beat in slowly the lemon juice and rind and finally fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a casserole and bake in a shallow pan of hot water in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) for forty minutes or until set all the way through. Serve pronto before the mountain of fluff has time to fall.

And have you ever jellied your lemons? Not understand me, with gelatin, but with pectin for a regular to be served with the meat course jelly? The manner is simplicity itself and the flavor is most delicate and enchanting, offered up along with fish dishes:

LEMON JELLY.

¾ cup strained lemon juice
Grated rind of 3 lemons
1¾ cups water
6 cups sugar
1 bottle liquid pectin

Pour the lemon juice and the water over the grated rind and let stand for ten minutes. Then strain it through a square of doubled cheese cloth and measure the juice and sugar into a large saucepan. Mix and bring to a riotous boil over a hot fire. Add the pectin all at once at this point, stirring constantly. Bring it again to a full rolling boil and boil hard for one-half minute. Remove from the fire, skim, and pour at once into clean, hot glasses. Seal each glass with hot paraffin and cool before storing.

As for Lemon Butter, that may be one thing or it may be another. It may be a beautiful thought for filling between layers of cake or it may be a spread for dainty tea sandwiches. Pick your choice.

LEMON BUTTER
(Which Fills a Cake.)

½ cup sugar
3 egg yolks
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 lemon, juice and grated rind
2 tablespoons butter

Turn all the ingredients into the upper part of the double boiler and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Cool and use between cake layers or spread between crispy graham crackers for a lunch dessert.

The other Lemon Butter is still simpler. Merely beat until creamy one cup of butter. Then whip in gradually two tablespoons of lemon juice and the grated rind of one-half lemon. Spread between sandwiches or roll in marble sized balls, dust with minced parsley, and serve with the fish course of a meal.

And as a topper-off for lemon lovers have you yet made and subsequently sung the praises of:

LEMON CHEESE TARTLETS.

Pie crust dough
1½ cups cottage cheese
3 eggs, well beaten
½ cup sugar
Juice and grated rind of one lemon
3 tablespoons top milk
¼ cup chopped nuts

Line large muffin pans or similar molds with the rolled out pastry. Blend together all the ingredients as they are listed and turn into the patty pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about twenty minutes.

Paris Sews on Ruffles with a Liberal Hand

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Most of the dresses that the Paris dressmakers show for dressy daytime wear are all ruffled up and down. Things that never knew what a plait or gather were before are now ruffled in one of these two ways. Jackets have ruffled revers and dresses and jackets have ruffled collars or barthas. Ruching and ruffs are worn around the neck of many garments and hems that are ruffled are just all over the place. The severest suits are softened with ruffled jabot blouses and capes with ruffle trimming are smart indeed.

The Lucile Paray ensemble shown here is one of the ruffled sisterhood that Paris is pushing into the front line of afternoon fashions. It is made of pastel blue necktie silk and the hip-length cape has two ruffles where sleeves would be on a jacket. These ruffles are not stitched down to the cape in front so the arms may be bent without disturbing the cape line. A ruff of the material makes the collar.

The dress has a ruffled front hem that becomes a wide ruffle at the back and is topped by a short, ruffled panel giving a windblown back movement to the skirt. The sleeves are made of white organdy and are sleeves only at the back being used to border a fichu collar in front and making the scarf drapery around the neck.

Garden Club Has Luncheon, Talks of Show

Mrs. J. J. Mitchell to Have Notable Exhibit.

It seemed appropriate to be having luncheon yesterday, the first day of spring, with some of the directors of the Garden Club of Illinois and to be hearing much interesting talk about the eighth annual garden and flower show the club is sponsoring on Navy pier from April 7 to 15.

The decorations of the luncheon table—the party was given in a private dining room at the Palmer house—were as lovely as one would expect a garden club to have and when the guests left each wore a couple of the exquisite pale orchids that made up the centerpiece.

The show this year gives promise of being lovelier than ever and, although there will be many designs of large, formal gardens, there also will be more small gardens than in previous shows with suggestions and ideas for those who have small grounds.

What is certain to be one of the most beautiful exhibits is a reproduction in miniature of her Japanese garden in Montecito that Mrs. John J. Mitchell and her Japanese gardener started last summer and have just finished in time to show it at the Santa Barbara show before it comes here in a special baggage car that is due to arrive on the 28th.

The miniature garden is nine feet square and contains 43 kinds of dwarf evergreens. Mrs. Mitchell's mother, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, will have her usual exhibit, always colorful and beautiful, and for the first time Warren Wright is entering a garden. He is the only man among the amateurs exhibiting.

Tables for golden, silver and crystal weddings, for buffet Sunday, hunt, bridge or wedding breakfasts, and for an opera buffet supper will be included in the large and comprehensive table setting class.

Several well known members of the National Council of State Garden Club federations are coming from the east and south for the show, among them Mrs. Cyrus H. Vail of New Jersey, Mrs. Joseph Brewer of Michigan, and Mrs. Frederick A. Wallis of Kentucky.

Among those at the luncheon yesterday were Mrs. Lawrence W. Scudder, who will conduct a garden fair for the benefit of the Druce Lake camp at the show, Mrs. Dean Workman, Mrs. George A. Plamondon, Mrs. Mabel Johnson Fuller, Mrs. Daniel E. Kissam, Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker and Mrs. W. L. Karcher.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at dinner tonight with the secretary of war and Mrs. Dern as special guests. After dinner the company was augmented by other guests who were invited to attend a lecture by Randall Jones on the National park of Utah, the home state of Secretary and Mrs. Dern. The lecture, illustrated by pictures of the Grand canyon, was given in the east room.

This afternoon Mrs. Roosevelt received the new Japanese ambassador and Mme. Saito. Later she entertained a company at tea.

Lethery Skin Is Caused by Variety of Seasonal Factors

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Well, this is the time of year that the leathering occurs. The cold, biting winds have something to do with it, lack of special care something, also, and finally the internal condition may have a very great deal to do with it.

I don't need to tell you what you must do for the internal cleansing. You know what foods best help your eliminative process. All I need to do is to remind you that this is the time of year when you want to get back on salads and two green vegetables a day, lots of drinking water, and see that you are clean internally.

Then, the complexion around this time often takes on the leatheriness from so much indoor living, practically no stirring of the circulation, no exercise, and general debilitation.

Put yourself on a little program of exercise daily. Just to stir yourself out of that lethargic state that is causing your complexion to look so much older and feel worse. There is good psychology in the five minute workout. You do begin to look at your face more penetratingly. And you see, after a few periods of exercising, that there is an improved tone already due to the circulation getting into real action.

Of course, you're going to need local care and, no doubt, a lot of skin softener. By the latter I mean creams that supply oil. The leathery skin is leathery because the oil is drained out of it, and no substitute has been supplied. Wash the face with soap and water once a day, at least, but use cream after each washing. Just apply a little coating and rub it in well. Leave a bit on under the powder if you are going out. If you are in for the night, and no company is coming, leave on a good coating and let as much as possible be absorbed by the face. Whether it penetrates the pores or not does not matter. It is softness of skin you are after, and the oil in the cream will do that.

I take it, of course, that you will not use strong soaps, for they will only make the face more lethery.

Jonquil.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The first of the bright spring flowers to be seen after a long, hard winter are these happily nodding jonquils. Yellow, orange, and green comprise the color scheme for such posies, and the artistic arrangement shown in a small diagram, accompanying the quilt pattern, demonstrates how effectively these floral designs may be arranged.

SKINNY? ADD 5 lbs. of Alluring Curves This Quick New Way!

Read how new mineral concentrate rich in "FOOD IODINE" is building up thousands of nervous skinny rundown men and women

Here is a new way to add 3 to 8 lb. in 12 days or it doesn't cost you a penny. Thousands of skinny, scrawny, rundown people have tried it and are amazed at this astounding new natural way to win back health and weight. Yet these results are not unusual. Doctors know how vitally necessary are natural food minerals, often so woefully lacking in even the most carefully devised fresh vegetable diets. Unless your system gets the proper amount of these minerals, many of them needed in only the tiniest quantities, even the best food fails to nourish you, fails to build rich, red blood, firm flesh and sturdy muscles. This lack of mineralisation results in the failure to digest starches and fats in the normal diet. It makes no difference whether your appetite is good or bad, your food is converted into poisonous wastes instead of firm flesh and tireless energy.

Food specialists, however, have only recently discovered a marvelous source of practically every single mineral essential to body needs. It is known as Kelp-a-Malt, a pleasant, easy to take vegetable concentrate made from a luxuriant sea plant from the Pacific Ocean combined with diastatic malt extract in delicious, pleasant-tasting tablets. It provides in easily assimilable form virtually every food mineral needed for health and strength.

But most important of all, Kelp-a-Malt is the richest source of the newer form of food iodine—natural iodine not made from iodides or other chemicals which oftentimes prove toxic, but the same iodine that is present in small quantities in spinach and lettuce. It is the lack of this iodine which experts in nutrition say is our foremost national health problem.

Six Kelp-a-Malt tablets provide more food iodine than 486 pounds of spinach, 1,600 pounds of beef, 1,887 pounds of lettuce. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper for rich blood, vitality and strength than a pound of spinach, 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes—more calcium than 6 eggs, more phosphorus than a pound and a half of carrots—sulphur, sodium, potassium and other essential minerals.

Only when you get an adequate amount of these minerals can your food do you any good—can you nourish glands, add weight, strengthen your nerves, increase your vigor, vitality and endurance.

Try Kelp-a-Malt today. Contains no yeast—doesn't cause bloating. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of that time if you have not gained at least 5 pounds, do not look better, feel better and have more endurance than ever before the trial is free. 100 jumbo size tablets, which are 4 to 5 times larger than ordinary size tablets, costs but little. Get Kelp-a-Malt today.

CUBS WHIP PIRATES IN NINTH, 8 TO 5; SOX WIN, 6 TO 3

KLEIN'S SINGLE WITH THREE ON DECIDES BATTLE

Bush's Arm and Bat Play Big Part.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 21.—The Cubs headed straight for another flop in front of the Pittsburgh Pirates today but recovered their poise before completing their work. The Chicagoans were three runs in arrears in three innings but eventually they climbed into a 5 to 5 tie and then climaxed the affair with a winning splurge in the ninth. Three runs clattered across the plate in the last minute rally to give the Cubs an 8 to 5 victory and an even break in the two exhibitions played to date with their summer rivals.

CHUCK KLEIN.

Two of Manager Grimm's employés stood out prominently in the blast that resulted in a happy conclusion. One was Guy Bush, who would rather hit than pitch. He did both today. He throttled the Pirates effectively in the last four innings and in the ninth he singled to launch the winning runs. Billy Herman and Tuck Stainback also hit to fill the bases, and the rest was taken care of by Terrible Tiger Klein, who singled, scoring Bush and Billy Herman. Stainback counted on an infield out.

Vaughan Likes Malone.

The presence of various numerals in the Pirate run column in the first five innings was due to some unhappy experiences for Pat Malone. The big fellow has trained diligently and his one time famous waistline is no more, but his efforts meant nothing to the Pirates, particularly Arky Vaughan, who twice sailed homers out of the park. There were two other extra base hits off Pat. While this was going on the Cubs were practically dead before Leon Chagnon, but things picked up remarkably well as soon as Hal Smith succeeded him.

Augie Galan, the Cubs' infield rookie who has been wielding a wicked bat, was kept in leash today, but the reputation of the Coast league was looked after by Goldilocks Stainback. He slammed one ball over the wall for one of the two runs scored during Chagnon's régime. He singled in the sixth to involve himself in a scoring spree in which Klein and Camilli were participants. That put the Cubs back in the game. Then he produced a single in the ninth that went to the outfield with such speed that a runner on second was forced to halt at third instead of going home.

Passed Ball Helps Pirates.

Porky Phelps got tangled up in his work as catcher in the first inning which helped complicate matters for Malone. However, Pat got away with only one run being scored, despite three hits. Baby Waner led off for the Pirates with a single to left. He went to second on a passed ball and continued to third when Phelps threw the ball into center field. Baby Waner scored on Brother Paul's fly to right. Traynor also singled, but Vaughan bounced to Grimm and Babe Herman handled Suhr's tall fly.

Malone ran into more trouble in the third. Lindstrom opened the inning with a double just inside the left foul line. He went to third on P. Waner's fly to center and home on Traynor's fly to Babe Herman. Before the inning closed Vaughan hoisted a home run over the right field screen, putting the Pirates ahead, 3 to 0.

Fitz Gerald to Be Guardian of Illinois Racing

BY FRENCH LANE.

The new Illinois Racing commission appointed a guardian for Chicago race tracks yesterday.

The man who will see that nobody plays fast or loose with the rules is Christopher J. Fitz Gerald, who for a number of years has been the presiding steward for the Arlington Park Jocky club.

Report Pay $100 a Day.

The salary he will receive and which will be paid by the individual tracks will be $100 a day, according to reports leaking out of the racing commission offices late yesterday.

It was the most drastic step the new turf governing body, appointed a few weeks ago by Gov. Horner, has taken.

The commission made another move during the day which caused the racegoers in Chicago to sit up and take notice. It announced the appointment of Oscar Bachman of Chicago and Mortimer Shaw of Kentucky as "directors of the pari-mutuel betting departments at Illinois tracks," representing the Illinois racing commission.

The directors of the pari-mutuel betting departments are to receive $50 a day, according to the grapevine report, which also leaked out of the racing commission offices. This salary is also to be paid by the individual tracks.

Hails from New York.

Fitz Gerald, the new boss of the Illinois racing stewards, comes from New York. He is known as one of the strictest ruling racing officials in the country. He had much to do with making the Arlington Park Jocky club's annual summer meeting, the most noted in America.

In other years Charles F. Price has been the presiding steward at Washington Park and Lincoln Fields. Joseph A. Murphy has occupied the post at Hawthorne. John F. Ireland was the boss steward at Aurora and Sam Nuckols presided at Sportsmen's Park.

The racing commission did not say as much but there were hints around that Fitz Gerald will be in complete command of the turf ruling officials.

"All the race track associations who have filed applications for licenses have shown a splendid spirit of cooperation in adopting suggestions of the Illinois racing commission.

To Supervise Mutuels.

"They each expressed their desire and willingness to employ Christopher J. Fitz Gerald as one of the three stewards representing the Illinois racing commission and to employ Oscar Bachman or Mortimer Shaw as 'director' of the mutuels representing the Illinois racing commission."

For the last few years Shaw and Bachman have been in charge of the wagering at Arlington Park. They were in command there last year when wagering was conducted for the first time in Chicago through an electric totalizer machine.

SOX' EXTRA BASE HITS OVERCOME SEATTLE'S LEAD

Bordagaray Gets Homer, Simmons Triple.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 21.—The Chicago White Sox came up here to beautiful Santa Barbara to find a team which could get them back into winning ways after their three straight lickings in Los Angeles. This afternoon they defeated the Seattle Indians of the Pacific Coast league, 6 to 3.

The more or less glorious victory was not enjoyed without a degree of embarrassment, for all the minor leaguers' scores were acquired through the home run media. Freddie Berger, brother of the Boston Braves' talented Wally, socked two of the homers, one off Les Tietje and the other off Whit Wyatt. The other Seattle homer was the handiwork of Bill Radonits, who had the Sox beat, 2 to 1, when he left the arena after five innings of choice pitching.

Bordagary Hits Homer.

The Sox had one home run and it, too, had a coast league flavor, for it was negotiated by Frenchy Bordagaray, who was with Sacramento until last Friday. Frenchy also smacked out a double, which figured largely in the three run rally which furnished the Sox's margin of victory in the seventh.

Joe Chamberlin made his first appearance at second base and was a right agile performer there. Among other things, he participated in three nifty double plays, twice as the launcher and once as the pivot man. In every way he gave the Sox the best second basing they have had this year.

The contest, which brought the Chicagoans' standing in the exhibition season to three games won and three games lost, was witnessed by a capacity crowd of 3,000. The lads returned to their Pasadena training base after the game, there to prepare for Saturday's opening of their 14 game spring series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

All Eager to Pitch.

While none of the members of Fonseca Rockin' Chair squad of pitchers participated in today's affair, Lew's recent announcement of the play-or-no-pay policy, has renewed zealous endeavor and all the former lazy fellows are crying for an opportunity to work against the Pirates.

But getting back to the details of the performance here the Sox scored their runs as follows:

Third inning: Tietje singled to right and after Swanson had filed out, was forced by Bordagaray. Bordagaray stole second and got to third on a throwing error. He scored on Bonura's second single.

Sixth inning: The Sox tied the score when Appling walked with one down, took third on Dykes' single and scored on Chamberlin's forcing of Dykes.

Seventh inning: Swanson and Bordagaray doubled and, after Bonura had fouled out, Simmons tripled. Simmons scored on a wild pitch.

PEA RIDGE DAY, FORMER PITCHER, TAKES OWN LIFE

Kansas City, Mo., March 21.—(AP)—Clyde [Pea Ridge] Day, 32, former National league pitcher, committed suicide here today by slashing his throat with a hunting knife.

Day came here Monday from his Pea Ridge, Ark., home and was treated at a hospital, where he complained of frequent lapses of memory.

Max Thomas, a former teammate of Day's on the Kansas City American Association club, said he attempted to halt Day from taking his life but was pushed aside. The suicide occurred in Thomas' apartment.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

GABBY HARTNETT has a phenomenal record for catching foul balls. . . . ## Blackhawks Open Stanley Cup Fight with Canadiens Tonight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., March 21.—The Chicago Blackhawks and the Montreal Canadiens, both of which put on spirited stretch drives to take second places in their respective divisions of the National Hocky league, will meet at the Forum here tomorrow night in the first of their two Stanley cup games. They will return to Chicago Sunday night for the second game of the series, which is decided on the basis of total goals scored in the two contests.

Although only 6,000 saw the Maroon-Ranger game here last night, a capacity attendance of more than 12,000 is expected tomorrow night because of the native popularity of the Canadiens and their long standing rivalry with the Hawks.

Canadiens' Big Chance.

For the Canadiens the series will be the stepping stone to an opportunity to regain much of the prestige which was theirs a few years ago when they were one of the most feared teams in the league and one of the few teams to win the Stanley cup two years in succession. For the Hawks the battle tomorrow will give them their first championship whack at the Canadiens since the 1930-31 playoffs, when the Frenchmen beat them in the deciding game of the final series for the championship.

Of the six teams competing in the first round of the playoffs no two are more evenly matched than the Hawks and Canadiens. Both appeared to be consigned to a third place position in the series until the closing days of the regular season. Then the Hawks fought their way into second place in the United States division by defeating the favored Toronto Maple Leafs twice in four nights, while the Canadiens took the runnerup position in the Canadian division with a victory over that group's leader, the Detroit Red Wings. The Leafs and the Red Wings will open the first place series, a three out of five competition, at Toronto tomorrow night.

Hawks Point Ahead.

The Hawks took second place in the United States division with a total of 51 points, scored with twenty victories and eleven ties, while the Canadiens finished second in their group with fifty points, compiled through twenty-two victories and six ties.

The Canadiens hold the offensive advantage, but that margin is balanced by the Chicagoans' defensive power. The Canadiens scored 99 goals during the season, largely due to the work of Aurel Joliat, who was fourth in the Canadian division with 22 goals and 15 assists for a total of 37 scoring points. The Hawks, on the other hand, boast the winner of the Vezina trophy for goal keeping in Chuck Gardiner, who allowed enemy marksmen only 83 goals during the regular season. Gardiner's nearest competitor for the honor, incidentally, is Lorne Chabot, the Canadiens' gate tender, who had 101 goals scored against him. Chabot has played in more Stanley cup games than any other present day goalie, having worked for two previous winners of the trophy, Toronto and the Rangers.

Hawks' Defense Good.

Protecting Gardiner will be four of the ablest defense men in the league, who were largely responsible for the Chicago Scotchman's fine record. These include Lionel Conacher, Taffy Abel, Art Coulter, and Roger Jenkins. They will be matched against such proved money players as Joliat, Howie Morenz, Pit Lepine, and Johnny Gagnon. The Hawks will not be without ablo forwards themselves, sending out such as John Gottselig, Paul Thompson, Lolo Couture, Doc Romnes, Mush March, and Donnie McFadyen.

The Blackhawks also hold an edge over the Canadiens in the regular season play, winning three, losing two, and tying one with the Montreal team.

INDIANAPOLIS IS VICTOR, 23-16, IN LOYOLA OPENER

1933 Champion Whips DuBois, Pa., Quintet.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Cathedral High school of Indianapolis, Ind., which upheld the best traditions of Hoosier basketball last year by winning the national Catholic basketball championship, allowed it might hang on to that title last night as the eleventh annual tournament opened at Loyola university gymnasium.

The Hoosiers evinced their intentions by defeating St. Catherine's High of Du Bois, Pa., 23 to 16, in the inaugural game of the tournament. The Hoosiers returned to the big show with only three survivors of the 1933 champion team, but that trio—John O'Connor, Dan Rohyans, and Jim Carson—performed nobly last night, scoring 19 points among them, to move into the second round, which will begin tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The first round will continue through today, beginning at 9 o'clock this morning with a program of 13 games scheduled. First round losers will enter a consolation round which will open tomorrow morning at the St. Ignatius grammar school gymnasium.

Joliet Wins, 30 to 10.

Catholic High school of Joliet, winner of the title in 1927 and 1928, also moved into the second round bracket with a comfortable 30 to 10 decision over Quincy academy of Quincy, Ill., winner of third place in the recent Illinois tournament. The losers, although they lagged 8 to 0 at the quarter and 14 to 1 at the half, were one of the most nonchalant teams ever to come to the tourney and a stranger who might have dropped in during the game would have had the impression they were winning.

Then in the third and final game of the evening, the railbirds who never miss a national tournament saw their favorites, St. Stanislaus of Bay St. Louis, Miss., lose to an alert quintet from St. John's Cathedral High of Milwaukee, 42 to 24. The southerners looked good even in defeat at least for the second quarter. Trailing, 12 to 2, at one point in the first period, the scarlet jerseyed team came back to cut down St. John's lead to 17 to 16 at the half, accomplishing this with a rally centering around Bill Schwartz, younger brother of Marchmont Schwartz, former Notre Dame star and present assistant football coach at the University of Chicago.

Incidentally, Marchy tossed up the first ball of the game, which brought ol' timers harking back to seven and eight years ago, when he himself made his first trip to Chicago as a member of the St. Stanislaus team.

Second Round Opens Tomorrow.

The second round will open tomorrow morning with a game which promises considerable excitement, bringing together Cathedral of Indianapolis and Catholic High of Joliet. St. John's of Milwaukee will meet the winner of the Central of Pittsburgh versus Catholic of Little Rock, Ark. game, which opens the first round at 9 o'clock this morning.

Although it led throughout, the Cathedral quintet was well aware that it was in a ball game. St. Catherine's team was outreached by the taller Hoosiers, but the closest they ever came was at 15 to 12 at the opening of the fourth quarter. Two skinny little forwards, Kay Callor and Andy Laughlin, were doing considerable damage until the Indianapolis team's attack began to function around Rohyans, who led the winners with three baskets and as many free throws.

McGann Leads Joliet.

Don McGann, a six foot five inch center whose legs and arms appeared to be everywhere at once, led Joliet's attack with four baskets and one free throw, in addition to being the hub of the passing. Art Simon dropped in four field goals and Eddie Matasevac contributed three baskets and two free throws.

Quincy did not score a point until

Golden Gloves Team Leaves for New York

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This is moving day for Chicago's Golden Gloves boys. At 1:30 this afternoon the intercity squad and the eight novice champions, their trainers and coaches, and other officials of the party will leave the La Salle street station on a special train over the New York Central lines. The special will arrive at Grand Central station, New York, at 10:15 tomorrow morning, eastern standard time.

A final workout will be held this morning at the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium. After an early lunch the boys will start their trek, taxiing to the station, and after a final checkup, the order will be "All aboard."

No Break in Training.

By working out in Chicago today the coaches have made it possible for the boys to resume boxing tomorrow afternoon. This arrangement and the subsequent boxing drills in New York will eliminate, it is thought, the handicap of late travel, always imposed on the visiting Golden Gloves team. Also, by inclusion of the novice champions, several of whom are by no means completely outclassed by the intercity boxers, adequate competition will be available in New York for the final drive toward perfect condition.

Coaches John Behr and Jabber Young and Trainers Issy Kline and Paddy Kane will have charge of the boys in New York. Max Marek, heavyweight, and Bud Marcy, featherweight, veterans of the 1932 invasion of Manhattan, will not travel in the special. Because of their studies at the University of Notre Dame they will not arrive in New York until next Monday.

Only Two Changes.

Flyweights—Johnny Brown, Jesse Robinson, John Noto, Chicago; Patsy Urso, Grand Rapids, Mich.
Lightweights—Phil Kenneally, Harold Brown, Chicago; Bob Foley, Gray's Lake, Ill.; Aaron Wade, Peoria, Ill.
Middleweights—Bill Treest, Batavia, Ill.; Anthony Zale, Gary, Ind.; Fred Caserio, Rudolph Wittek, Chicago.
Light heavyweights—Arlo Soldati, Rockford, Ill.; Peter Gregaitis, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Cooney Tucker, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Walter Mack, Chicago.
Heavyweights—Otis Thomas, Kurt Bartz, Chicago.

Because only two of these boys won 1934 Golden Gloves titles, and consequently are the only boxers who must fight the respective New York winners, the coaches have a wide latitude in naming the intercity group of 16 boys who will fight in Madison Square Garden on the night of March 28.

Treest Named Captain.

Bill Treest, middleweight champion, will captain the squad. Treest was an alternate in the 147 pound class in 1932. Last year he was beaten in the Chicago middleweight finals by Freddie Caserio, whom he whipped this year in the championship final. Caserio, a captain of the 1931 team, which defeated New York 13 bouts to 3, and Max Marek, who captained last year's victorious intercity team, will act as co-captains and will assist Treest in his duties.

UNBEATEN KING OF GAME MEETS ITS BEST STARS

Field of 69 Battles at Augusta.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Augusta, Ga., March 21.—Robert Tyre Jones Jr., former undisputed master of the golf world, will return to competition tomorrow for the first time since he retired after winning four-ply American and British honors, the first time it ever was accomplished, in 1930.

BOBBY JONES.

This comeback, although it is not a comeback in the sense Jones will continue in competition, will take place over the comparatively level course of the Augusta National Golf club, of which Bobby is president, a course calling for long drives and accurate irons.

Is Jones Still Jones?

With Jones so long a dominant figure that his retirement created a hiatus which lessened interest in national open and amateur events, this return has created unparalleled interest and speculation among golf followers.

Is Bobby as good as ever? Can Bobby still beat the leading professionals? These and similar questions are asked all over the country where experts and duffers congregate.

It is not unlike the excitement created when old Jim Jeffries, retired heavyweight champion, was dragged from retirement as a "white hope" against Jack Johnson at Reno, or when Jack Dempsey again donned boxing gloves to meet Gene Tunney at Philadelphia. It differs from those occasions in that no championship is involved, yet interest is just as keen as if a title were at stake.

It's No Soft Touch.

Jones has picked no soft spot for his come back. Entrants who accepted prized invitations to participate read like a list of golfdom's "Who's Who." Nearly all the great professionals, present and past, and many of the leading amateurs are comprised in this field which tees off for 72 holes, four rounds of eighteen holes in four days, of medal play.

As so often in the past, the issue will be Jones against the field. Perhaps it should not be that way. There are several professionals, who, on records and recent performances, figure with theoretical chances at least to equal the Atlanta star, who began his stardom at 14 years, won 13 major titles and now has reached the ripe old age of 32. So great, however, is Jones' prestige that both professionals and the public accept the gage on that basis. In a field of 69, none of them other than an accomplished shotmaker, that is a herculean accomplishment to ask of even a Jones.

Rivalry Is Keen.

While so far as can be observed there is no actual bitterness in the struggle, it would be beside the facts to say the keenest rivalry does not exist. Victory of any one of their number over the former master will be welcomed by the pros. To them, golf is a livelihood. To a certain extent, it must impair their standing if Jones again shows supremacy.

In his former competition, Jones was an amateur. He now derives indirect profits from syndicated newspaper writings and golf films. Knowing the young man, however, we are confident all mercenary thoughts will be subordinated, once he is out there on the links, to the concentrated wish, and Jones is a master of concentration, to prove that he is as good as he ever was.

Bobby Has Advantage.

Tactical advantage, so far as the public is concerned, is with Bobby. If he repeats former triumphs he is again on a throne which he relinquished, but which never was taken away from him in actual test. If he falls before one or more players in that superb field, his admirers will advance the excuse that his absence from action dulled, not perhaps his game, but the concentration and finesse essential, along with a certain amount of good luck, to take an important event in which the field is so evenly matched.

Paul Runyan, Olin Dutra, Wiffy Cox, the veteran Mac Smith, and Denny Shute are only a few of those

PHILLIES DEFEAT DODGERS, 3-2, ON RUN IN NINTH

Brooklyn Gets Only Seven Hits.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—A pass, handed to Ethan Allen by Leslie Munns in the ninth inning with the bases loaded, gave the Phillies a 3 to 2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

With one out and the score tied, Manager Jimmy Wilson tripled to left. Harvey Hendrick and Dick Bartell were intentionally passed, but after Chiozza had forced Wilson, Munns was unable to find the plate for Allen and forced the winning run home. Score:

| Philadelphia (N.) ...000 000 001 | 3 | 9 | 0 |

BRAVES WIN, 8 TO 1.

BROWNS, 2; GIANTS, 1.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—Held to four hits by a pair of rookies, Big Jim Weaver, and Buck Newsom, the world champion New York Giants dropped a 2 to 1 decision to Roger Hornsby's St. Louis Browns today.

The Browns pounded Roy Parmelee, the Giant's speed ball pitcher for a run in the first inning on singles by Burns, Puccinelli and Campbell, and then added another off Al Smith in the seventh when Cliff walked, Grube dropped a single in right, and Newsom sent a fly to Homer Peel. Score:

INDIANS BEAT PELICANS.

New Orleans, La., March 21.—[Special.]—The Cleveland Indians defeated the New Orleans club of the Southern Association, 6 to 5, today. A run in the sixth inning gave the Indians victory. Score:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| New Orleans.....000 302 000— | 5 | 11 | 5 |
| Cleveland .....020 001 00*— | 6 | 11 | 1 |

HACK WILSON SIGNS.

LINKE IN SHAPE.

Biloxi, Miss., March 21.—(AP)—Ed Linke, who ate himself out of a job with Washington's Senators last year, is reducing this season by giving up potatoes and pork.

He made up his mind on his 21st birthday, last November, that he wasn't going to let his stomach come between him and a baseball career. Before spring training began he had dropped from 212 to 192. Now he has better than a fair chance to do regular duty this season.

TRADE WINDS BLOW.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics' training camp buzzed today with reports that the Athletics were dickering with the Boston Red Sox for Pitcher Bob Weiland in a deal involving Lou Finney. The Athletics also were reported to be interested in obtaining Catcher Hank Ericksen from the Louisville Colonels. Manager Connie Mack, however, would not acknowledge he had any trades under consideration.

BOSTON ENDS DRILL.

Sarasota, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox ended preliminary training today and Manager Bucky Harris reported every member of his veteran squad ready for the long exhibition series, which starts tomorrow against the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton and continues almost up to the American league opening.

YANKEES IN LONG DRILL.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—The New York Yankees spent a day sharpening up their batting eyes in a long drill. Joe Sewell was called home to Tuscaloosa, Ala., by the serious illness of one of his children.

REDS MAY GET FLOWERS.

Tampa, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—Acquisition of Jake Flowers, Buffalo infielder, and the release of Harry Rice, veteran outfielder, was in sight as the Cincinnati Reds went through training today.

Buffalo, it was reported, is to reply tomorrow to an offer General Manager Larry MacPhail made for the ex-Brooklyn player. Rice, meanwhile, is slated to go north with a "second team" from the training camp, starting an exhibition swing of its own. Sparky Adams will manage the crew of 28, mostly rookies.

TIGER REGULARS MAY START.

Lakeland, Fla., March 21.—(AP)—When the Philadelphia Athletics meet the Detroit Tigers in their exhibition game tomorrow Manager Mickey Cochrane may use the players who will be the Tigers' starting lineup when Detroit opens the American league pennant race.

Cochrane, after watching his rookies overwhelm a House of David team, 14 to 1, will send his regulars against the team managed by his former boss, Connie Mack. In the infield Cochrane now plans to start Hank Greenberg at first, Charley Gehringer at second, Francis [Salty] Parker at short ston, and move Bill Rogell over to third as an experiment.

Rickett's Girl Five, Great Northern Laundry to Meet

The John E. Rickett's girls' basketball team will play the Great Northern Laundry girls at Lincoln Park Civic hall, 1725 North Wells street, Saturday at 8 p. m. The game will be followed by dancing and entertainment, to defer expenses of the two girl teams, both of which are going to Wichita to play in the National A. A. U. women's basketball tourney.

SMITTY—SAFETY FIRST

Cubs Score 3 in Ninth; Beat Pirates, 8 to 5

Both Score in Fifth.

The fifth inning also produced one run for each of the principals, making the score 5 to 2. Grimm opened the Cubs' half with a single to right and a wild pitch sent him to second base. English and Phelps were disposed of but Lavagetto fumbled Malone's grounder and Grimm crossed the plate.

In the Pirate half Vaughan sent his second homer over the right field fence. Suhr then singled, went to second on Babe Herman's fumble, and Lavagetto walked, but Malone dodged further damage. That completed his work for the day.

The Cubs did business in a big way off Smith. It was the first inning in which they were able to get more than one hit. With Billy Herman out of the way, Stainback banged a single to left and raced around to the plate on Klein's double to the same spot. Klein moved over to third while Babe Herman was being disposed of. An infield hit by Camilli let Klein hike home. Then the Cubs tied it at 3 apiece in the seventh on a pass by Phelps, his steal of second, a bad throw by Catcher Padden, and a single by Billy Herman.

Bush Gets That Hit.

The big Cub party in the ninth started with Bush singling to right. Galan popped out to complete a futile day at bat. W. Herman singled and Stainback did the same, filling the bases. Klein stepped into this choice spot with a line single to center, Bush and W. Herman crossing the plate. A pass to Babe Herman reloaded the bags. Smith threw out Camilli, Stainback scoring on the play. Bush had no trouble stopping the Pirates in the last half of the ninth.

English was employed at short today because of a slight mishap to Bill Jurges. The latter was engaged in pre-game practice when a batted ball smote him over the right eye, inflicting a cut. The other cripples of the party are doing well, however.

Hartnett's slightly fractured left third finger is mending properly, it was revealed this morning by an X-ray negative. Bill Lee, the flu victim, is well enough to sit up, but will remain in his room for several more days.

For tomorrow's game with the Pirates, the Cubs will use Roy Joiner and Lon Warneke. The Pirates' pitchers due to be employed are Larry French, a southpaw, and Old Man Waite Hoyt.

$500 Prize Is Drawn by Oak Park Woman

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, March 21.—A few Americans were lucky again today in the second drawings in the Irish Free State sweepstakes on the running of the Grand National steeplechase at Liverpool Friday.

American ticket holders won two of ten prizes, each of which was worth approximately $30,000.

Two Brooklyn women—Eleanor Carabet and Ruth Marshall—shared one of the valuable tickets. The other was held by Samuel Karp of 116 Pleasant street, Dorchester, Mass.

One of the other winners was a Corsican and all others were residents of Great Britain.

Chicagoan Wins $500.

After the drawings of the ten tickets worth more than $30,000 each there was a distribution of 1,800 more prizes of $500 each.

Two other tickets in this list were signed "724, U. S. S., Chicago, N. N. C. division, care seller," and G. O. Perodeau, U. S. S. Chicago, New York City.

Several of the tickets drawn today were held by Californians, most of them having been sold in San Francisco.

The prizes drawn from the big golden drum today were "prizes without worry." The outcome of the race will not affect any of the ticket holders.

Final Drawings Today.

The final drawings will be made tomorrow and the lucky ticket holders will get about a third of the more than 9 million dollar list of prizes.

The drawings to date indicate that about 15 per cent of the total prizes will go to Americans, 70 per cent to residents of the British isles, and the other 15 per cent to ticket holders in wildly scattered parts of the civilized world.

ALMOST FORGETS PURCHASE.

A modest old white haired woman received the greatest news of her life yesterday when she was informed that she had a winning ticket in the Irish sweepstakes. She is Mrs. Gussie O'Donnell, 742 South Taylor avenue, Oak Park. Mrs. O'Donnell will receive 100 pounds, which is approximately $500 in American money.

"Many things can be done with $500 nowadays," said Mrs. O'Donnell when asked what she would do when she received the money. "I bought the ticket for $2.50 about three months ago and never thought of it again until yesterday."

Londos Wins as Garibaldi Misses Tackle

Jim Londos successfully defended his claim to the heavyweight wrestling championship last night at Chicago Stadium by defeating Gino Garibaldi, the ex-Illinois coal miner, after 50 minutes and 3 seconds. Garibaldi was counted out by Referee Emil Thiry after he had missed Londos and knocked himself out in a plunge from the ring.

The crowd of 5,710 which paid $8,180 to witness the show sensed that the bout was over when, late in the match, Londos picked up his opponent and hurled him on the canvas several times. When many were starting to don their coats, Garibaldi suddenly came to life. He knocked Londos out of the ring for a count of 14.

He Will Live.

Just as Londos was climbing through the ropes Garibaldi attempted a flying tackle, missed and hit his head on the press bench. He was carried to his dressing room, apparently unconscious.

Dr. Frank La Gorio of the state athletic commission, said no bones were broken and Gino probably will be able to go through with a bout against Sol Slagel at Springfield, Ill., tonight.

In the meantime Londos was stumbling around in the ring with anguish written on his face. When he was given the decision the fans booed lustily. His sufferings were so gallantly portrayed that some wondered whether he would be able to keep a wrestling appointment with Ray Steele at Detroit tomorrow night.

Singh Makes Good,

The Chicago debut of Jagot Singh, Punjav, India, wrestler, was a success. He threw Frank Speers of Atlanta, Ga., with a flying arm lock after 14 minutes and 5 seconds.

The sportsmanship of Sammy Stein was not enough to sway the judges in his 30 minute time limit encounter against George Zaharias of Pueblo, Colo. It was called a draw.

Dick Shikat, a straight man in the Londos troupe, scored a victory over the rough and wild looking redhead from Salt Lake City, Utah, Pat O'Shocker, in 23:41 with a body slam.

Krone Obtains Injunction; Mat Show to Go On

Wrestling will continue at the Arcadia Gardens Tuesday night under the protection of the law, Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday granted Doc Krone an injunction against the Uptown Amusement corporation, prohibiting the corporation from turning Krone, his cast, headlined by Gus Sonnenberg and Jack Smith, and the customers out into the street at 4444 Broadway.

The injunction, a temporary restraining order, was handed down after the Uptown Amusement corporation, through its officers, Thomas J. Shaughnessy, president, and Michael Agazin, treasurer, had notified Krone that they were perfectly willing for him to hold a wrestling show on the north side but he could not hold it in their building until he had signed a new lease.

Krone, thoroughly schooled by many masters of guile through years upon years of association with wrestlers, thought he sensed something unusual about the notification and hied himself into court, where he explained to Judge Lindsay that his contract with the Uptown Amusement corporation prohibited him from holding a wrestling match anywhere on the north side except in the Arcadia Gardens.

The corporation contended that Krone's lease was illegal because it had not been ratified by the board of directors. Krone, however, had sufficient faith in the legality of the agreement that he did not care to risk suit for breach of contract by setting up his ring in another hall next Tuesday. He had paid the Uptown Amusement company $789.70 rent, he said, the equivalent of 10 per cent of the gross gate minus federal, state and city taxes for seven shows held at 4444 Broadway since last Nov. 1.

Judge Lindsay's order preserved Krone's heavyweight presentation Tuesday night and will continue his lease in effect until Nov. 1, 1938, unless the corporation files an answer to the temporary injunction. In that event Krone will ask that the temporary decree be made permanent.

Meantime the wrestlers scheduled to appear in the Arcadia show are reported to have been continuing their training, diligently refraining from following the legal machinations to keep their minds on the all important matter of condition and perfection of holds.

J. O. Y. Volley Ball Play Reaches Second Round

Additional early round games will be played on Saturday night at the J. P. I. and the finals are scheduled for the J. P. I. Sunday. Six champions will be decided in three divisions for boys and girls.

THIS TELLS WHY BROOK TROUT IS SO GAYLY GARBED

BY BOB BECKER.

When the trout fishermen get busy in May visiting various streams with their fly rods, they invariably notice a difference in the coloring of fish taken from certain waters. Many reasons have been given for these variations. In some cases anglers ascribe high coloring of trout to food, water conditions, sex, and what not. In other cases, we have heard fishermen state that a highly colored brook trout was vividly tinted because it was a native fish, not one grown in a hatchery and then planted in the stream.

Some Are Rainbows.

It is common knowledge that some streams and ponds in the north country produce brook trout that are more brilliant than others. We have found this true in years of trout angling in Wisconsin, Michigan, Canada, and other localities. Last spring we waded into a Michigan stream where the brook trout were uniformly dark with a minimum of striking reds in their makeup.

Less than 10 miles from this fishing water we caught brook trout that were as gaudy and gayly tinted as any angler would want.

Recently the fish culturists have been able to figure out pretty definitly just which factors make for these differences in coloring. It is now generally conceded that these factors are responsible: food, sex, light, and water conditions.

Colors to Order, Now.

Inasmuch as fishermen throughout the country generally want bright colored fish when they begin putting them in the creel, it was up to the fish culturists to produce them if possible. Out of their experiments has come some mighty interesting information.

For example, this fact was learned about the part that certain foods play: A group of small trout were kept under laboratory conditions in a hatchery and fed daphnia. They received nothing else but these "water fleas," which are so eagerly desired by tropical fish fanciers as food for their exotic species. Daphnia is an aquatic organism that is the chief food of small fishes living in a natural state in our fishing waters. The digestive quality of the daphnia, plus their high mineral content and the other body building requirements, produced the most vividly colored brook trout that could be imagined.

Limestone Water Helps.

However, it is not very practical to secure a supply of daphnia sufficient for any large number of trout. Another interesting fact learned in the experiments with brook trout was that limestone waters produce more vividly colored specimens than those raised in waters devoid of limestone. Of course, it is well known that the male trout is always inclined to be more brilliantly colored than the female.

Bobby Jones in Comeback Attempt Today

mentioned as likely to upset the Georgian. Perhaps Runyan has the most individual followers. Yet the chap who makes a book on these events offers only 8 to 1 against Bobby in a field of 61, and if much support is forthcoming he'll rub that figure. That's what they think of Bobby Jones three years after his retirement.

Jones' Putting Erratic.

As Jones stepped off the tee today for a practice round of Scotch foursomes with Ross Somerville he said, "I hope to be able to go four fast rounds, but I can't even venture a prediction on what will happen in the tournament. It looks like a wide open tournament to me, and I hope we will have a good time."

Jones, however, gave his backers misgivings in the trial round with an erratic exhibition of putting. Jones, using a replica of the famous "Calamity Jane" now in the trophy room of the Royal and Ancient club at St. Andrews, Scotland, had difficulty finding the proper line on the fast greens and missed several short putts. Following the round he spent an hour on the practice green without appearing to regain his former noted touch. His game from tee to green, however, appeared as sound as ever.

16 PREP TEAMS OPEN PLAY TODAY FOR STATE TITLE

Thornton Faces Streator in Outstanding Game.

Champaign, Ill., March 21.—[Special.]—Interest in Illinois high school basketball is expected to reach a new peak tomorrow, when sixteen sectional champion teams, survivors of a field of 856, play the opening round of the state tournament finals on the University of Illinois floor.

10 a. m.—Charleston vs. Freeport.
11 a. m.—Quincy vs. Centralia.
2 p. m.—Lawrenceville vs. Moline.
3 p. m.—Urbana vs. Peoria Central.
4 p. m.—Marion vs. Equality.
7 p. m.—Champaign vs. Marshall.
8 p. m.—Springfield vs. Lane Tech, Chgo.
9 p. m.—Streator vs. Thornton, Harvey.

The eight quintets which win tomorrow will play Friday afternoon or night and the four victors will engage in semi-finals Saturday afternoon. The championship game will be played at 9 o'clock Saturday night, preceded by the consolation contest for third place at 8 o'clock.

Expect Attendance Mark.

With the number of contending teams increased from eight to sixteen, University of Illinois authorities believe attendance records will be broken for the opening day and are installing extra ticket booths and gatemen to handle the crowd. The attendance record of 15,694 was established at the 1931 finals.

The climax of the opening bracket is expected to come in the last game tomorrow night when Thornton of Harvey, champion last year, coached by Jack Lipe, former Illinois player, encounter Streator, Big 12 champion. Probably no prep team has ever captured the imagination of fans in the state as has Thornton. The speed and skill of the champions is reflected in a record of 31 victories and one loss, to Flora. Thornton is headed by Louis Boudreau and has two other veterans in Darwin Hutchins and Tom Nisbet.

Thornton Beats Streator.

Streator, coached by Pop Dale, whose teams have won 15 out of 16 district titles, lost to Thornton during the Christmas holidays, 22 to 20.

The only other finalist of last year to return is Springfield, which lost to Thornton by one point in the 1933 championship battle. Mark Peterman, bringing a Springfield team to the finals for the third consecutive year, also led five Canton teams here and heads the list of coaches whose quintets have been final contenders. Springfield has a new team which has a difficult assignment in its first game in which it meets Lane Tech, Chicago champion and winner of the University of Chicago tournament. Lane has won 24 and lost two games.

Marshall Meets Champaign.

Marshall, the other Chicago entrant, and Champaign, which are paired tomorrow, were runnersup in their district tournaments. Lawrenceville and Marion are two other contenders which were unable to win their district titles, but were admitted to the sectionals under the new regulations.

The second game tomorrow morning brings together two strong teams, Quincy and Centralia. Quincy, a big team, won from Centralia by one point in the Pontiac holiday tournament. Quincy is picked by many as a potential state champion. Centralia, coached by A. L. Trout, will offer a whirlwind attack in which Lowell Spurgeon is featured.

Equality Is Threat.

The dark horse is generally regarded as Equality, which represents the smallest community and school. The Gallatine county team won 32 games and lost one, scoring 1,418 points. Equality is coached by Dolph Stanley, a native of Marion who played under Coach Paul Houghton, whose Marion team is bracketed with Equality tomorrow. Equality has defeated Marion in one game 40-26.

Moline, coached by George Senneff, Illinois half back in 1912, 1913, and 1914, and led by a six foot center, Bill Hart, opposes Lawrenceville, which won a sensational victory over Eldorado to qualify.

Urbana Faces Peoria Central.

Urbana, appearing in the state final for the first time, encounters Peoria Central, a team which may go farther than generally expected if Coach Salen Herke's boys get "hot," as they frequently do. Charleston, Urbana and Freeport have partisans, but are not listed among the favorites, which appear to be Thornton, Streator, Equality, Quincy, and Centralia.

OAK PARK RELAYS DRAW LEADING PREP ATHLETES

Leading high school track and field athletes in the state are entered in the fourth annual Oak Park relay carnival, which will be held at the Oak Park fieldhouse Saturday. Several new records are expected to be established.

Among the schools which have entered teams in the meet, the largest invitational meet in the state, are Arlington Heights, Austin, Crane Tech, Deerfield, Downers Grove, Elgin, Englewood, Evanston, Hirsch, Hyde Park, Naperville, Riverside, Roosevelt, Senn, Schurz, York, Wheaton, and Glenbard.

The preliminaries will start at 2 o'clock. The final events will be held at 7:30 p. m. Glenn Holmes, Oak Park athletic director, is in charge of the meet. Dr. W. J. Monilaw will be starter and referee.

Haberski and Vine Fight on Rainbo Card

Six boxing matches and a wrestling bout will compose the program tomorrow at Rainbo Fronton. George Haberski, Waukegan lightweight, and Lou Vine of Chicago, are paired in the eight round main event. Lou Terry, St. Louis, Mo., meets Don Messina in the five round semiwindup, which is a junior welterweight engagement. The balance of the card:

Jack Krans vs. Bob Stone [4], heavyweights.
George Trapp vs. Joe Serletic [4], 150.
Jim Richards vs. Al Schiarato [4], 133.
Hank Bueker vs. Tom Habel [4], 147.

"One of the most promising lightweights I've ever seen." That was the statement made yesterday by Battling Nelson, a former champion in the division, after he watched Frank Sigilio finish boxing for a six round windup tomorrow at Cicero stadium against Midget Mike O'Dowd of Columbus, O. Nelson, who knocked out Joe Gans in 17 rounds at San Francisco, Cal., July 4, 1908, to become titleholder, was much impressed with Sigilio's aggressiveness, hard punching and his ability to absorb solid blows. Old timers recall that these characteristics were Nelson's main attributes to success.

They also cost him his championship two years later, when the referee stopped a bout against Ad Wolgast in the 40th round of a 45 round match to save Nelson from further punishment.

An amateur boxing show will be held tonight at C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. The card:

Lorenzo Lovings vs. Barney Ryan, 135.
Ed Garvey vs. Harold Samson, 135.
Pat Kennedy vs. Will Bittner, 170.
Frank McHugh vs. Jim Pasy, 140.
Chester Rutecki vs. Alex Wistort, 147.
Charles Niego vs. Joe Fisik, 160.

In the Wake of the News

DERBY POSSIBILITIES.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 21.—Of the ten 3 year olds which started in the Florida Derby last Saturday six are included in the list of 123 nominations for the sixtieth Kentucky Derby, to be run at Louisville May 5. These six include Time Clock, Agrarian, Boy Valet, Soon Over, Coequel, which finished in the order named, and Nash Brothers' Naval Cadet, ninth.

Naturally Time Clock, by virtue of his victory, has the most friends if a "winter horse" is to capture a northern classic. This black son of On Watch-Milfoil should improve. His victory was impressive. Yet Charley O., which won the event even more impressively last season, finished only third in the Louisville event and could not take the big stakes around Chicago.

Yet there is precedent for a winter horse in Inlander, third in 1933 Derby here, which won the Arlington Classic and the Travers stakes, ending the season as leading 3 year old money winner.

Those with fixed prejudices against winter racers maintain that Inlander was prominent in a year when there were no great 3 year olds. Probably true, but he ranked up with what there were. Moreover, the same impression prevails concerning last year's 2 year olds, which are now the Derby contenders, or fillies would not be such prominent choices in the future books.

Besides Time Clock, Agrarian ran a game race. Many critics thought the route was about as far as he cared to go. This opinion also prevailed concerning Soon Over both before and after the event. This son of Sickle set such a pace he and those which tried to follow his speed were leg weary when the final test came.

Boy Valet, a son of Black Servant, which finished second to his stablemate, Behave Yourself, in the Kentucky Derby of 1921, earned admirers by his third in the race, only a head behind Agrarian, and far in advance of all others. The Bradley stable, perennial winner of Derbies, also has several others in training for the blue grass classic.

P. A. Nash, before the race, said of the only Chicago owned starter, Naval Cadet, that he considered the colt had an outside chance and he was anxious to see what Naval Cadet would do. The colt, after his buffeting on the backstretch, had no real opportunity.

St. John's took an 8 to 0 lead over St. Stanislaus before Blaize and Gianeleone dropped in baskets for the southerners. The Milwaukee team then jumped ahead again, this time to 15 to 6. Blaize and Schwartz set the crowd howling with the rally which brought the score within one point of a tie at the half.

St. John's returned to the battle and at the third quarter was in front, 26 to 18. During the final period, only Blaize, Ladner and Gonzales were able to connect for St. Stanislaus, while Werner and Cook were slipping through the Mississippians' defense for several easy shots. # K. of C. Fives Advance to Semi-Finals

St. Cyr, defending champion, Englewood of the South division, Tonti of the West division and Quigley of the South End won their way into the semi-finals of the Knights of Columbus basketball league tournament last night at the 132d Regiment armory.

Englewood, which holds the title in its section, won only when Tack sank a long shot with ten seconds to play to beat Auburn Park, 35 to 34. Tonti provided an upset by eliminating Hughes, runner-up for West section honors, 20 to 14. St. Cyr defeated Setters, 22 to 16, while Quigley defeated Loyola-Hyde Park of the South division, 26 to 18.

Hold Semi-Finals Sunday.

The semi-finals will be played Sunday, with St. Cyr meeting Tonti and Englewood playing Quigley. In the consolation bracket, Hughes will meet Auburn Park and Setters will face Loyola-Hyde Park.

Auburn Park-Englewood provided last night's chief action, with Auburn Park leading until Tack's winning shot. At the half Englewood trailed, 17 to 15. The floor work and sharpshooting of Auburn Park offset Englewood's advantage in height until the finish.

Hughes Fails to Find Basket.

Hughes, one of the favorites, was unable to find the basket, being held without a point for ten minutes of the second half. Guagliardo, with ten points, led the winning Tonti club.

Quigley piled up a big lead over Loyola-Hyde Park, which was held without a basket until the first three minutes of the second half. Quigley led, 15 to 5, at the interval.

Metcalfe Is Beaten Twice by Canadian

HAMILTON, Ont., March 21.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham, star miler from Kansas university, and Bert Pearson, 20 year old Hamilton sprinter, provided the outstanding performances tonight in the 91st Highlanders' meet.

Cunningham, who recently established a world indoor record for the mile of 4:08.4, shattered the Canadian mark for 1,000 yards, while Pearson scored surprising victories over Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette university, United States sprint champion, in both the 40 and 60 yard dashes.

Cunningham, in turning back the veteran Phil Edwards, stepped the 1,000 yards in 2:12.2, only a fifth of a second slower than the recognized indoor world's record.

Pearson finished ahead of Metcalfe in the 60 yard dash in 6.5 seconds and then came back to beat the Negro to the tape in the 40 in 4.6 seconds, which equaled the Canadian record. Edwin Hall of Kansas was third in both events.

Hank Ciemann of Toronto established a new world record for the one mile walk when he crossed the finish line in 6:26. It was a tenth of a second better than the old world record made in 1910 by George Goulding and more than a second faster than the indoor mark of 6:27.4, made by Michael Pecora of New York.

Ciemann started from scratch in the handicap event and finished well ahead of D. McRea of Hamilton, who had a 75 yard handicap.

New York, March 21.—With trading extremely quiet in the listed bond market today, prices drifted lower. United States government bonds were down 1-32d to 9-32ds points with the exception of first Libery 4¼s and the Treasury 3⅜s, due 1943, which were up 3-32ds and unchanged, respectively. Specialists reported evidence of federal reserve support of the government bond market. Transfers totaled $11,290,000, against $19,720,000 yesterday.

Domestic Changes Small.

Domestic corporation issues which showed any considerable degree of activity turned in relatively small net changes for the day, with the losses ranging from fractions to 1½ points. Speculative railroad issues showed the principal declines. Industrial issues, as a group, were steadier than utilities. A handful of issues climbed to new peaks for the year.

With the outlook for a harsher debt service ultimatum from Germany at the external creditors conference to be held next month, German bonds were under pressure again today, losses ranging from small fractions to 8 points. As yet no move has been made to make the scrip payments planned to cover part of the interest for the first six months of 1934.

Other Foregin Loans Steady.

Other foreign loans were steady today. French government and municipal issues, United Kingdom bonds, and Kingdom of Belgium issues showed but fractional variations. Dutch East Indies loans were down ⅞ to 2½ points. Bonds of the Australian group were little changed on the day. Latin American bonds worked irregularly lower.

Vortex Cup.

Investors' Guide: Please give me your opinion of the stocks of Vortex Cup, both common and preferred.—G. F. J.

Answer: Vortex Cup company began business in 1911. It manufactures cone-shaped paper drinking cups and paper ice cream cups.

Net income for the year ended Sept. 30, 1933, approximated that of the preceding year, but was about half of that reported for each of the three years up to Sept. 30, 1931.

In the year ended Sept. 30, 1933, net income was $351,000, or $4.79 per class A share and $1.60 per common share, against net of $352,000 for the year ended Sept. 30, 1932. For the Sept. 30, 1931, year net income was $606,000, or $4.12 per common share, against $714,000 for the preceding year.

On Sept. 30, 1932, current assets, including cash assets of $658,000, totaled $924,000 and current liabilities were $138,000. There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 73,200 shares of $2.50 dividend class A [preferred] and 101,458 shares of common, both with no stated par value. The class A is convertible into common at any time.

Effective April 2, 1934, the common will be on a quarterly dividend basis of 25 cents a share. A dividend of 12½ cents was paid on Jan. 2, 1934.

Kansas City Railway.

Investors' Guide: I came across the following stock lately in a strong box while assisting in settling an estate—Kansas City Railway company beneficial certificates. Any information you could help me to obtain concerning this historical curiosity would be greatly appreciated.—P. S. W.

Answer: Kansas City Railway company defaulted on its July 1, 1919, interest payment on its bonds. Receivers were appointed for the company in 1920. In 1925 a reorganization plan was declared operative. No provision was made for either the common stock or the beneficial certificates of participation. The latter are, therefore, in question, worthless.

Stock Equity Not Debt.

Investors' Guide: I own 100 shares of common in a company now in bankruptcy. Is it necessary for me to file a claim to get my rights?—D. O. J.

Answer: Stock, both preferred and common, represents ownership, and does not represent an obligation of a company. Stockholders are not, therefore, creditors and have no claim against the company.

SILVER OR FIAT MONEY IS CHOICE SAYS WHEELER

Senator Offers Plea for Remonetization.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Only remonetization of silver can prevent the issuance of fiat money by the United States, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, leader of the silver bloc in Washington, said yesterday in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house.

"You can make up your minds," he said, "that you'll get either fiat money or silver. Which do you want?

"Remonetization of silver is the best way. It's safest. It would raise the cost of doing business for oriental countries and would make it harder for the orientals to dump goods in the American markets. At the same time it would facilitate the sale of American goods in oriental countries."

Asserts Congress Favors It.

The sentiment in congress, Senator Wheeler said, is overwhelmingly in favor of remonetization of silver. He pointed to the passage of the Dies silver bill by the house of representatives on Tuesday as a straw showing the direction of the wind. The senator added that he didn't think so much of the Dies bill and that what the silverites really want is "free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 15 or 16 to 1."

"Some say that this would flood the United States with silver from the orient," he said, "but it will not. If we adopt such a policy, Great Britain will have to."

Demonetization of silver by the United States in 1873 Senator Wheeler attributed to British influence. The British, he said, were in favor of demonetization of silver because Great Britain was the big creditor nation and with silver demonetized the price of gold would go up and the British would be able to buy more goods with their gold.

United States Now Creditor.

Later in his address he pointed to the fact that the United States had supplanted Great Britain as the biggest creditor nation in the world but offered no explanation concerning why remonetization, so stoutly resisted by the biggest creditor nation in the nineteenth century, should be to the advantage of the biggest creditor nation of the twentieth century.

Senator Wheeler did not spare the New Dealers in his criticism. He referred to the sending of Brain Truster James Harvey Rogers to China to study the Chicago silver situation as the "height of asininity."

"Ninety per cent of the Chinese are just one jump ahead of starvation," he said, "and most of the population is living on about ten cents a day. Why send a professor to consult the Chinese coolies on what our financial policies should be?"

Senator Wheeler told his audience of about a thousand Chicago manufacturers and business men, many of them big exporters, that the real reason for going off the gold standard was to build up export trade.

"We went off the gold standard," he said, "so that our exporters could compete in the world markets. The only way to take the men off the CWA rolls is to sell American cotton, wheat, automobiles, and other products abroad. Unless we remonetize silver the only way we can compete with cheap foreign labor is to lower our own standard of living."

Remonetization of silver at a rate of 16 to 1 would double the primary money of the world and make it possible for goldless nations to buy goods in the United States.

He cited figures to support his contention that the low price of silver had forced oriental nations not only to increase their own manufacturing plants but also to go into the production of raw materials because they could no longer buy raw materials from a gold standard country. American exports of cotton cloth to British India declined from 18 million yards in 1918 to 2 million yards in 1932, he said, and to China from 80 million yards to 1½ million yards in the same period.

Ridicules Cut Production.

"George Bernard Shaw has said that perhaps the rest of the universe is using this world for a lunatic asylum," he continued. "He may be right. We are having the farmers cut down their crops by one-third and forcing manufacturers to produce less.

"I do not subscribe to this as a permanent policy. You cannot create wealth by destroying wealth. What people lack is the means to purchase things they want and human wants are unlimited."

The senator complained about the tendency to attribute origin of the bimetallism idea to Bryan. Alexander Hamilton, he insisted, was a bimetallist and so were leading Republican senators in 1894, including Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and John Sherman of Ohio, secretary of state under McKinley.

Palmer Victor in Peoria Life Receiver Suit

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—(AP)—A writ of mandamus ordering Circuit Judge John M. Niehaus to expunge from his records an order naming two receivers for the Peoria Life Insurance company was awarded by the Supreme court today. In a vacation opinion written by Justice Paul Farthing, the court held that Ernest Palmer, director of insurance, was empowered by law to name the receiver.

When the Peoria company went into receivership, Judge Niehaus appointed Charles V. O'Hern and George A. Shurtleff as co-receivers. Palmer objected to the appointments, holding that he alone has the power to name receivers for insolvent insurance companies.

Court Is Unanimous.

His contention was sustained unanimously by the court with Justice Norman L. Jones especially concurring. Justice Clyde E. Stone, because of a personal interest in the company involved, took no part in the decision.

In the original action instituted by Palmer in the Peoria county Circuit court asking the insurance company to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed, no request for the appointment was made. After a decree was entered, Palmer named O'Hern receiver.

Judge Named Two Receivers.

Judge Niehaus refused to recognize the appointment, and named both O'Hern and Shurtleff to serve as receivers under $100,000 bond.

"From the views expressed it is clear that by the order appointing two receivers for the Peoria Life Insurance company," the court said, "the respondent as judge of the Circuit court of Peoria county, acted without jurisdiction in contravention of the statute's plain and expressed terms; that the legislature did not contravene article 3 of the constitution of Illinois by authorizing the director of insurance alone to appoint a receiver to liquidate an insolvent insurance company."

O'HERN IN CHARGE—PALMER.

Ernest Palmer, state director of insurance who returned to Chicago last night, said that the Supreme court decision instructing Circuit Judge John M. Niehaus to expunge from his records the order naming George A. Shurtleff and Charles V. O'Hern as receivers for the Peoria Life Insurance company left O'Hern the duly qualified receiver under the state director's original appointment. He declined to comment on the decision.

STOCK EXCHANGE SEAT SELLS AT $85,000 DECLINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 21.—Two memberships on the New York Stock exchange were sold today, the first at $110,000 and the second at $105,000, compared with the last previous sale at $190,000. The decline of $80,000 on the first sale was the largest change between sales shown by available records for recent years.

Sale of the membership at $105,000 brought the price to the lowest level since Nov. 2, 1933, when a membership sold for $95,000. The high in 1933 was $250,000 and the low, $90,000.

Later it was announced that a New York Curb exchange membership had sold for $22,500, off $17,500 from the previous sale. The sales announced today are the first transactions since proposed federal legislation to regulate securities trading took definite form.

E. E. BROWN NAMED CHAIRMAN OF CHICAGO CLEARING HOUSE BODY

Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank, was elected chairman yesterday of the Chicago Clearing House association committee to succeed the late Melvin A. Traylor. At 48 Mr. Brown ascends to the position which has been filled by a number of former Chicago banking leaders.

Mr. Traylor occupied the position for about two years, being named upon the retirement of George M. Reynolds, former chairman of the Continental Illinois National bank. The late James B. Forgan, who for a quarter of a century was one of Chicago's best known bankers, held the position for many years prior to his death in 1924.

The clearing house committee acts as the steering group for the association whose membership includes most of the banks in the city. The committee is made up of representatives of the 5 largest banks. Frank R. Elliott, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, is president of the association.

BAR ON POLITICS IN HOLC FAVORED BY ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., March 21.—President Roosevelt today gave unconditional approval to a senate amendment to the home loan bank bill proposed by Senator Norris which would bar politics from consideration in the selection of officials and employes who would administer the bill.

The Norris amendment was incorporated in the bill passed by the senate. It was reported at the White House to have been deleted, however, by the house committee on banking and currency which now has the bill under consideration preparatory to reporting it out for action by the house.

When President Roosevelt was asked at a press conference about his attitude toward the amendment he said that he had not read it, but added that he was in favor of keeping politics out of all relief agencies, including the public works administration and all other similar projects.

A short time after the conference Stephen T. Early, assistant secretary to the President, told newspaper correspondents that the President had obtained a copy of the amendment, had read it, and had immediately communicated to Chairman Steagall of the house committee his recommendation that it be retained in the bill.

DOLLAR EASES AS GOLD UNITS STAGE RALLIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 21.—A rally in European gold standard currencies, led by the French franc today reduced the value of the dollar .14 cent to $9.31 cents. The franc rose to 6.605 cents, the highest quotation since last November.

Special factors influencing the franc were news of the purchase by a group of Dutch banks of 100,000,000 guilders of French treasury bonds and an urgent demand here for German marks which, in the absence of sufficient offerings, led to purchases of francs with which to buy marks.

The British pound eased slightly to $5.11⅛ and the Canadian dollar strengthened a few points to 99.95⅞ cents.

The London bar gold price declined 2 pence to 136 shillings. Approximately $3,015,610 was purchased at an equivalent of $34.78 a fine ounce.

The New York Federal Reserve bank reported imports of $6,787,000 from England, Mexico, and Colombia. There were no exports.

Jobs in Illinois Show 1st Gain in Six Months

Employment in Illinois last month registered its first expansion in six months and pay rolls their first gain in five months, according to the report issued yesterday by the state department of labor. Increases in both instances were above the average of the season over the last decade. An employment gain of 4.6 per cent in the manufacturing division is the largest gain reported for the season since the department began to gather its statistics in 1923.

The month's gain in employment lifted the average for all firms reporting 20.3 per cent above February, 1933, and 1.8 per cent above February, 1932. Pay rolls were 28.1 per cent above a year ago but still 6.5 per cent below the February, 1933, average.

Jobs Increase 2.7 Per Cent.

For all reporting firms, totaling 2,549 in the manufacturing and nonmanufacturing divisions, the employment expansion amounted to 2.7 per cent and the pay roll gain aggregated 3.2 per cent. The average January-February gain in employment over the 11 year period beginning in 1923 was six-tenths of one per cent while the average pay roll gain has been 2.1 per cent.

The February expansion in both employment and pay rolls more than made up the declines resulting from the seasonal contraction of industrial activity in January. The last previous gain reported by the department in employment was in September, 1933, and in pay rolls in October last year.

The revival in industrial activity in February was clearly shown in the figures reported by the department on 1,284 industrial firms. Exclusive of the nonmanufacturing companies, these reported an aggregate gain of 4.6 per cent in workers and 6.6 per cent in wages.

Reports Largest Gain.

The average January-February expansion in employment was 1.5 per cent over the last 11 years and this year's gain was the largest in the department's records shown. The pay roll expansion followed small successive increases in the preceding two months.

Fifteen of the 25 cities and industrial areas in the state included in the survey shared in the month's gains. The Chicago metropolitan area's expansion in employment was the same as that shown for all reporting cities, but its pay roll expansion of 2.1 per cent was below the average for all cities. An expansion of 18.3 per cent in pay rolls was reported by 126 firms in the Chicago area, but outside the city limits. These same firms had a 7.9 per cent increase in workers.

In Chicago proper, only the printing and paper division of the 18 major groups showed employment declines. The contraction in this division was moderate. Pay rolls made substantial gains in the metals, textiles, clothing and millinery groups.

More Than Half the Money Circulating Is in Ten and Twenty Dollar Bills

Power Output Shows Record Gain in Week

Partly because of the subnormal conditions prevailing in business a year ago due to the bank moratorium, the excess of electricity output over that of 1933 increased last week to 20 per cent, the highest ever reported by the Edison Electric institute. In the preceding week output was 18.4 per cent above that of the corresponding week of 1932.

Production for the country for the week ended March 17, amounting to 1,650,013,000 kilowatt-hours, rose contra-seasonally over the total of 1,647,024,000 in the week ended March 10. Output for the corresponding period of 1933 was 1,375,207,000 kilowatt-hours.

Chicago Output About Steady.

The production of electric energy in the Chicago district held practically intact the preceding week's gain. Output amounted to 99,500,000 kilowatt-hours, or 13.7 per cent in excess of the total of 87,533,000 for the like period of last year, in comparison with the 13.9 per cent shown by the preceding week. There was a slight seasonal recession from the level of 100,710,000 kilowatt-hours turned out in the week ended March 10.

In every one of the major territorial divisions except the southern states output last week increased its lead over that of the corresponding period of 1933.

Chicago Output Figures.

Following are the output in kilowatt-hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district [last three ciphers omitted]:

| Week ended— | 1934. | 1933. | Per cent increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| March 17 | 99,500 | 87,533 | 13.7 |

FEBRUARY PRODUCTION OF AUTOMOBILES BEST SINCE AUGUST, 1933

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 21.—Production of automobiles in the United States increased sharply in February, totaling 236,876 vehicles, of which 190,253 were passenger cars, 45,096 trucks and 27 taxicabs, according to the department of commerce.

Dollar volume of retail financing of new motor cars showed an increase of 77 per cent in February compared with the corresponding month in 1933, and an increase of 36 per cent from the figure for February, 1932, the department said. The increase from January to February of this year was 67.7 per cent.

Production for February was the best since August, 1933, when 236,556 vehicles were turned out and better than any month in 1932.

Canadian Output High.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toronto, Ont., March 21.—February production of motor cars in Canada was the highest in four years, according to the Toronto industrial commission. With few exceptions, plants are operating at capacity and in some cases supplementary final assembly lines have been installed. Compared with February of last year, the output was an increase of 117 per cent. January exports of Canadian made cars and trucks exceeded those of the corresponding month last year by 146 per cent.

Montgomery Ward Leases New Store at Gary, Ind.

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday announced that a long term lease has been taken by the company in Gary, Ind., on a downtown location for a large department store. The property, at 737-755 Broadway, will be remodeled this summer and opened in October, replacing the present store at 540 Broadway.

Auto Letup Offset by Rail, Other Orders.

With circumstances converging to make employer labor relations the most prominent influence in the steel market, operations in the industry held steady last week at an unchanged rate of 48½ per cent of capacity, despite a material falling off in new automotive business, according to the Iron Age.

Shipments against past automotive commitments are holding up well, and the margin left by the recession in automotive de and has been practically filled by heavier orders from railroads and higher fabricated structural steel awards, according to the review.

While the rate of operations at Chicago has fallen two points to 47 per cent, three railroads have placed large orders for rails at local mills: The Milwaukee, 20,000 tons; Illinois Central, 15,000 tons, and the Great Western, 3,400 tons. Production in other districts is holding steady or, as at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, has risen slightly.

Analyze Difficulties.

Analyzing difficulties provoked by the disagreement between automobile manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor, Iron Age says:

"Failure of presidential intervention to avert a clash between organized labor and the automobile industry might be followed by rather general suspension of steel shipments to motor car makers, with resumption dependent on the severity and duration of the strike.

If the strike gathered momentum it might finally hit other industries, including steel, according to the journal.

Current difficulties have had more effect on operations of finishing mills than on output of raw steel.

Agreements now in force between tin mill operatives and employers are to expire on July 1. Can makers have been accumulating stocks in anticipation of possible trouble, according to the review. At present production has edged downward 5 points to 75 per cent of capacity, but may soon recover with a renewed flow of business.

Would Raise Steel Cost.

The costs of fuel for steel production would be materially raised if demands of labor groups in the bituminous coal industry were granted. The agreement with the miners, calling a 40-hour week, is to expire April 1. An increase of 10 per cent in wages and reduction of the work week to 35 or even 32 hours, advocated by the workers, would revise costs upward at least 30 per cent, according to Iron Age.

Iron Age's scrap composite has fallen from $13 to $12.75 as a result of reductions at Chicago and Pittsburgh. The pig iron composite is unchanged at $16.90 a ton, and the finished steel at 2.026 cents a pound.

LABOR TROUBLE, TRADE CONTROL BREAK STOCKS

Rail and Auto Shares Lead List Down.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 21.—With labor troubles and security exchange regulation weighing heavily on speculative sentiment, the share market dragged down to moderately lower levels today. Railroad and automobile issues were especially prominent on the decline. Traders were hopeful that the strike situations in both these fields would be settled as a result of the administration's last minute efforts, but the average trader was not staking large sums on adverse possibilities.

A sharp sell off in the price of New York Stock exchange and New York Curb exchange memberships during the forenoon served to emphasize the seriousness of current market worries. From the professional viewpoint the decline was attributed chiefly to concern over the exchange regulation bill.

Talk of Move to Canada.

Some brokers were talking of shutting up shop and moving to Canada if the measure goes through in its "revised" form. The general impression seemed to be that its inevitable effect would be a sharp reaction in market prices.

Still another bit of "bearish" news was a report that President Roosevelt had given approval to the federal trade commission's attack on alleged monopolistic practices in the steel industry under the NRA code. United States Steel common sold off more than a point and Bethlehem about twice as much. Dealings in both stocks were large. Republic Steel gave way about a point.

Silver shares dropped abruptly with a fresh downturn in the metal and for a change, the gold stocks went along with them. Homestake tumbled 18 points. U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, and others dipped 1 to 3 points.

Rails Heavily Sold.

Heavy selling was in evidence in the carrier division despite improved carloadings figures. Losses running to more than 2 points were suffered by New York Central, Atchison, Union Pacific, and other trading favorites.

Among the motors, Chrysler and General Motors were again outstanding targets for liquidation orders. Nash was also under some pressure. Losses ran to about a point.

Liquor stocks developed some recuperative powers in late trading. Commercial Solvents was one of the few notable spots of strength. Schenley Distillers encountered renewed buying as talk of lucrative earnings for leading liquor makers was heard.

GREENE FAILS TO VOTE STOCK IN ATLAS TACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 21.—Considerable mystery surrounded adjournment of the annual meeting of stockholders of the Atlas Tack corporation today to April 9 because of a lack of quorum.

For unexplained reasons Arthur Greene, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers company and head of a private Chicago investment concern—Guardian Securities corporation—failed to vote the 37,000 shares recently acquired from Philip H. Philbin Jr. Stock represented at the meeting totaled 12,000 shares while 47,276 was required for a quorum.

Financial circles were puzzled in view of the assertion Mr. Greene made in Chicago two weeks ago that he and an associate would be elected directors, but that no change in management, personnel, or policies of the company was contemplated. Greene was in New York today, but was said to have returned to Chicago this afternoon.

Officers of the company said they had been notified in advance that Greene's stock would not be voted, but they declined to discuss the reason.

COTTON BUYING HESITANT; PRICES MODERATELY OFF

Cotton buyers took hold yesterday spasmodically and in only moderate volume because of the general unsettled situation regarding legislation. Wall street and foreign liquidation, with a sale of 5,000 bales for October and December delivery attributed to continental interests, furnished a little diversion for the trade. Liverpool closed unchanged to 1 point lower.

At the close futures in Chicago were off 13 to 19 points, other markets off 8 to 17. Spots lost 15 points in New Orleans and New York, the latter being 12.15 cents and the former 12.0°. Houston dropped 15 to 12.05 and Galveston 10 to 12.10 cents. Prices:

GRAIN CODE TOLLS KNELL OF WILD PLUNGERS, BELIEF

BILLY'S BIRTHDAY

Billy, the crow who lords it over La Salle street from the floral shop in the Board of Trade, celebrated his third birthday yesterday. His fame is nation-wide and letters and telegrams of congratulations were received from coast to coast. Birthday presents were many, ranging from a pint of gin to a cake two feet in diameter, and he received sufficient corn to keep him well fed for a number of weeks. With the national grain exchange code to go into effect March 31, several brokers suggested Billy be fattened up for the anticipated period of hunger.

The day of spectacular grain plungers passed with the signing of the grain exchange code by President Roosevelt, members of the Board of Trade believe. Under present conditions they feel it will be impossible for such operators as Joseph Leiter, James Patten and other glamorous figures of the past to operate; for, in addition to federal taxes, the new code imposes restrictions which will make large operations difficult.

When the code becomes operative March 31, there will be a margin requirement of 10 per cent on all open trades and after Aug. 1, 1934, there will be an additional margin requirement of 15 per cent on all open trades in excess of 2,000,000 bushels, making a total of 25 per cent for the larger operations. Traders will have to be right seven of ten times to come out even.

All Must Meet Margins.

The code provides that everyone must meet the margin requirements in the future. Members and non-members must put up margins. Hereafter, money will talk—it will be impossible for a trader to operate on his reputation. Hitherto, the financial rating of some well known traders has been taken into consideration.

Old time speculators who had money one day and none the next will not be able to carry on under present restrictions.

Thomas E. Howell, one of the best known traders in recent years, was quoted in a recent talk on the grain market as saying:

"You can put it down that the day of the big trader is over. The grain futures act has been the cause of restricting big operations. No one wants to be told that his line is too large."

Says Professionals Are Needed.

"It is the professional traders who help keep grain a liquid commodity," Barnett Faroll of Farroll Brothers said yesterday.

"It will be almost impossible for them to step in and out of the market with great frequency—actions which help keep the market liquid," he asserted. "The cost of taxes and the margin burden will make this impossible."

Siebel C. Harris, director, said recent economic and monetary changes have reduced the number of seasoned grain traders. He sees a danger in this situation, explaining that it was they who carried the load of hedges when crops were moving.

RULE TRUSTEES SYSTEM DISCOUNT FIRM BANKRUPT

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday entered an order adjudicating the Trustees System Discount Company of Chicago a bankrupt. The order upholds recommendations made to the court several months ago by Federal Referee Garfield Charles and directs the firm be liquidated.

Trustees System Discount is an affiliate of the Trustees System Service corporation, which has already been adjudged bankrupt by Judge Wilkerson.

Trustees System Discount was one of the most important units in the group which constituted one of the most bewildering corporate wildernesses which grew up during the boom period. The discount firm operated extensively in the small loan field here and holds title to the building at 201 North Wells street. Liabilities are estimated at $4,739,000. Assets are considerably below this figure, but difficult to estimate.

The company's principal asset is the office building, which is mortgaged to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company for $1,387,500. The company's attorneys contended that the building is worth at least $2,500,000. Referee Charles found that the building is worth little more than $1,500,000 at current prices.

TOP CATTLE SELL AT BEST PRICES FOR 15 MONTHS

Hogs Slow and Weaker; Lambs Lose 15 to 25c.

The cattle market yesterday bucked the lower trend that prevailed in other branches of the live stock trade. New highs for the last 15 months were set up on the bulge that carried the majority of the good grades over the scales on a strong to 15 cents higher price level during the first rounds of trading. Action was brisk, in marked contrast to condition in the markets for hogs and lambs.

The new top for full carload lots at $7.65 was highest since December, 1932, and was paid for 79 steers averaging 1,120 to 1,276 pounds. Cattle averaging 1,312 pounds brought $7.60, while 1,418 pound averages were sold up to $7.40. In the bigger weights $6.25 was paid for 1,636 pound steers and 1,780 pound cattle were bought at $5.50.

Medium Grades Strongest.

While top grades of cattle were setting up new high marks the biggest gains over the previous session's price list were found in the medium grades of cattle and in butcher stock. Beef cows were up 15 to 25 cents for the day, with most of the hefer sales strong to 25 cents higher.

Hogs were slow and steady to 10 cents lower, the bulk of the good grades holding about in line with the average of Tuesday. Top sales at $4.50 were off 10 cents, but the general average of $4.30 figured the same as that of the preceding day. Federal buying was done at the same prices as on Tuesday, six packing houses obtaining about 2,250 "relief" hogs, mostly at $4.40 to $4.50, the top quotations.

Pork Supplies Decrease.

With federal buyers off the market for about ten days this month, supplies of "relief" pork have been dropping rapidly. On March 17 packers were carrying 40,637,000 pounds of this pork for the account of the corporation, as against 50,762,000 pounds on March 8.

Lamb prices lost 15 to 25 cents despite light receipts and closed on a parity with the lowest spot in the trade since Jan. 30. The market has tumbled almost $1.00 since the high point of the winter on March 1. Tops for full carload lots of wooled lambs were halted at $9.35, while a small lot to a trader reached $9.35. The bulk sold to packers at $9.00 to $9.10. Freshly shorn lambs cashed at $7.50 and fall shorn were bought on a special order at $8.25.

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was easier today and following a decline of 1-32c late last night, the market yielded another 3 points today to 2.97c, a new low for the year. Late yesterday there was a sale of 8,000 bags of St. Croix due early next month at 3.02c. Futures were lower under further lower liquidation and selling by producing interests.
